MORGAN DECLARES ALLIES MUST SATISFY AMERICAN INVESTORS

Bankers, He Says, Are Not Seeking to Impose Political Views, but Giving Expert Advice.

GOES TO LONDON ON HOLIDAY

FULL CONFERENCE MONDAY

"Cautious Optimism" in British Circles—It Is Expected Germans Will Be Invited Next Week.

On the eve of his departure today on the Minnewaska for Europe, J. P. Morgan issued a statement in which he set forth the relations of his firm with the discussions now under way in the Inter-allied Conference in London. While denying that his trip had any connection with the conference, he admitted that if invited to give his views on the kind of loan that could be arranged for Germany with an assurance of American participation he would readily comply with the request.

The statement was as follows:

I am sailing for my annual holiday, in accordance with plans made months ago. My trip has nothing to do with the London conference. Our position with reference to the matters now being discussed in that conference is very simple. We have been requested by the allied Governments to advise as to what in our opinion are the necessary bases for the sale of German bonds to American investors. In response to that request we have given our advice. We have no desire, nor is it within our province, to make any political suggestions, much less to attempt to enforce any political views. We addressed ourselves solely to the question asked us, and it is for the allied Governments to determine whether what we believe to be the conditions of the American investment market can be met.

It goes without saying that as bankers we should not ask the American investor to buy German bonds unless and until the Allies have in their own time, in their own way and for their own reasons determined upon a policy which will, in our opinion, give security to the bondholders. If this very simple and obvious fact is borne in mind, it will, I think, be found that most of the questions now under discussion answer themselves.

Mr. Morgan presented his statement to reporters who earlier in the week had asked for his views on the conference and whether or not his vacation trip would be spent in part in considering how a German loan could be arranged with sufficient appeal to draw $200,000,000 from international investors. His first request was that the reporters, if they "had any influence with their editors," should exercise such influence in trying to save him from a "bombardment by photographers at the pier tomorrow." Mr. Morgan's pronounced aversion to photographers is well known. While he has no qualms in facing a barrage of questions as fast as ten or more reporters can fire them at him, he instantly looks for cover as soon as a camera makes its appearance.

Asked if he thought his vacation would keep him abroad until after the plan for a German loan had been formulated, he smiled and waved the question aside with a sweeping gesture. Asked again, he referred his interrogator to his statement. In response to another question as to whether he would take part in the deliberations, he admitted that if those who were discussing loan problems were to ask for his opinion he would give it, of course. Just what this opinion would be and whether he thought it likely that his advice would be requested, he would not say, explaining that he thought his statement covered the whole matter quite adequately.

On Mr. Morgan's arrival London will have within its limits the most powerful array of American financiers that ever visited that city, and this concentration of banking powers will serve to emphasize—so New York bankers said yesterday—the great importance that America, unofficially, will play in solving the world problems which are the legacy of the war. There will be abroad Secretary Mellon, Mr. Morgan, Thomas W. Lamont, Otto H. Kahn, Paul M. Warburg, William C. Potter and probably a score of others representing the strongest financial houses of the United States.

The presence of these men in London, most of them there on vacations, has created a strong belief in the financial district that they will do all they can to bring about an early settlement of the reparations problem. In their unofficial capacity they are free to express their convictions as to the security and other terms necessary to making a German loan a success, and this freedom from diplomatic restraint should prove an asset in bringing about a solution. Their influence as unofficial advisers, it is believed, will probably prove greater than if they represented any one party to the discussion.

Lives Jean Valjean's Story, But Gets Pardon at End

Special to The New York Times.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 25.—The tragedy of Jean Valjean found a counterpart last week in the story of Jim Pikey, an escaped convict from the Arkansas Penitentiary. But Pikey's story has a happy ending.

Pikey lived for six years without detection. He became a trusted employe of the Oklahoma City water works. He married and became a father. He built a home, made a garden and planted flowers. He adopted the name Chester Moore and became known as honest and industrious. He almost forgot he was Jim Pikey.

Then he was recognized, blackmailed and finally exposed by a former fellow convict. He returned to the Arkansas Penitentiary yesterday, ready to complete his sentence.

Then came the happy ending of his story. Instead of commitment papers to the penitentiary, Governor McRae issued the sixth pardon of his three and one-half years of office and freed Pikey from all consequences of the judgment against him and restored him to citizenship.

YOUNG GIRL TARRED BY MOB IN MARYLAND

1 WOMAN, 8 MEN ARRESTED

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, Md., July 25.— Dorothy Grandon, 21 years old, from Martinsburg, at about 10 o'clock last night was tarred and feathered by a mob of fifty men on the road between this place and Myersville, five miles from here, and many business men, merchants and citizens of Myersville today face arrest on the charge of being members of the mob.

Sheriff Ingomar Albaugh of Frederick County, after questioning Miss Grandon at the home of James Whip, a farmer, announced that warrants would be sworn out. Later in the day Mrs. Mary Shank and eight of the men were arrested. Mrs. Shank has confessed, Magistrate Brush says.

Whip today was threatened with death, according to reports reaching here, because of his rescue of the girl from the mob last night.

With J. O. Shepley, a Myersville merchant, Whip was attracted by the girl's screams. His home is near the scene of the assault.

The two men ran up the road, fought their way through the mob and found the girl covered with tar.

Returning home, Whip obtained a sheet, came back and wrapped it around the girl and carried her to his home. Today a doctor found her body covered with bruises as a result of the beating she received at the hands of the mob. After more than three hours of work Mr. and Mrs. Whip succeeded in only partially removing the tar from the girl's body.

According to Miss Grandon, she had been visiting at the home of Mrs. Viola Kennedy, known in this section as Judy Shank, who lives near the foot of Catoctin Mountain, on the county road near Myersville. She came here last week with Mabel Mills, 20 years old, of Hagerstown.

Yesterday Mrs. Kennedy received a letter from Sheriff Albaugh, ordering her to leave the county. It was said Miss Grandon received a similar note. The Sheriff, it was reported here, had received a complaint from the wife of a local farmer that her husband had been visiting the Kennedy house.

Last night, Miss Grandon said, she read the letter and decided to leave. She said she was on her way to Myersville, walking along the road, when she met a buggy containing Whip and Lloyd Shank, also a farmer. She stopped and said she was leaving the town.

She said that Shank lived nearby and that Mrs. Shank, seeing him talking to her, ran across the field and began threatening her.

Shank and Whip got out of the buggy, the girl said, and Mrs. Shank jumped in and started toward Myersville. She said that she then left the men and resumed her walk to Myersville.

About a half mile further down the road, the girl alleges she was stopped

LEOPOLD WOULD LIVE, HAVING 'WORK TO DO'; SEES NO CRIME DONE

EXPECTED 'FRIENDLY JUDGE'

ASKED TEACHERS OF CRIME

And Discussed Franks Case Hypothetically—Loeb in Playful Mood.

CHICAGO, July 25 (Associated Press).—Nathan Leopold Jr., after his confession to a part in the kidnapping and murder of fourteen-year-old Robert Franks, held life dear because he believed he had "important work to do for the world."

One of the sentiments Leopold expressed was that murder was not a crime in his code; the only crime was in being caught.

Richard Loeb, copartner in the crime, believed that "whoever committed that crime should be strung up."

The mental reactions of both youths to the consequences of their conspiracy were detailed today in court.

Leopold, whose life, with that of Loeb, is at stake in the hearing before Chief Justice John R. Caverly of the Criminal Court, expressed his sentiment and revealed other processes of his mind to the police officers who guarded him after the first joint confessions to the crime.

Loeb gave his idea of a fit punishment for the act in a conversation with a newspaper reporter before his arrest. He also gave reporters "tips" on how to trace some of the activities of the kidnappers, ascribing his circumspection to the reading of detective stories.

Thought He Might Get Friendly Judge.

James J. Gortland, a city Detective Sergeant, testified to this at the conclusion of the third day's sessions of the proceedings this afternoon. In rapid-fire sentences Gortland detailed the conversations he had with Leopold in an attempt to learn the motive for the crime.

"Leopold told me," said Gortland, "that he would not reveal the motive for the crime. When I asked him this he said:

"'You must think I'm a fool. Do you think I am going to tell all? Don't you think I have a right to reserve something for my defense?'

"I asked him what defense he would offer and Leopold said that if his folks wanted him to hang he would plead not guilty and go before a jury, which would surely hang him. He said:

"'If I plead guilty before a friendly Judge I will get off with life imprisonment.'

"He then told me that he believed he had important work to do for the world. He said he had carried along his bird studies to an advanced stage and thought he might be able to contribute something through writings and research."

Gortland also testified that Leopold had told him of going to Sunday school regularly as a child, and of being advanced to the confirmation class. The witness added that Leopold explained that his extreme youth kept him from being confirmed at that time in the Jewish faith.

"'I was taught conscience until I was eight years old,' Leopold told me," said Gortland, "'but after that time I drilled conscience out of myself.'

No Sorrow for His Victim.

The Detective Sergeant related that Leopold had no sorrow for young Franks or the latter's family.

"I don't give a damn if they croak this minute," the defendant was quoted by the witness.

Gortland's testimony climaxed the day's proceedings, which took the case into the realm of mental reactions and motive, centring on Leopold. It revealed that Leopold had inquired of instructors in criminal law at the University of Chicago what would be the consequences of a crime like the abduction and killing of young Franks.

It showed, too, that he had planned suicide by means of poisoned headache medicine as a way out of the dilemma which he foresaw would be his portion

Persian Youth Hurls Stones at Imbrie's Widow And the Teheran Police Take No Action

TEHERAN, July 25.—In the presence of the police, who did nothing to interfere, the widow of Major Robert Imbrie, while riding in a motor car with a doctor attached to the American mission and the doctor's wife, was attacked by a youth, who spat at her, tore her veil and threw small stones at occupants of the car. The police were impassive.

The fact that these seeds of anti-foreign feeling have been sown on the eve of Moharram renders it impossible not to fear that there will be further unpleasant incidents and possible violence to foreigners.

Notwithstanding the assurances given by the Government, in reply to the joint note presented by the Diplomatic Corps that all necessary steps had been taken to insure safety of foreigners following the slaying of the American Vice Consul, the Government has permitted publication of an offensive article entitled "Persia and America."

The article accuses the British of having arranged for the murder of Major Imbrie in order to create trouble between the United States and Persia, in the hope of preventing the confirmation of the North Persian oil concession, as well as making other insinuations. Prime Minister Riza Kahn has issued a note expressing the Government's abhorrence of these attacks and promising the punishment of the publishers of the article.

WORLD FLIERS READY FOR THE FINAL HOP

DESTROYER CHAIN FORMING

Western Squadron Reaches Halifax and the Milwaukee Arrives at Pictou.

LONDON, July 25.—The United States Army airmen are now practically ready to continue their world flight, and are merely waiting until the destroyers and naval vessels which the American Government has provided shall get into their positions along the desolate lands and Arctic seas which constitute much of the northern route to America.

Until the flagship Richmond, with Admiral Magruder in command, arrives at Rosyth on Monday, nothing definite will be fixed as to the day of the start. There are about seven ships in his command and they will leave immediately for their allotted positions in the patrol, the furthermost linking up with some of the six vessels which are moving from the American coast.

The London Times aeronautical correspondent says:

"In admiring the United States Government for the whole-hearted way in which they are helping their airmen to win the distinction of being the first round the world by air, one cannot help contrasting their thoroughness with the all too scanty Government assistance accorded to Squadron Leader MacLaren, who, so far, has received more help when in need from the United States Navy and the Japanese Navy and from the Canadian Government than he has received from his own countrymen."

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. RICHMOND, July 25 (By Wireless to The Associated Press.)—Rear Admiral Magruder, in charge of arrangements for patroling the route to be taken by the American Army round-the-world fliers on the last laps of their journey, has received information by radio from Washington that the cruiser Raleigh of the European squadron will reach Rosyth, Scotland, tomorrow, to await the arrival of the flagship Richmond or instructions from Admiral Magruder.

The latest information from London, according to this message, was that the American planes would not leave Kirkwall before Tuesday. The destroyers Reid and Billingsley will arrive at Rosyth tomorrow to fuel and make other preparations for flight duty.

The American Minister at Copenhagen has communicated to Washington the permission of the authorities of Iceland for naval escort vessels to visit Hofn Hornafjord and Reykjavik.

Special to The New York Times.

ON BOARD U. S. S. LAWRENCE, AT HALIFAX, July 25.—The special destroyer division assigned to patrol the sea for the American round-the-world fliers in their hop across the Atlantic dropped anchor here this afternoon to await the return of the scout cruiser Milwaukee, which is establishing bases and landing supplies for the aviators along the coasts of Labrador and Newfoundland.

The Milwaukee reported her arrival today at Pictou and will proceed to Hawkes Bay. Upon her return here she will pick up the destroyer division and clear for Indian Harbor, Labrador, to await the fliers.

During the night, the destroyers Lawrence, McFarland, Barry and Coghlan were joined by the destroyer Charles Ausburne. Morning brought a sunless sky and a murky haze that blurred the horizon, but the sea was calm, and with visibility fair, the division kept up its speed of 20 knots for most of the day. Halifax was reached at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and no sooner had the ships dropped anchor than the formalities of visitation began.

A smart gig brought Lieutenant Kingsley of the British navy alongside the Lawrence, flagship of the division, and Lieutenant Ginn returned the call a few minutes later. Afterward, the commanders of the McFarland, Barry, Coghlan and Charles Ausburne came to pay their respects to Captain Russell Willson, commanding the Lawrence. That over, liberty was given to the men of the division, and until late at night there was a ceaseless coming and going of motor launches from the destroyers swinging at anchor in the harbor.

ON BOARD THE U. S. S. BARRY, July 25 (By Wireless to the Associated Press).—According to information on board, the American round-the-world fliers will hop from Scotland to Horna Fjord, Iceland, Aug. 2, and the next

COOLIDGE COUNSELS REVERENCE IN BOYS

Declares Respect for Nature, Law and God Is Basis of Our Institutions.

SPEAKS TO SCOUTS HERE

Over Telephone He Addresses 53 Youths on Leviathan Bound for International Meet.

President Coolidge, speaking by telephone last night from the White House to a dinner given on board the Leviathan for the fifty-three Boy Scouts who will sail on the liner today for Copenhagen to represent this country in the international scout field meets, declared that the fundamentals of American institutions were reverence for nature, reverence for law and reverence for God.

These three things, the President said, also are the fundamental teachings of the Boy Scouts, and he himself had learned them in his boyhood on the farm.

Mr. Coolidge told his listeners that he was thrilled at the thought of his audience, "for I never address boys without thinking that among them may be a boy who will sit in the White House. Somewhere there are boys who will be Presidents of our railroads, Presidents of our colleges, of banks, owners of splendid farms and useful industries, members of Congress, representatives of our people in foreign lands. That is the heritage of the American boy."

One of the most noteworthy passages in the President's speech was the following, near the close:

"The third is a reverence for God. It is hard to see how a great man can be an atheist. Without the sustaining influence of faith in a divine power we could have little faith in ourselves. We need to feel that behind us is intelligence and love. Doubters do not achieve; skeptics do not contribute; cynics do not create."

Text of the President's Speech.

The President's address was as follows:

Delegates of the Boy Scouts of America: You are sailing tomorrow to represent your organization at an international gathering of the Boy Scouts to be held at Copenhagen. As Honorary President of your body, I desire to give you a word of farewell and to express my hope that you may have a pleasant and successful journey which will be productive of much good to yourselves and your associates.

There was no Boy Scout organization in my boyhood; but every boy who has the privilege of growing up on a farm learns instinctively the three fundamentals of scouthood.

The first is a reverence for nature. Boys should never lose their love of the fields and the streams, the mountains and the plains, the open places and the forests. That love will be a priceless possession as your years lengthen out.

There is an instructive myth about the giant Antaeus. Whenever, in a contest, he was thrown down, he drew fresh strength from his mother, the earth, and so was thought invincible. But Hercules lifted him away from the earth and so destroyed him. There is new life in the soil for every man. There is healing in the trees for tired minds, and for our overburdened spirits there is strength in the hills, if only we will lift up our eyes. Remember that nature is your great restorer.

The second is a reverence for law. I remember the town meetings of my boyhood, when the citizens of our little town met to levy taxes on themselves and to choose from their own number those who should be their officers. There is something in every such meeting, in every election, that approaches very near to the sublime.

I am thrilled at the thought of my audience tonight, for I never address boys without thinking that among them may be a boy who will sit in this White House. Somewhere there are boys who will be Presidents of our railroads, Presidents of colleges, of banks, owners of splendid farms and useful industries, members of Congress, representatives of our people in foreign lands.

The Heritage of the American Boy.

That is the heritage of the American boy. It was an act of magnificent courage when our ancestors set up a nation wherein any boy may aspire to anything. That great achievement was not wrought without blood and sacrifice. Make firm your resolution to carry on nobly what has been so nobly begun.

Let this nation, under your guidance, be a finer nation. Resolve that the sacrifices by which your great opportunities have been purchased will

MOVE FOR FUNDS ENDORSED

WOMEN'S SUPPORT SOUGHT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The term "Progressive" was formally adopted today by the La Follette Campaign Committee as the official designation of the forces combined in the Independent drive on the White House, and the American Liberty Bell was chosen as its emblem.

The committee was impelled to decide upon a party name and emblem because of the laws in several States in which the names of Senators La Follette and Wheeler will be placed on the official ballots as candidates, respectively, for President and Vice President.

There was only a short discussion of the proposal that the term "Progressive" should be adopted as the official designation of the independent party. It was agreed that, as the word had been in common use for many years to describe Democrats and Republicans who had opposed the old parties, it should be utilized uniformly throughout the present campaign by the organizations lined up behind La Follette and Wheeler.

The Progressive leaders found themselves in complete accord on the choice of an emblem. "Bull Moose" was rejected without debate. Objection was made to invading the animal kingdom for an emblem typifying the purposes of the new party. It was decided to choose an emblem that would have a widespread appeal and the American Liberty Bell was selected.

To Raise $3,000,000 Campaign Fund.

At today's meeting approval was given to the plan of Henry L. Rosenfelt, financial director, to raise a campaign fund of $3,000,000. Mr. Rosenfelt, who is preparing a budget, was instructed to start his drive for financial support. He will begin by asking for dollar subscriptions, and will pay special attention to labor unions, the Socialist Party, and other groups affiliated with the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

Plans were perfected to insure the placing of the names of La Follette-Wheeler electors on the ballots in all the States. Assurances were given that the new party would have little trouble on this score.

In addition to naming Mrs. Mabel C. Costigan as secretary of the new organization, the committee today selected Robert M. La Follette Jr. as Vice Chairman.

The labor end of the new party plans to pay special attention to the election of "friendly" Senators and members of the House. A special committee in charge of this work in Washington is headed by Bert Jewell, an executive of one of the railroad brotherhoods, who is compiling the labor legislation records of Senators and Representatives who are candidates for re-election.

Where the candidate is friendly to the labor program the word will be passed to the States that he should be renominated and elected. Otherwise the candidate will be placed on labor's "blacklist."

Labor to Support Progressive Senators.

As a general proposition, the labor forces identified with the La Follette movement will support Progressive Senators who are up for re-election this year. They will also throw their support to several Democrats and probably to some Republicans. In August five States—Kentucky, Kansas, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Arkansas—will nominate United States Senators.

Announcement has been made at La Follette labor headquarters that their organizations will support Senator Stanley, Democrat, of Kentucky, for renomination and re-election. Labor, the official organ of the railroad brotherhoods identified with the La Follette campaign, has endorsed Senator Joseph T. Robinson, Democrat, who is unopposed for renomination in Arkansas. Senator John K. Shields of Tennessee, Democrat, who is denounced as "reactionary," will meet labor opposition in that State.

This statement was made concerning the Senatorial election in Kansas:

"Senator Arthur Capper is a candidate for renomination on the Republican ticket in Kansas. His record is far from satisfactory, but his opponents in the

Police Hunt Gherardi Davis's Yacht Alice; Racing Craft Disappears in Gravesend Bay

Somebody late Thursday night or early yesterday morning went off with a yacht belonging to Gherardi Davis, yachting enthusiast and attorney, of 15 William Street. Mr. Davis, who formerly was an Assemblyman and later Third Deputy Police Commissioner, yesterday asked Police Headquarters to find his yacht and the persons who took it.

Mr. Davis is Chairman of the Racing Committee of the New York Yacht Club and is a member of the Atlantic Yacht Club at Bensonhurst on Gravesend Bay. For more than eight years he has scored a long succession of victories with the Alice, a craft 30 feet long at the waterline and 43 feet long on deck. The Alice has no engine, using sails as power.

Mr. Davis anchored the Alice Thursday evening a few hundred feet from the Atlantic Yacht Club's float and went to his home at Sea Gate. Near the anchorage of the Alice were two or three other yachts.

When Mr. Davis went to the shore yesterday morning he found that his yacht had disappeared. None of the employes of the Atlantic Yacht Club had seen her glide off during the night, and persons sailing on Gravesend Bay said that they had not seen the missing craft. The Alice could not have left New York waters in the few hours between anchoring and leaving, and Mr. Davis made haste to ask that the marine division of the Police Department keep an eye out for his pet boat.

Bandits Kill Fifteen Jews On a Russian River Boat

RIGA, July 25 (Jewish Telegraphic Agency).—A pogrom in which it is known that fifteen Jewish passengers were killed has taken place on a Russian boat in the River Djesna, between Hakoshin and Novgorod Sewjersk, according to reports received here from Soviet Russia.

The report asserts that an organized band which attacked the boat picked out the Jewish passengers, leaving the non-Jews alone. Terrible scenes on board the vessel occurred, during which the Jews were brutally killed and their bodies thrown into the river. Thus far fifteen of the bodies have been recovered.

DAVIS FOR MAJORITY TO RATIFY A TREATY

WON'T DISCUSS LEAGUE NOW

Not Repudiating Plank—Talks With Chadbourne—Gets $20 Gift From Carpenter.

Special to The New York Times.

DARK HARBOR, Me., July 25.—John W. Davis, Democratic nominee for President, reiterated today his belief, expressed a year and a half ago as President of the American Bar Association, that treaties should be ratified by a majority of both houses of Congress instead of by two-thirds of the Senate, as now required by the Federal Constitution.

The restatement of Mr. Davis's position is of current interest, because of its possible effect on the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations, which was blocked by the Senate at the time the covenant of the League was submitted with the peace treaty.

"I believe, with John Hay, that our forefathers in their wisdom fixed it so that the kickers should rule," Mr. Davis said, in discussing the matter. "I believe that the kickers should not rule.

"A majority is sufficient to pass a law, and a treaty strikes no more at the vitals of Government than a law. I don't know of any other civilized Government that requires more than a majority, and I don't see why this country should require it. If this be treason, make the most of it."

Won't Repudiate Platform.

Despite reports to the contrary, Mr. Davis made it clear that he had no idea of repudiating the plank in the Democratic platform declaring for a referendum on the League.

"Will your acceptance speech follow the lines of the platform?" he was asked.

"It won't dissent from it," Mr. Davis replied.

"Will your discussion of the League in your speech parallel the platform declaration or go beyond it?"

"You will have to wait until I have written and delivered it," Mr. Davis said. "Then you can spread them out and see how they compare."

In reply to questions concerning the intimation of Clem L. Shaver, Democratic National Chairman, that Mr. Davis would depend largely on the radio in his campaign and make the majority of his speeches to be sent broadcast without going far from his home at Locust Valley, L. I., Mr. Davis said he expected to use the radio a great deal, but no definite arrangements had been made.

"Have you faith in the radio for campaign purposes?" he was asked.

"Yes," he replied.

Confers With McAdoo Backer.

Thomas L. Chadbourne, one of the principal backers of William G. McAdoo, called on Mr. Davis this afternoon. Mr. Chadbourne, who was accompanied by Mrs. Chadbourne, came on his yacht from Bar Harbor.

While Mrs. Chadbourne was entertained by Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Davis Mr. Chadbourne went to Mr. Davis's office in the Gibson studio and talked over organization plans with the nominee and Frank L. Polk for more than an hour.

Mr. Chadbourne, who has been mentioned as a possible head of the Democratic Finance Committee, offered to do all he could to help in the campaign and expressed his belief that Mr. Davis would receive the support of practically all the McAdoo supporters.

Mr. Davis read that part of his acceptance speech that he already has pre-

HYLAN READY TO RUN FOR GOVERNORSHIP IF PEOPLE WANT HIM

Picks Murray Hulbert, "a Very Progressive Man," to Succeed Him as Mayor.

SUSPECT THIRD PARTY MOVE

Political Observers Think Mayor May Join La Follette Forces If Smith Is Candidate.

TAMMANY LEADERS SILENT

Special to The New York Times.

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—"If the people of New York demand it," Mayor John F. Hylan of New York City will consider entering the race to succeed Governor Smith.

Mayor Hylan, who with Mrs. Hylan is at the Ambassador Hotel here as the guest of William Randolph Hearst, today set forth his ideas as far as they concerned the Governorship. He said he knew his name had been mentioned, but has not thought much about it until this time.

"While my name has been mentioned as a candidate for Governor of New York, I have not had any desire to be considered as a candidate for other than the Mayoralty," he said.

"But inasmuch as we have in Murray Hulbert, a very progressive man as President of the New York Board of Aldermen, who would succeed me, I might give consideration to the Governorship if the people demand it."

"If John W. Davis can make it plain to the American people that he will serve their interests with the fidelity he served his Wall Street clients, he will, at least, come close to the Presidency," the Mayor said. "It is the desire of the American people to have a progressive-minded President."

Revolt Against Smith Seen.

That Mayor Hylan and Tammany Hall had reached the parting of the ways and that the Mayor was even prepared to raise the banner of revolt against Governor Smith, who has proclaimed himself State leader of the party, was the inference drawn in some quarters from dispatches from Los Angeles, one of which appears in display type in The New York American this morning. In them the Mayor announces that under certain conditions he may become a candidate for Governor. This is interpreted to mean that the Mayor would be a candidate if Governor Smith should seek a third term.

The dispatch by International News Service (the Hearst News agency) appearing in The American follows:

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Intimation that he may be a candidate for Governor of New York if the progressive element in that State demands that he run was given here today by John F. Hylan of New York City.

Admitting he had heard much discussion of his name in relation to the Governorship of New York, Mayor Hylan said, while he had given the race little thought, he may decide to become a candidate.

May Head Third Party Here.

It was the consensus among persons who heard of Mayor Hylan's statement last night that it could have only one meaning—that if Senator La Follette's third party should want Mayor Hylan to become its candidate for Governor, the Mayor, under conditions not set forth in his statement, might be willing to assume leadership in the third party fight in this State. This would involve desertion by the Mayor of the party that twice elected him Mayor and had given him every political honor he had received theretofore.

Governor Smith and other Democratic leaders, when informed of what the Mayor had said on the Pacific Coast, where he is a guest of William R. Hearst, received the news in silence.

The indication that Mayor Hylan was on the verge of revolt, however, was not altogether unexpected. Since the Legislature adjourned, Mayor Hylan and Commissioner of Accounts Hirshfield have lost no opportunity to vent their anger against the Governor for signing a measure depriving the Commissioner of his power to issue subpoenas. It was learned last night that some weeks ago bitter words passed between the Governor and the Mayor at an uptown hotel here.

Governor Smith Awaits Text.

Governor Smith, when told of the dispatch over the long distance telephone at the Executive Mansion in Albany, said:

"I shall wait until I can read the text of the dispatch and the Mayor's statement before I say anything at all on the subject."

Judge George W. Olvany, the new leader of Tammany Hall, who warmly praised Mayor Hylan in a statement several days ago, also received the information in silence.

"Any comment to make?" Judge Olvany was asked.

"No," he replied, "I do not think I should say anything now."

That William R. Hearst has inspired the statement of Mayor Hylan was regarded certain by politicians who preferred to withhold any comment for publication. Only a day or so ago Governor Smith, in reply to an editorial signed by Mr. Hearst in The American, in which he urged the Democratic Party not to stand for Governor Smith as a candidate for re-election, issued a statement saying the Democratic Party was

Greece to Evict 50,000 Armenian Refugees, Saying the Room Is Needed for Its Own

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 25.—A new refugee problem is being created in Greece by the action of the Greek Government in serving notice on 50,000 Armenians that they must quit the country because they are occupying room needed by the Greek refugees.

The eviction order has created consternation among American and other foreign relief agencies, who fear that the dislocation of the Armenians will divert the aid intended for the Greeks. Dedeagatch has been designated as the port of concentration for the Armenians ordered to move from Western Thrace, while those from Macedonia will be concentrated in Saloniki.

The League of Nations has been asked by the Greeks to supervise the evacuation, and its representatives are setting up the necessary machinery at Athens and Saloniki.

Meanwhile, the American Near East Relief, which has 5,000 Armenian orphans who were evacuated from Turkey among those under its charge, has protested to the Greek Government against their inclusion in the deportation orders, and their representative at Cavalla, Howard McAffee of Kansas City, has cabled protests to the United States. Mr. McAffee's action followed the issuance of an order of the Prefect that all Armenian orphans under his care must, without exception, leave with the adults of that race by July 27.

Fourteen hundred Armenians have already been removed from Macedonia to Peloponnesus, where they are destitute, and the British relief agency has been asked to establish feeding kitchens. The Government states that it has spent 70,000,000 drachmas on behalf of the Armenian refugees, but is unable to continue, suggesting that they be transported to the Caucasus. The Armenian press protests the shortness of the time given to the refugees, who are obliged to leave behind them several million drachmas' worth of crops.

Searching for a country which would take the Armenians, the League of Nations has appealed to the Soviet to receive them in the Caucasus.

not looking to "demogogues and crackpots" for political guidance.

Some persons who were told of the Hylan dispatch last night expressed the opinion that it was the immediate reaction of Mr. Hearst to Governor Smith's attack.

Would Injure Democratic Chances.

In the opinion of political observers Mayor Hylan, as a third-party candidate for Governor with the backing of Hearst, would be in a position to destroy any Democratic hope to carry this State, even though Governor Smith himself should be a candidate. The Mayor's statement, it was suggested, might have been prompted by a feeling that Democratic leaders, realizing this, might be frightened out of nominating Governor Smith and turn to Lieut. Governor George R. Lunn, whose nomination was urged by Mr. Hearst, or some other candidate meeting with Hearst's approval.

Those who have followed recent developments in the relations of Mr. Hearst with the Democratic organizations were led to believe that the Mayor's threat to become a candidate for Governor was directed primarily against Governor Smith, who is the mortal political enemy of the publisher.

Clem L. Shaver, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee and campaign manager for John W. Davis, the Democratic nominee for President, was in Washington yesterday. In his absence no one at Davis headquarters in the Murray Hill Hotel was willing to make any comment on the dispatch. It was freely admitted, however, that if Mayor Hylan should bolt the Democratic Party and join hands with the third party opposition it would mean a severe blow to the ticket.

While no official statement could be obtained from third party leaders in this city in the absence of Gilbert E. Roe, Senator La Follette's former law partner and chief aid in his campaign in the East, the opinion was expressed that the Mayor probably would prove highly acceptable to the third party as a candidate for Governor, especially as his candidacy would involve generous support from W. R. Hearst.

Socialists gathering for their State Convention, which will open today, received the news with some degree of amusement and surprise. In the absence of Morris Hillquit, who was in Washington yesterday, no one was prepared to say for publication whether the Socialists under any circumstances would support Mayor Hylan as a candidate.

It is not, however, regarded as probable that they would prepare to do so. From statements made by local leaders it appeared that the Socialist State Convention will put a ticket of its own in the field with the proviso that if acceptable candidates are named by the third party the Socialist candidates on the State ticket would withdraw in their favor.

HYLAN AS A CANDIDATE MAKES HILLQUIT LAUGH

La Follette's Socialist Chief Says Mayor Would Get No Third Party Support.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Morris Hillquit, the Socialist member of the La Follette Campaign Committee, indicated in a statement tonight that Mayor Hylan would get no encouragement or support from the La Follette organization should he throw his hat into the ring as a third party candidate for Governor of New York.

Mr. Hillquit, who attended a meeting of the La Follette Campaign Committee, was told of the dispatch from Los Angeles stating that Mayor Hylan had offered himself, in effect, as a third party candidate for the office of Governor, "if wanted."

The New York Socialist laughed heartily as the contents of the dispatch were read to him, and then said:

"There is nothing in Mr. Hylan's political views or public record to recommend him to the Progressives or Radicals, and I do not believe that any Progressive group of citizens in the City of New York would seriously consider him as a proper leader. I cannot really believe that Mr. Hylan is seriously thinking of becoming a candidate for Governor on a third ticket."

"Would Mr. Hylan get the support of the third party organization in event he announced his candidacy for the Governorship?" Mr. Hillquit was asked.

"Certainly not," he said.

SMITH'S RE-ELECTION URGED.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, July 25.—The Westchester County Democratic Committee, in a meeting here today, endorsed Governor Smith for re-election, "in the sincere hope and belief that he will thus be enabled to carry to a successful conclusion the splendid reforms and welfare measures so strongly advocated by him."

The gathering also endorsed John W. Davis for President and Charles W. Bryan for Vice President, classing them as "sterling Democrats adhering to the immortal principles of right and justice for which Woodrow Wilson gave his health, strength and ultimately his life."

Benjamin W. Moore of Yonkers, Chairman of the committee, who recently succeeded Oscar Leroy Warren when the latter clashed with Augustus Thomas, the playwright, presided. It was voted that Moore appoint a committee of nine, including himself and Mrs. Daniel O'Day, Vice Chairman, to designate county and State candidates, to be affirmed at a later meeting of the organization.

FRED M. DAVENPORT JR. TO RUN FOR ASSEMBLY

Son of Senator Davenport, 24 Years, to Be Republican Candidate From the Fifteenth.

Fred M. Davenport Jr., son of Senator Frederick M. Davenport of Oneida, who was Progressive candidate for Governor in 1914 and has been talked of as a gubernatorial possibility this year, will be a candidate for Assembly from the Fifteenth Assembly District in the Republican primaries this Fall.

Mr. Davenport, who is 24 years of age, is a lawyer and lives at the Harvard Law Club, 20 East Fifty-second Street. He is a member of the Republican County Committee from the Fifteenth. He will not be unopposed for the nomination. Frank J. Coleman, Republican leader of the district, has endorsed Samuel Hoffstater, another resident of the Fifteenth. The present incumbent is Joseph Steinberg, who will be a candidate for Senator from the Seventeenth Senatorial District, of which the Fifteenth Assembly District is a part.

It was learned last night that Assemblyman Victor R. Kaufman of the Seventh Assembly District will be Republican candidate for the State Senate from the Fifteenth Senatorial District in opposition to Nathan Straus Jr., the incumbent, who is a Democrat. Former Assemblyman Noel B. Fox, who preceded Mr. Kaufman as representative of the Seventh in the Assembly, it was stated yesterday, would be the candidate from the Seventh to succeed him.

LUCY MAY RUN FOR OFFICE.

Coolidge's Shoemaker Friend Urged to Seek Seat in Legislature.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 25.—James Lucy, shoemaker, stanch friend and early adviser of President Coolidge, may yield to the importunity of friends to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Representative to the Legislature.

It became known today that he has agreed to do so provided the names listed on his nomination papers show that he has the unquestioned support of the party locally. This would be his first venture in politics.

Should he enter the contest he will oppose Representative O'Dea, the Democratic incumbent.

PASTOR MAY HEAD SOCIALISTS' TICKET

START CAMPAIGN AT ONCE

Party Will Aid La Follette Plans for Congress, but Name Their Own State Candidates.

The State convention of the Socialist Party will open this morning in Finnish Hall, 2,056 Fifth Avenue, and will continue today and tomorrow. After naming a full State ticket, the leaders, it was announced, would make plans for the most vigorous campaign the party ever waged in this State. As the party's national ticket is headed by Senators La Follette and Wheeler, the Socialists will carry on their campaign working in harmony with the third party movement launched by Senator La Follette in Cleveland. The selection of Congressional, Senatorial and Assembly candidates will be left entirely to the third party managers operating under the general term of the Conference for Progressive Political Action.

While the Socialist Party has become affiliated with the La Follette group, and will bow to the wishes of the leaders of that movement in the selection of candidates for United States Senate and the House of Representatives, the party will concentrate all its individual energies upon the election of their State ticket. Only men of unusual personality and popularity will be selected as candidates, it was announced.

Talk in the Socialist camp yesterday was that the Rev. Norman Thomas, Executive Director of the League for Industrial Democracy, and former associate pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church in Fifth Avenue, would be selected as the party's candidate for Governor, and Vladimir Karapetoff, Professor of Electrical Enginering at Cornell University, the candidate for State Engineer, an office which the Socialist Party has paid special attention to for years. For Lieutenant Governor the choice may fall to Harriot Stanton Blatch of Brooklyn, daughter of Elizabeth Cady Stanton, pioneer of the woman suffrage movement, although the selection of an up-State woman for this office has been considered.

Begin Campaign at Once.

According to present plans, the Socialist campaign will begin at once. The Socialist strongholds in Harlem and on the east side will receive special attention.

Former Assemblyman Herbert H. Merrill of Schenectady, State Secretary of the Socialist Party, arrived in the city yesterday. "We expect to score substantial gains in a number of Congressional and Assembly districts," he said, "particularly down here in New York, where the La Follette revolt will sweep a number of Socialists into office from the working class districts. The convention, however, will not concern itself with nominees for Congress or the State Legislature. This is up to the local subdivisions. In this city the Socialists, in combination with the Farmer-Labor Party and the progressive unions, will choose their ticket at a city convention of the American Labor party to be held Aug. 11."

Asked if the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith for another term at Albany would not tend to put a damper on the La Follette-Socialist hopes in this State, Mr. Merrill said:

"I have given the possibility of Governor Smith's candidacy some attention and have failed to find that it provides any obstacle for either La Follette or the Socialist Party. I have made an attempt, through this State, to test the Smith feeling, and it has brought more than a satisfactory result. I have found that the high tide of Smith feeling that stirred such enthusiasm before and during the Democratic National Convention has sunk to an almost unbelievably low point. It is the most remarkable phenomenon in political life I have ever heard of.

"Governor Smith is no longer important politically. Smith, the progressive Governor, enjoyed the backing and confidence of nuge sections of the voters. Smith, the supporter of John W. Davis, conservative and J. P. Morgan's attorney, is a terrific disappointment to these voters."

Two Drives for Funds.

A preliminary conference of financial advisers of the labor division of the Conference for Progressive Political Action was held yesterday at the Civic Club, 14 West Twelfth Street. The meeting was called by Abraham Tuvin, special assistant national director of the La Follette campaign, to make plans for raising funds from labor sources for the Fall campaign. Alexander Kahn, lawyer, 320 Broadway, and National Committeeman, presided.

Among the labor men present were Morris Sigman, President of the International Ladies' Garment Workers; Sidney Hillman, President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers; J. Feinstein, Secretary of the United Hebrew Trades; B. Kaufman, President of the International Fur Workers; O. Wolinsky, Manager of the International Leather Goods Workers; Philip Vausner, general organizer of the International Bakers' Union, and B. Zuckerman, Secretary of the Cloth Hat and Cap Makers of America.

The conference pledged itself to the work of making the La Follette following a permanent political party to be known as "The Independent Labor Party." The contribution to the La Follette campaign fund, it was decided, will be raised by two "dollar drives," the first during the latter part of August, and the second at a date to be announced later. It was estimated that the first drive will bring in $500,000. It was also planned to call a general convention of all organized workers in the city in the last week of August.

The general manager of the La Follette campaign in this city will be Gilbert E. Roe of Washington, with the labor division of the campaign in New York City in charge of Abraham Tuvin, who has been assisting Henry L. Rosenfeld, national manager of the La Follette campaign. Temporary headquarters will be at 7 East Fifteenth Street, the Socialist county headquarters.

A call was issued yesterday by the local manager of the Conference for Progressive Political Action for a State convention at Albany on Aug. 16. It was signed by Gilbert E. Roe, Morris Hillquit and Thomas E. Ryan. All groups participating in the C. P. P. A. at Cleveland have been asked to attend, as well as all affiliated Socialist, labor and progressive groups.

HOUGHTON NOT CANDIDATE.

Relative Asserts Ambassador Will Not Seek Governorship.

Reports that Alanson B. Houghton, United States Ambassador to Germany, was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor met with emphatic denial last night from former Senator William J. Tully, a brother-in-law of the Ambassador.

"I have seen the newspaper reports," said Mr. Tully. "There is not the slightest foundation for them, and it is most unfortunate that they should be circulated at this particular time.

"I have just returned from Berlin and I know that my brother-in-law has not the slightest intention of giving up his post there. He is engaged in work of the highest importance in its relation to the peace and prosperity of Europe and is rendering service of the greatest value to his country in Berlin."

Rumanian Tariff Rise 800 Per Cent.

BUCHAREST, July 25.—The Rumanian import duties have been placed on a gold basis, effective Aug. 1, and the rates have been increased from 100 to 900 per cent.

MUST NAME KLAN, DEMOCRATS INSIST

Leaders Say Strong Denunciation Is Vital to Success in This State.

Democrats in responsible party positions in this State said yesterday that, while they had no fault to find with the stand taken by John W. Davis on the Klan issue in a recent interview, they regarded a strong declaration against the Klan a vital part of the prospective Democratic State platform.

Mr. Davis said that the Klan fight in the National Convention occurred before he was prominently in the running for the Presidential nomination, and that what the convention did is now a closed chapter. The convention, it will be recalled, defeated a proposal to name the Klan in a plank condemning its activities.

The general opinion among Democrats who were willing to discuss the matter was that while Mr. Davis would go beyond the milder anti-Klan attitude adopted by the platform, freedom of action would be left to the Democratic organizations in all States to adopt such anti-Klan planks as would best meet local conditions. It was said yesterday that probably not only the New York Democrats, but Democrats in many other States, with this rule in operation, would jump at the opportunity to come out strongly against the Klan.

Seek to Win Big Negro Vote.

Some of the leaders who at the Democratic National Convention were advocates of naming the Klan believed that a strong anti-Klan plank would make a powerful appeal to negro voters and would be the means of winning over to the support of Democratic candidates the bulk of this large and traditionally Republican vote in the North.

The negro vote has become a factor of growing importance in elections in such northern States as Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York. Most of the vast number of negroes who have come North since the war have settled in these industrial commonwealths. Many of them were driven from their homes in the South through the activities of the Ku Klux Klan.

In this city the Republicans have never been able to poll the negro vote since the revival of the Ku Klux Klan. Governor Smith and Mayor Hylan both have had the support of from 75 to 90 per cent. of all the negro voters, who are not out-and-out radicals in recent elections. It is the belief in Democratic circles that if some portion of this vote has been alienated as a result of the failure of the Democratic National Convention to adopt an out-and-out denunciation of the Klan, a strong plank in the State platform would bring them back. Such a plank, as prominent Democrats view it, would make an equally strong appeal to other racial groups coming under the ban of the Ku Klux Klan.

Forced by Third Party.

The fact that the Socialists, who will do teamwork with La Follette's third party in the coming election, will adopt at their State Convention today a plank condemning the Ku Klux Klan by name may have carried more weight with the Democratic leaders who fear that this, coupled with other proposals attractive to labor which are embodied in the La Follette platform, would render it difficult to keep a large proportion of the party vote in line for the Democratic candidates, in the absence of an equally strong denunciation of the Klan in the Democratic platform.

"I do not see how the Klan issue can be kept out of the campaign in this State," said Herbert C. Pell Jr., Democratic State Chairman, when asked to comment on the situation yesterday, in the light of the Davis interview. "I do not think the Klan will be a salient issue, however. I regard honesty in public office as the dominant issue in the campaign, an issue upon which we should be able to make a winning fight."

At the personal campaign headquarters of Mr. Davis in the Murray Hill Hotel it was said yesterday that he was expected back in this city late Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning. Clem L. Shaver, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who has spent most of his time this week in Washington, is expected here Monday.

Iowa Democrats Aim at La Follette.

DES MOINES, Iowa, July 25.—Campaign plans designed to strengthen the lines of the Democratic Party against the Independent Presidential boom for Senator La Follette were made at the State Convention of Iowa Democrats here today. Leaders told the convention they were confident the La Follette movement would draw greater strength from the Republicans than from the Democrats and stressed satisfaction with the nomination of John W. Davis.

DAVIS FOR MAJORITY TO RATIFY A TREATY

pared and discussed the political situation generally with Mr. Chadbourne.

In reply to a question as to whether Mr. Chadbourne would have any part in raising funds for his campaign, Mr. Davis said he had given little attention as yet to campaign finances.

"About the only contribution I have received direct," he said, "has been one sent through my sister, who lives at Clarksburg. She met a carpenter there, a friend of mine, who wanted to contribute to my campaign. He gave her a $20 bill for that purpose. That was very nice of him, and it is about the only direct contribution I have received."

Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the St. Louis Dispatch, will visit Mr. Davis tomorrow, coming from Bar Harbor, where he is spending the Summer. Colonel William A. Gaston of Boston, Democratic candidate for Senator in 1922 against Henry Cabot Lodge, will be a visitor on Sunday.

Charles Dana Gibson, at whose Summer home on Seven Hundred Acre Island Mr. and Mrs. Davis are staying, returned today from the Belfast Hospital, where he underwent a minor operation. He is now completely restored to health.

It is reported here tonight that Mr. Davis will leave Seven-Hundred-Acre Island on Thursday next and will spend about a week in New York before going to Clarksburg, W. Va., for the notification ceremonies.

SHAVER COMING TO NEW YORK.

Democratic Chairman Will Open Headquarters Here Next Week.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Clem L. Shaver, Chairman-designate of the Democratic National Committee, will go to New York in a day or two, probably tomorrow, to select and open Presidential campaign headquarters there.

Mr. Shaver said today that he expected to get to work in New York on Monday morning and probably would be there several days. The building in which the Eastern campaign headquarters will be installed has not been definitely chosen, but inquiries have been made, awaiting Mr. Shaver's decision when he reaches New York.

Mr. Shaver will return to Washington about the middle of next week and after a stay of several days will go to Chicago to establish the Western headquarters of the Democratic campaign.

Since the nomination of Davis and Bryan the National Committee has outgrown its rooms in the Bond Building in Washington and has engaged more commodious quarters in the new Investment Building at Fifteenth and K Streets. Between thirty-five and forty rooms in the Investment Building have been leased.

BROTHERHOODS DEFY RAIL LABOR BOARD

Deny Its Authority to Compel Attendance—Reject Its Order to Testify.

SEEK CONSTITUTIONAL TEST

Court Action Is Forecast in Conflict Growing Out of Wage Dispute on Western Lines.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Action of the Railroad Labor Board in requiring the attendance of Railroad Brotherhood representatives as witnesses in the hearing of a wage dispute of enginemen on Western railroads is a lawless abuse of public authority and it denies to the employes of the railroads two undoubted constitutional rights, a statement signed by representatives and counsel of the brotherhoods issued late today says.

These are rights, the statement adds, that of berty of contract and the right not to be deprived of liberty or property without due process of law.

"The representatives of the employes will continue their efforts to assert and to protect in every possible way these constitutional rights," the statement declares.

The brotherhood statement also questions the impartiality of Chairman Ben Hooper of the board, which earlier in the day overruled and disallowed the plea of nonjurisdiction by counsel for railroad employes and ordered the taking of testimony of witnesses subpoenaed both from the carriers and the employes.

Hooper Asserts Power Under Law.

"We cannot accept the suggestion of counsel for the employes that our intervention in the dispute is premature," Chairman Hooper said. "We do not believe that the carriers or the employes can split hairs with the board as to the exact time it should assume jurisdiction.

"Our power to subpoena witnesses is definitely shown in Section 310 of the Transportation act, which also permits us to invoke the aid of any United States court should the board so determine. It further specifies that any witness failing to comply faces a penalty of contempt.

"The board is authorized to function when there is a likely substantial interest to strike if they fail to obtain the ruption of commerce. The board believes there was a substantial interruption of commerce likely to exist.

On several Eastern railroads, the brotherhoods of which these employes are a part, strike votes have been taken, although the dispute was settled without its necessity. It appears to us to be a policy of these organizations to promptly desired agreement.

"This hearing, which we think likely will result in an adjustment, will be pursued."

Donald R. Richberg, counsel for the employes, said tonight that their officials, summoned by the board, would not appear voluntarily to testify, despite the ruling of the board that in assuming jurisdiction it was functioning within its power.

Demand Direct Negotiations.

No court or public tribunal has authority to select witnesses to testify in behalf of a party, except upon the request and with the consent of the party for whom the evidence is to be presented, Mr. Richberg asserted. Consequently, he added, representatives of the employes will stand on their request to each carrier for further direct negotiations.

The Labor Board will await interpretation of the statement issued by the employes, embodying the foregoing conclusions, before proceeding with measures it claims to possess in lawfully forcing them to testify, it was indicated. The board told the employes it would give them another opportunity to appear after completion of the carriers' evidence, introduction of which consumed almost all the time of the hearing today.

It was pointed out that if the employes still refused to testify, the board had recourse to the Federal. District Courts to enforce its subpoenas, a move which several leaders among the employes inferred was desired in order to make a constitutionality test of both the Labor Board and the Transportation act, under which it operates.

The attacks against Chairman Ben W. Hooper singly and the board as a whole, made in statements and argument by employes, are construed in some quarters as preliminaries in a general movement toward the courts.

Following submission of evidence which the carriers said precluded the granting of any increase in wages, a mass of statistics and situations was offered in support of their request for a change in several existing rules. These are mostly of a technical nature, dealing with various features of operation and computation and basis of overtime pay. The carriers declared these rules to be "unduly burdensome and restrictive," relief from which they sought.

DIRIGIBLE SAFE IN HANGAR.

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEHURST, N. J., July 25.—The navy dirigible Shenandoah was finally floated safely into its hangar at the naval air station at 5:10 this afternoon, after being barred by unfavorable winds since 8:30 last night.

The Shenandoah returned from an eleven-hour tri-State flight last night to find a thirty-mile-an-hour crosswind howling across the door of the hangar. Commander Lansdowne feared the ship might be wrecked if he attempted to warp it in. Meanwhile thunderstorms were reported bearing down on the station and the commander feared to use the steel mooring mast because it acted as a "ground," and increased the ship's possible susceptibility to lightning. Commander Lansdowne took the Shenandoah back into the air, where it remained until 8:35 o'clock this morning.

A second landing then revealed conditions were no better. The ship was refueled and revictualed and, shortly before noon, again took the air. This time Commander Lansdowne set out on a southerly cruise which took in Philadelphia, Atlantic City and various shore resorts. On his return he found the wind sufficiently abated to enable him to steer the bag into its great shed.

Early in the day the wind tore an observation balloon from its moorings at the air station and blew it along the New England coast.

DAVIS TO SPEAK AT DINNER

Special to The New York Times.

BRIARCLIFF MANOR, N. Y., July 25.—John W. Davis will be one of the speakers at a dinner of the New York Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi on Aug. 6 at Briarcliff Lodge. Mr. Davis is a member of the board of Governors of Phi Kappa Psi and was initiated into the Beta Chapter of the fraternity while an undergraduate at the University of Virginia.

In notifying the committee that he would be present Mr. Davis indicated that he would compete in the golf, tennis and swimming sports, which will feature the day's outing.

COL. COOLIDGE HOME, CALLS IT 'MIGHTY GOOD'

Wanted to Cut His Hay, but His Many Visitors Keep Him Too Busy.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., July 25.—Colonel John C. Coolidge, father of the President, returned to the family homestead today after a visit of ten days at the White House.

Standing on the threshold of his home, where he was met by the housekeeper, the old man said he had had a nice time, but that "home's a pretty good place, after all."

Then looking along the low and irregular roof-line of the single-story and attic house, with barn and other low-ceiled ells adjoining, he added:

"This is simple, but it looks mighty good to me. Now to get the hay in."

But he did not cut hay today. Instead he greeted eighty persons who came to see the house where the President was born and where he took the oath of office, and as soon as courtesy would permit, he went again to the grave in the cemetery on the hill where the President and Mrs. Coolidge buried their son Calvin two weeks ago.

There he found the grave under a blanket of flowers. Mrs. Coolidge has sent three wreaths of roses from the White House conservatories since she returned to Washington, and also a large wreath of silvered leaves that has been placed at the head of the grave.

Neighbors here had added their contributions of flowers from the fields and gardens, kept fresh from day to day. The guard of State Troopers that has been maintained at the grave was relieved temporarily today, but the visitors who have worn bare the paths about the Coolidge family lot were still present in numbers.

Colonel Coolidge had little to say about his visit at the White House. He kept his usual hours, he said, enjoying it all very much, especially a cruise on the Presidential yacht Mayflower. He remarked that she was a much bigger boat than he thought, exclaiming: "Think of it, she carries a crew of 200 men!"

HUNTING FOR TREASURE IS FAD IN LONDON NOW

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—The latest craze in smart society here is treasure hunting in the early hours of the morning. embers of "a society of bright young people" subscribe for a prize, which is hidden and then clues are given, first at one place and then at another, which may lead the searchers in automobiles over the greater part of London before the treasure is discovered.

A final meet was held yesterday morning and one of the most active searchers was the Prince of Wales. Among the women, some of whom were in evening dress, were the American actresses, Gladys Cooper and Tallulah Bankhead.

"The dressmakers should rejoice for the birth of the bright young people," says the Daily Mail "for few of the frocks that went to Seven Dials yesterday morning will ever see the lights of a ballroom again. A crawl on all fours in that none too clean neighborhood, led by the Prince and pursued by Mrs. Viola Pearsons in search of an elusive clue chased by reporters, has spoiled the majority of them beyond repair. The hunters found their final clue in Norfolk House, St. James, and here a splendid breakfast had been prepared and a string band to cheer them after their strenuous adventures."

HICKS ON CAMPAIGN PLANS.

Active Work Will Follow President Coolidge's Speech of Acceptance.

Frederick C. Hicks, former Representative in Congress and newly selected Eastern manager of President Coolidge's campaign, said yesterday that until the President delivers his speech of acceptance the work of the Eastern division of the Coolidge campaign forces would be confined to building up and strengthening the organization.

Carpenters and furniture movers were still in charge yesterday at the headquarters of the Eastern division, at 2 West Forty-sixth Street. Mr. Hicks said last night that he expected the offices would be ready for occupancy early next week.

Some time before the actual launching of the fight the party leaders will hold a conference in this city, at which campaign strategy in the East will be determined. All the territory along the Atlantic seaboard from Maine to Florida and all States east of the Alleghanies will come within the jurisdiction of Mr. Hicks.

"All of our energies for the time being are bent toward completing organization, so that we will be ready to launch a most intensive campaign immediately following delivery by President Coolidge of his speech of acceptance," Mr. Hicks said. "From that moment on the fight will be pushed with vigor until Nov. 4."

LATE MUSIC A NUISANCE.

Magistrate Orders Russian Club to Stop After 11 o'Clock.

Music after 11 o'clock at night ceases to be music and becomes a nuisance, Magistrate J. Stanley Renaud held in the West Side Court yesterday when Clement Machi, President of the Russian Music Lovers' Association and manager of the Russian Literary Association at 334 West Seventy-second Street, was arraigned on charges of disorderly conduct brought by Carl Biehl of 332 West Seventy-second Street.

Appearing as a witness for Machi was Miss Veronica Ray, motion picture actress and singer, and when the Magistrate held that music was not music after 11 o'clock at night she said: "Why, we number among our members Feodor Challapin and other singers of fame. Their music is music at any time and at any place."

Biehl said the Russians played into the early hours of the morning, and Mrs. Julia Ferguson, owner of a rooming house at 336 West Seventy-second Street, said that they played with such vigor that all her lodgers moved away. The attorney for Machi said that Biehl wanted to get an option on the clubhouse so he could build an apartment house there. The Judge ordered an investigation and further examination on Aug. 1. Meanwhile the music must stop at 11.

WANTS BUILDING REMOVED.

Pershing Square Corporation Says Its Business Is Damaged.

The Pershing Square Building Corporation, owner of the Pershing Square Building at Park Avenue and Forty-second Street, applied in the Supreme Court yesterday for an order compelling the Powers-Kennedy Contracting Corporation to remove a structure erected at that corner nearly three years ago to make excavations for the extension of the Queensboro subway from the Grand Central Station westward.

The petition asserts that the structure causes a great diversion of traffic from the south side of Forty-second Street to the north side, because many persons will not pass under such a structure when they can avoid it. The plaintiff states that it is being damaged because it has leased part of the building to the Café Savarin on a percentage basis, and it is losing business daily.

"DEAD MILEAGE" CUT DOWN

Heavy Decrease In Operation Without Passengers—Rate of 10 Cents a Half Mile to Stay.

The rate of 10 cents for each half-mile adopted by several of the leading taxicab companies of New York City in the cut-rate war has increased the revenue of one of those companies 33 1-3 per cent., and another company reports a 20 per cent. increase. "Dead mileage" —operation without passengers—has been reduced from 60 per cent. to 20 per cent. Another company reports a decrease of "dead mileage" from 50 per cent. to 8 per cent. The companies showing the increased business further announced that the 10-cent half-mile rate was here to stay, so far as they were concerned.

Under the reduced rate the taximeter reads 10 cents before the cab starts with a passenger, which is the minimum fare. The meter still shows 10 cents until the car passes over the first half-mile, when the meter registers 20 cents, which is the reading for the first mile. If the cab travels a foot more than a mile the taximeter will register another 10 cents, costing the passenger 30 cents for a mile and any fraction up to half a mile and 40 cents for a mile and a half and any fraction up to two miles.

The number of 10-cent taxicabs is only a small proportion of the total number of cabs operating in New York City, which explains complaints that it has been difficult to find cut-rate cabs empty.

Effects of the Lower Rate.

"The 20-cent a mile rate has gone over with a bang," said Jerome T. Davis, general sales manager of the Luxor Cab Manufacturing Company, 1,804 Broadway. "Drivers operating their cabs on the reduced rate have simply been overwhelmed with business. They don't have time to eat. Their dead mileage has been cut down from 50 per cent. to 8 per cent.

"Our check on operations is still incomplete, but for thirty cabs it showed that they averaged seventy-three miles a day, with receipts of $11.57 for each cab. That is at the rate of approximately 16 cents a mile. The same cars formerly averaged seventy-three miles a day, with 50 per cent. dead mileage, and their gross revenue averaged $8.50 a day."

Henry Weiss, President of the United States Cab Corporation, 1,802 Broadway, operating approximately 1,000 cabs, said reports by 100 cab drivers showed an average of approximately 33 1-3 per cent. increase in receipts at the new rate, and a reduction of dead mileage from approximately 60 to 20 per cent.

"It is my personal belief and the belief of men who have made a thorough study of the taxicab situation in New York that the 20 cents per mile rate is here to stay," said Mr. Weiss, who is Vice President of the Empire State Taxicab Association of Commerce, representing taxicab companies that do an annual business of approximately $50,000,000.

Big Jump in Receipts.

Mr. Weiss said he had just gone over the reports turned in by 100 drivers of reduced rate taxicabs and found the following results:

"During the period of forty-eight hours prior to the inception of the new low rate the total bookings of these 100 cabs on double shift and operated at the old rate was $1,320 each day, or $13.20 per cab per day.

"During the next period of forty-eight hours, where these same cabs were operated at the new low rate, the total bookings per day on double shift have been $2,030 for the first twenty-four hours and $2,080 during the period of the next twenty-four hours, or $20.30 per cab the first day of operation at the new low rate and $20.80 per cab on the second day of operation at the new low rate.

"There is no doubt in my mind that as the public further realizes the fact that taxicab riding is now really and truly within the reach of the average man's pocketbook, the receipts of all taxicabs operating at the new low rate will further increase.

"The present effort to put in cheaper rates is a well thought out plan on the part of the operators to attract a class of trade which has not hitherto used taxicabs and, over and above all, to cut down as fast as possible unpaid mileage. The problem simply resolves itself into the following:

"Is it more economical to get 40 per cent. paid mileage of the former rate or 80 per cent. of the new rate? Any child in the sixth grade can work out this problem."

Deputy Commissioner of Licenses John Drennan disclosed that Police Commissioner Enright had instructed the police to permit the taxicabs to post cut-rate placards on the outside of their cars pending installation of new taximeters. In warning drivers to remove the placard rate posters the police were carrying out a police regulation several months old which was designed to facilitate the police check-up of automobile ownership and to prevent the use of taxicabs for advertising plays at the expense of passengers.

"Not long ago," explained Commissioner Drennan, "some taxicabs were posted by a theatrical concern with markers reading 'Lowest Rate.' When the passenger entered some of those cabs he found a large advertisement of the play, and learned at the end of his trip that he had used a cab with the highest rate."

Deputy Commissioner Drennan said that the Commissioner of Licenses was prepared to expedite the re-examination of taxicabs installing the new meters as fast as they applied for re-examination. One result of the cut-rate war would be the renovation of most of the taxicabs operating in New York City.

"We are informed," said Mr. Drennan, "that every paint shop in New York City, Northern New Jersey and even in Connecticut is filled with cabs that are being painted to conform with the color scheme for the cut-rate cabs. By Fall, when vacationists return, they will find the city's taxicabs in the best condition probably ever known."

PARKS OPEN TO SLEEPERS.

Hot Weather Order Is Issued at Suggestion of Acting Mayor.

At the request of Acting Mayor William T. Collins, the city parks and recreation piers have been thrown open to the public for sleeping quarters during the hot weather. The necessary orders were issued last night by Francis D. Gallatin, President of the Park Board.

Police Commissioner Enright, at the time, received instructions from the Acting Mayor to see that proper protection is afforded those who sleep in the parks. In his letter to Commissioner Gallatin, Mr. Collins said:

"Thermometers are registering close to 90 degrees. Torrid tenements are bringing their usual Summer discomfort. Thousands of people are trying to snatch a little sleep on the sands at the bathing beaches. What about our parks and recreation piers? Why not throw them open to the general public? Better a little rumpled grass than crowded hospitals and mounting death rates. Please have the necessary instructions issued to this effect."

Indiana Wants to Hear Dawes.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The Republican State Committee of Indiana, headed by Clyde Walb, invited General Dawes today to make campaign speeches in that State. They assured him that he would "go strong" in Indiana. It was decided to leave the Indiana speaking arrangements for headquarters to settle.

COOLIDGE COUNSELS BOYS TO REVERENCE

be matched by a sacrifice, on your part, that will give your children a better chance.

The third is a reverence for God. It is hard to see how a great man can be an atheist. Without the sustaining influence of faith in a divine power we could have little faith in ourselves. We need to feel that behind us is intelligence and love. Doubters do not achieve; skeptics do not contribute; cynics do not create.

Faith is the great motive power, and no man realizes his full possibilities unless he has the deep conviction that life is eternally important, and that his work, well done, is a part of an unending plan.

These are not only some of the fundamentals of the teachings of the Boy Scouts, they are the fundamentals of our American institutions.

If you will take them with you, if you will be living examples of them abroad, you will make a great contribution toward a better understanding of our own country, and receive in return a better understanding of other countries, for you will find in foreign lands to a very large extent exactly what you carry there yourselves.

I trust that you can show to your foreign associates in the great Scout movement that you have a deep reverence for the truth, and are determined to live by it; that you wish to protect and cherish your own country and contribute to the well-being, right-thinking and true-living of the whole world.

As Clear as If He Were Present.

The President's remarks occupied about fifteen minutes and were received in amplifiers in the great dining hall of the steamship. The voice of the President sounded as clear as if he had been on board the vessel, and it created a profound impression among the Boy Scouts and the guests, numbering about 250.

Immediately following his speech the boys gave three cheers for the President, led by Scout McKay of Fort Wayne, Ind., their cheer leader. They also dispatched a telegram to the President at the White House, expressing deep appreciation of his message and pledging that they would keep in mind and practice the principles he so ably set before them.

The Danish Minister, Constantin Brun, sent a message to the farewell dinner from Bar Harbor, Me., saying that a warm welcome was assured the United States scouts in Copenhagen.

Mortimer L. Schiff, International Commissioner, presided, and among the other speakers were Captain Herbert Hartley of the Leviathan, Dr. John H. Finley and Will Rogers, who kept the Scouts and guests in a roar of laughter with his description of the recent Democratic Convention.

Urged to be "Fine Fellows."

Colin H. Livingston of Washington, D. C., President of the Boy Scouts, told the scouts in his address to leave the impression in Europe that Americans are fine fellows, "and never, if we can help it, will we have any quarrel with them."

James E. West, Chief Scout Executive, spoke of the interest which the jamboree, which is to begin on Aug. 16, had awakened, and hoped that the people of this country would be stimulated to greater effort for the boyhood of the nation, which, he stated, was allowed to stumble into citizenship, handicapped and unprepared for the tremendous responsibilities of later life.

Attention was drawn during the dinner to Eagle Scout Thomas Frazier of Honolulu, Hawaii, who missed his boat, and who was brought to Vancouver in a British battleship in time to sail today.

Ralph Hubbard has trained part of the delegation to do Indian dances, which will be included in the exhibition abroad.

HOWELL TO SUPPORT COOLIDGE IN FIGHT

HOPES FOR STATE'S VOTE

Former Leaders of Labor Assure the President of Their Support.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Howell of Nebraska, who as an independent Republican has opposed the Administration on several policies, saw the President today and assured him that he would support the Republican ticket and speak for it in his State and other parts of the country. Mr. Howell thought that his colleague, Senator Norris, who is friendly with La Follette, would not actively join the independent movement.

Senator Howell said that conditions were improving in his own State, with good prospects that the Republicans would carry it. He did not discount the strength of La Follette, but thought that he would draw more strength from the Democratic Party than from the Republican, thereby giving the State to the Republicans in November.

"The prosperity that exists in other parts of the West, especially Kansas, is not felt in my State," he said. "The wheat crop is not large and there is a shortage in corn. Also there is a great lack of employment, but present indications are for an improvement, which will be helpful on election day."

FRENCH CONDEMN OUR ROLE IN LONDON

RESENT BANKERS' ATTITUDE

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 25.—A feeling which may have a most regrettable effect in Franco-American relations has sprung up here over America's rôle in the London Conference, and there is growing support for the Matin's demand that Premier Herriot abandon a position in which he is frustrated by private bankers, and return to Paris while French financiers confer with American financiers.

While remarkable changes are possible in French politics, it appears now that the majority in the French Parliament would let the Dawes plan die rather than accept the terms of the New York bankers.

Although many Frenchmen believe it would be suicidal to promise never to take any steps against Germany without the approval of other countries, whose interests are not the same as theirs, it cannot be overemphasized that the suggestions which now stand in the name of American bankers would get a different reception if put forward in the name of the American Government. If the American Government, which approves the Dawes plan (and that, after all, is a plan to collect reparation), gave to France friendly advice on any course of action the French would feel that they would have at least the moral support of America if Germany defaulted.

That would be worth the price, they feel. But, as far as they can see, America's rôle at the conference is limited to an effort by American bankers, seconded by Mr. Hughes, to make a good business deal, supplying money to Germany without due regard to France's getting money.

The French press lays great emphasis on the contention that France has no desire to occupy the Ruhr again next year, or for years after, but that she wants to retain the right to do it, because she thinks the strongest motive Germany can have for fulfilling the Versailles Treaty is fear of the French Army.

In forming an opinion on the rôle of M. Herriot at London, it is held here that Americans should bear in mind his realization that if he signs an accord containing the concessions asked of him, he would probably be signing his own political death warrant, and that such an agreement would be worth nothing.

Paper Urges Herriot to Return.

The Matin says it is beneath the dignity of the Prime Minister of France to continue quarreling with private American citizens, and if America sees fit to have no other policy than that of money lenders, France must be more dignified. The newspaper advises M. Herriot to return to Paris and let the experts carry on the conversations.

The Paris Soir says the American bankers have blackmailed the conference, and that all honest people should resent such scandals.

The Liberté cannot understand the consistency of statements from the White House that America is perfectly disinterested, and reports from London of the various conferences Secretary Hughes is having with the Allied Premiers.

The Figaro says Mr. Hughes acts in a queer way as the representative of a country which believes in open diplomacy, and adds:

"It is evident that the American bankers have gone far beyond their rôle when they condition their aid on such a political question as abolition of the Reparation Commission. In order to lend $200,000,000 to Germany they ask for Germany a chance to escape, without punishment, her obligation to the Allies."

The Action Française says that if the Americans see fit to break up the conference because of what they regard as a risk of 800,000,000 marks, the American public should understand that France would rather see it fall than risk 40,000,000,000 marks.

The Petit Bleu declares:

"We cannot admit that a group of financiers, acting to protect their interests, should decide on the defaults of Germany, and, whether or not France can take sanctions, Europe shall not become a vast field of exploitation, with as its only Government a bankers' combine."

The Journal des Débats sees grave danger in the precedent of financiers bossing the head of a Government. It says due regard should be paid to the advice of the bankers, but that the American bankers have gone too far, declaring:

"The bankers lose sight of political necessities which are beyond their rôles. Absorbed by their particular preoccupations, we prefer to believe the New York financiers do not understand the consequences of their demand, do not understand that they are running into invincible national resistance, perhaps.

"What will remain of the Dawes plan if, because of agreements signed at London, Ministerial crises should come in several countries? That's what the Premiers must think about, and that's why they cannot agree to the binding demands of the money lenders."

Temps Pleads for a Compromise.

The Temps pleads for a compromise and says all France is seeking is to retain the power to see the Dawes plan carried out. Sanctions would be only the final resort, something France would resort to only after all other means, including the help of the American bankers, had failed in case of German default. If England and America wish France not to take sanctions against Germany, the Temps says, they have only to guarantee the payment of reparations under the Dawes plan. If Germany had made a sincere effort to pay, the Temps says, the Ruhr would not have been occupied. And if Germany carries out the Dawes plan it will not be occupied again.

The Journal expresses grave doubts of the success of the Dawes plan as a whole, and asks if there is so much trouble about a relatively small preliminary loan, what might be the demands of the English and American bankers with regard to the sale of the vastly larger amounts of German securities contemplated by the experts' plan? The Journal says Americans have forgotten that the reparation business is not a bilateral transaction, but a settlement by Germany of her war debt.

The Quotidien, warmly supporting Premier Herriot, finds fault with the bankers, and says M. Herriot is nobly defending the rights of France. It is held that this stand by his supporters would, of course, complicate M. Herriot's position, in case he gave way.

Pertinax, in the Echo de Paris, interprets the rôle of the bankers as a "mark of great perfidy," and says they appear to be carrying out a plan made in advance. He says:

"I have been struck with the narrowness of their views, their ignorance and lack of understanding of Europe."

He thinks France should drop the Dawes plan and seek other methods of collecting from Germany, and he tells his readers that the American financial representatives in London are in control. German-American interests, he thinks, direct the Federal Reserve Board.

L'Oeuvre, a journal of the Left, appeals to Mr. Hughes to make the American bankers be "reasonable," and says that if the conference shows good-will it will reach a settlement.

The Era Nouvelle, also of the Left, says that in inciting the French to resentment against the American bankers the newspapers of the Right are carrying out a political move against M. Herriot.

L'Humanite publishes a sarcastic article on M. Herriot's championing isolated action, which he had always condemned. It says that as for the Communists, they see no disadvantage in substituting American capitalism for French imperialism, the two being equally detestable in their eyes.

The Gaulois calls it rather a joke, but a sorry one, that two Socialist Premiers, who hailed their advent to power as ending the capitalistic régime, now are blocked by no other than the capitalists.

Some French writers point to the recent favorable financial report from Germany, and suggest that maybe, if the American bankers refuse, the Germans may subscribe to the loan with the billions of marks they hold abroad.

For the benefit of Americans who may think the French are making a weak case in criticizing the proposal that in the event of German default they take action only in accord with their allies, it should be said that from the French point of view the trouble with this proposal is that they fear the British will never agree with them on sanctions.

With a few notable exceptions, the French and British Governments do not agree on international affairs, because their interests are different. Holding the majority of claims on Germany, and being largely a self-contained country, France believes it likely that in the event of a German default five or six years from now, the British, with their interest in a probably resumed trade with Germany, would not feel the same as the French about coercing Germany to pay sums only a small part of which would go to England.

In view of the refusal of the British and Americans to give France any formal guarantee of security—or of the payment of reparations—the French appear definitely resolved at this time not to surrender what they regard as their sovereign right to act in the last analysis as they deem best to protect their own interests.

Back of all French continental policy lies the basic factor of a fear of Germany. Nothing will be done by France without that apprehension in mind. This dominating motive is not a factor in British policy, not a factor in American policy, and there will always be that difference between the French and Anglo-Saxon policies toward Germany.

BOLSHEVIKI ACCLAIM MONEY DEVIL IN LONDON

By WALTER DURANTY.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MOSCOW, July 25.—"Pax Americana" is the expression which Karl Radek applies to the Dawes report and the negotiations in London, which are being followed here with great interest. The Bolsheviki profess to see in the London situation international capital for the first time in history coming out into the open and boldly stating its demands. Always, as good disciples of Marx, they have suspected the cloven hoof of the capitalist devil under the shoe-buckles of European diplomats; but now they say he is appearing boldly with horns, hoofs and tail and is asserting his authority over principalities and powers.

This pleases them enormously. Like all new religions, Bolshevism wants a clear-cut devil to fight, and its leaders have always been afraid their followers would be confused by the haze which modern political economy casts over capitalists and anti-capitalists alike. But now, they say, if the French resistance weakens and the Dawes plan goes into force, every one must admit that international capital is the motive power behind the Allies' treatment of Germany. Upon this propaganda point the Bolshevist press and the Communist International are already seizing with great avidity. This is because, however much they may talk about the probable breakdown of the London conference, the Bolsheviki believe in their hearts that it will succeed in reaching a workable compromise.

So their line of propaganda is clear: On the one side to emphasize the capitalist mastery of the modern world, and on the other to remind the German people incessantly that it is being enslaved to satisfy the greed of American and English bankers.

Less clever Bolsheviki than Radek are gloating over the prospect of a rupture in London. If the Dawes plan is not accepted, they say, the rentenmark will fall; there will be an economic crisis in Germany, open hostility between France and England, disgust in America and a German revolution will be little more than a question of months. I have actually met withthe young Communists rubbing their hands in glee over the approaching European disaster.

For the time being the extremist tide is running so strongly in Moscow that, despite, or perhaps because of, the bad harvest, enonomic difficulties and the still barely solidified currency, it seems as if the ruling class in Russia would welcome the failure of the Dawes plan. The Communist International undoubtedly wants nothing better, and its President, Zinovieff, is apparently today the strongest personality in Russia.

COUZENS FORCES REVENUE INQUIRY

Joins Two Democrats on Senate Committee in Move to Get Counsel to Press It Now.

WATSON QUITS AS CHAIRMAN

Colleagues Propose Naming Michigan Senator to Succeed Him at Meeting Today.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Democratic members of the Special Senate Committee appointed to investigate the Internal Revenue Bureau effected an unexpected combination today with Senator Couzens, Republican of Michigan, who has been occasionally aligned with the La Follette group, and successfully embarked upon a program which is expected to add a new set of fireworks to the approaching Presidential campaign.

The enforcement of the Prohibition law by Secretary Mellon and the Internal Revenue Bureau will furnish the question to be delved into and the Senatorial inquisitors in their work will have the aid of special counsel versed in the intricacies of Congressional inquiry. Hearings will begin Sept. 1.

As the first move in the program today, Senators King and Jones, Democratic members of the committee, called, with Senator Couzens, upon Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, Chairman of the committee. They told him that their three votes constituted a majority, and that they intended to force the resumption of the investigation at once and with legal aid.

Chairman Watson protested, but as his other Republican colleague, Senator Ernst of Kentucky, was out of the city, in the ensuing discussion the Chairman gave notice that he would resign the direction of affairs in view of the new program.

Senator Watson would remain a member of the committee, but he told his colleagues frankly that he felt the country was tired of investigations, that he was convinced no further good could come from this one, and that he would not to be charged with any responsibility for reopening the subject.

Couzens for Watson's Place.

Undisturbed, the majority proceeded to indicate their purpose to accept the resignation and to elect Senator Couzens Chairman, but all four agreed that Senator Ernst should be heard in the meantime. Failing to get in touch with him by telegraph, the committee adjourned until tomorrow morning when it will meet to ratify its purpose, and then disband while its legal staff assembles evidence.

Pending tomorrow's discussion, participants in the manoeuvring were reticent to comment. Senator Couzens was said to have the design of employing Francis J. Heney, the San Francisco graft prosecutor, to conduct the case, to which plan Senator Watson was openly hostile, and in favor of which the Democratic members were not entirely firm.

What alternative names were discussed, no committee member would say. Senator Watson was said to have objected to any renewal of the Senate investigation, in view of the prolonged proceedings in the Teapot Dome and Daugherty cases.

However, it was apparent that the new majority of three was in control and was intent upon standing together. A full statement to the public was promised after the meeting tomorrow. Senator Ernst is expected by all Senate observers to align himself with Senator Watson.

Coolidge Protested Inquiry.

The committee's investigation of the Internal Revenue Bureau, under which prohibition enforcement is conducted, was launched last Winter when the full tide of investigation was sweeping through the Senate. The issues renewed today were taken up then and President Coolidge protested by a special message as to some of the committee's modes of procedure.

Senator Couzens, after the Senate had voted the committee authority to hire a special attorney, was taken seriously ill and removed to Johns Hopkins Hospital at Baltimore. Since that time the inquiry has been at a standstill.

While the hearings were on the Senate debated at length whether they should not be confined to the tax collection methods of the Treasury.

During Senate debate Senator Watson openly accused Senator Couzens of harboring a desire to "get Secretary Mellon," with whom he had disagreed over the Mellon tax plan. The Michigan Senator has disclaimed any animus in the matter, but he reiterated today his opinion that the situation in the Revenue Bureau should be explored to the bottom.

Heney's name was the centre of controversy, and Govrenor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, who voiced criticism of the Treasury prohibition enforcement, announced that he had urge the Californian's selection upon Senator Couzens. During the dispute details as to prohibition enforcement were constantly dragged into the Daugherty inquiry, which Senator Wheeler, now the Vice Presidential candidate with La Follette, was then directing.

While the question of the committee going into prohibition enforcement was being debated in the Senate those opposed to the move strenuously objected, declaring other Congresisonal committees were charged with that subject. Most of the hearings of the committee heretofore have dealt with Secretary Mellon's conduct of the Treasury and tax affairs.

With Senator Watson and other Administration leaders opposed to continuing the inquiry, it had been forecast that the investigation would be dropped, although power to continue it during the Summer was given before Congress adjourned. There are three Republican and two Democratic members of the committee, and the decision rested with Senator Couzens, the one Republican who was for pressing the inquiry.

Senator Watson, as Chairman, refused to call the committee together, and then Senator Couzens precipitated today's action.

MARX AVOIDS DEBATE ON DAWES REPORT

By T. R. YBARRA.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—Chancellor Marx stood by his guns today in the Reichstag. He refused to get himself involved in debate about the foreign policy of his Government, dclaring that at the present stage of the proceedings at the London conference it would be inadvisable for the German Government to wrangle in the Reichstag about what it had done and intended to do in its relation with foreign countries. Therefor, expectations of an acrimonious discussion of the Dawes report were disappointed. Dr. Marx and his colleagues in the Government are in no mood to bandy words about foreign affairs when they feel sure that an invitation to attend the conference is only a matter of hours.

"The position of the German Government," said the Chancellor, "is exactly the same as it was when I explained it in detail on June 4."

He added that the Government's view of questions such as Germany's war guilt had been entered into thoroughly both by himself and the Foreign Minister in previous utterances, and that he had nothing to add to those statements.

Throughout Dr. Marx's speech and in other Reichstag proceedings today the usual tumult was contributed by the Communists and the delegations of the Extreme Right. President Wallraf was forced to interfere several times, to his intense disgust.

A noticeable feature of today's session was the absence of several of the most important Opposition leaders, among them Admiral von Tirpitz and Count von Westarp. This is eloquent evidence of the discord which reigns just now in the Conservative ranks. To avoid being confronted with the necessity of coming out flatfooted against the Dawes report these leaders stayed away today. Until London does something definite there is little definite to be expected from Berlin.

Government Parties' Declaration.

BERLIN, July 25 (Associated Press).—In the Reichstag today the three Government parties in a brief statement announced their support of the Chancellor's refusal to debate the foreign situation, and denounced the Nationalist attempt to create difficulties.

The statement made public by Herr Fehrenbach, former Chancellor, points out that a settlement on the basis of the Dawes report, on which the Government is insisting, means that the occupied territory must be evacuated, economically and militarily, and security must be given against hostile infringement of German sovereignty in the Rhineland. There must be agreement also that payments by Germany shall be made only if the standard of living of the German people does not sink below that of the other nations, and that German currency is not destroyed.

Chancellor Marx speaking afterward, declared the Government would do its utmost to carry out the purposes which Deputy Fehrenbach had outlined, which, he said, were certainly supported by the majority of the Reichstag members.

BRAZIL USES RADIO TO WARN SAO PAULO

Federals Also Drop Leaflets From Airplanes, Urging Civilians to Abandon the Rebels.

HEAVY SHELLING FORECAST

German and Italian War Veterans Reported to Have Shown Rebels How to Build Their Trenches.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—By radio broadcasting and propaganda or leaflets dropped from airplans the Secretary of War of Brazil last night and today warned the remaining 300,000 civilians in Sao Paulo to "abandon the city, leaving the rebels to their fate." The State Department got a cable to this effect tonight from Sheldon L. Crosby, the Chargé in Rio de Janeiro.

The cable indicated that the Government of Brazil has definitely decided to use heavy artillery against the rebels of Sao Paulo to a degree not attempted heretofore.

Says Civilians Protect Rebels.

The appeal of Marshal Setembrino de Carho, which was broadcast and dropped by military aviators, gave warning that the military operations against the rebels will soon assume a more stern character.

Rio de Janeiro, July 24, 1924.

To the People of Sao Paulo:

An appeal which will be distributed profusely today by the aviators of the Government troops in the capital of the State of Sao Paulo and which was transmitted yesterday by radio telephone.

The Government troops must act with freedom against the rebels, who insist upon fighting under the moral protection of the civil population, the sacrifice of which we must avoid.

I appeal to the noble and industrious people of Sao Paulo to abandon the city, leaving the rebels to their fate.

I hope that all will respond to this appeal so as to prevent suffering caused by the military operations which shall be carried on within a few days.

Marshal SETEMBRINO DE CARHO, Minister of War.

Report More Federal Gains.

Official communiqués made public at the Brazilian Embassy here report additional advances by Government forces at Sao Paulo, and give details of the capture of a rebel airplane. The first of these, dated noon yesterday, says:

"As we have already published, a rebel airplane flying from Sao Paulo toward Taubate was pursued by Government aviators and came down in a swamp about twelve miles from the city of Cunha, where it was burned. Yesterday the Government troops occupied the city of Sorocaba, where they made 40 prisoners.

"The commander of the rebels ran away in a motor car. The Government troops are maintaining firmly their advantages of their positions on our front in Sao Paulo, where they have made since yesterday substantial advances."

The later communiqué, issued at midnight, says:

"The Government troops had local fights with the rebels, which resulted in a great advance on our front, principally on our left wing, where we captured numerous machine guns and made more than 100 prisoners, most of whom are foreigners. The rebels are constantly yielding ground."

A communiqué dated at noon today says:

"Calm prevailed throughout the night on the whole front. Our aviators have just completed a reconnaissance of the new positions of the rebels, who continue to yield ground under the activities of the Government troops."

Rebels Said to Be Entrenched.

BUENOS AIRES, July 25 (Associated Press).—The impression is growing stronger here daily that the Brazilian Federal forces besieging Sao Paulo are meeting such formidable resistance that the capture of the city is far from being an event of the immediate future.

It is becoming clear from scraps of information reaching here from one source and another that the fighting between the Federal troops and the rebels has resolved itself into trench warfare similar to that on the Western Front in Europe during the World War. The advances made by the Federal troops are reported in official communications to have been relatively small in regard to distance. This is believed to signify at most the capture of first line trenches only.

BLOW TO SPECULATORS IN GERMAN WAR LOANS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, July 25.—The old Junker Party, known as the German National People's Party came out strongly during the last electoral campaign for an Aufwertung, that is, the restoring to at least part of their original value of mortgages, bonds and other debts, public and private, that had become worthless through inflation. By doing this they got thousands of votes, especially from those who in pre-war times lived on the interest of small fortunes.

When the election was over, these people, trusting the Nationalist promises, began to buy up war loan and other German State bonds, hoping thus to recoup themselves for their losses. Consequently these bonds, which before could be had for next to nothing, soon rose on the Stock Exchange, and lively gambling began.

The Government repeatedly warned the speculators that no "Aufwertung" was intended and that, therefore, the speculators stood to lose their money. Nevertheless the speculation continued because hope in the Nationalist preelection promises persisted.

Today, however, the matter was taken up in the Reichstag, where financial experts stated their views. One declared that, even if Germany paid only 1 per cent. on her war loans and other indebtedness, it would mean an annual expenditure of 1,780,000,000 gold marks, which under the present financial conditions would be impossible and would never be tolerated by the Entente powers.

Thereupon Count Kalckreuth, representing the Junkers, declared that his party favored an Aufwertung, but only under the following five conditions: That a protective tariff on agricultural products be introduced to keep out foreign competition, that taxes on agricultural lands be considerably reduced, that freight rates be lowered, that the State grant to farmers sufficient credits and that before the Junkers gave their consent to an Aufwertung of mortgages on their property the State should grant an Aufwertung of public loans.

This is taken by the foes of the Junkers to mean that if the State gives the Junkers the necessary money they will consent to pay some of it to those who in pre-war days gave them gold marks for mortgages which are now worth hardly more than the paper on which they are printed.

WILSON RECEIVERSHIP NOT BEING DISCUSSED

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The Tribune will print the following in its issue of tomorrow.

"Mention of a friendly receivership in connection with the impending reorganization of Wilson & Co., yesterday caused undue apprehension in some quarters where it was mistaken as adverse news. Such action, if taken, would only be the legal channel through which paper and securities would be exchanged in their full value in the new company.

"The work of the bankers' committee is progressing beyond all expectations and the best of feeling exists for the Company. It was said the reorganization plans will not be completed for about two months after the receipt of the auditor's figures on Aug. 1. Frank O. Wetmore, Chairman of the committee, said a receivership has not been discussed."

Frank O. Wetmore, President of the First National Bank of Chicago and Chairman of the Bankers' Committee handling Wilson & Co.'s affairs, issued a statement yesterday in which he said that reports to the effect that Wilson & Co. would undergo a friendly receivership were "unauthorized."

In commenting on the report that a friendly receivership was planned for the company on the completion of the audit he said:

"It has not been discussed. There are no plans for it and statements to that effect are entirely unauthorized."

BROWN FILES APPEAL FROM HERESY VERDICT

Ohio Bishop Charges Twenty Errors in Proceedings of the Trial Court Last May.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 25.—William Montgomery Brown of Gallon, Ohio, retired Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, who was convicted of heresy May 21, after a trial before a Court of Bishops in Cleveland, appealed his case today to a special court of review, of which Bishop William A. Leonard of Cleveland is President.

The appeal, drawn by Joseph W. Sharts of Dayton, Ohio, and Edward Bushnell of Cleveland, Bishop Brown's attorneys, cites twenty assignments in error. The time for the hearing before the court of review has not been set and is uncertain because sentence is not to be passed on Bishop Brown until Oct. 14, but the hearing probably will be held in Cleveland.

The court of review is composed of nine Bishops elected in the same manner as the trial court. If the court of review sustains the decisions of the trial court, Bishop Brown may appeal to the House of Bishops, in which a two-thirds vote would be necessary to convict.

The appeal asserts that one of the trial judges, the Bishop of Michigan, was not a lawful member of the court, and that another, the Bishop of Spokane, was not even notified of the time or place of the trial, and consequently could not attend.

The appeal further declares the court erred in refusing Bishop Brown the right to examine members of the court, in overruling his motion to require the Church advocate to give him a bill of particulars, in refusing a continuance to permit Bishop Brown to obtain deposition of absent witnesses and in refusing to define the doctrines of the Church.

"Bishhop Brown does not wish to create the impression he is fighting to retain his position in the Church," Mr. Bushnell declared. "Our main point is to force the issue as to what are the doctrines of the Church. Until this is determined there is no possible way of proving that he is guilty of teaching contrary to those doctrines.

"It is doubtless within the power of the Church to declare what the clergy may teach, but the Protestant Episcopal Church never has done this. Therefore the question: 'What are the doctrines of the Church?' Has never had any authoritive answer."

BRITAIN'S SPLENDOR AT RECEPTION TO BAR

GARDEN PARTY BY ASTORS

Several Hundred Americans Pay a Visit to Sulgrave Manor.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—A visit to Sulgrave Manor, the English home of the Washington family, at the invitation of Sir Charles Wakefield; a garden party at Cliveden, given by Viscount and Viscountess Astor, and a reception in Westminster Hall by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Haldane, and four former Lord Chancellors, Lords Birkenhead, Cave, Finlay and Buckmaster, were the chief incidents in the official program arranged for the visiting members of the American and Canadian Bar Associations today.

Between four and five hundred members of the American Bar Association went to Cliveden, where Lord and Lady Astor had gathered a group of distinguished English guests to meet the American visitors. Unfortunately, the weather was not favorable for the full enjoyment of Cliveden, one of the beauty spots of the River Thames. Secretary and Mrs. Hughes did not go there this afternoon, as they are spending the week-end there with the Astors.

Probably among all the ceremonies and social gatherings which have attended the visit of the American Bar Association none will linger longer in the memories of the lawyers than the reception by the present and past Lord Chancellors in Westminster Hall. The historic hall, which has not been the scene of an evening function for many years, made a splendid setting.

It was a brilliant company that accepted the Lord Chancellors' invitation. The brilliant uniforms, court costumes and gorgeous dresses pleased the eye, and though more than a thousand persons were present at no time was there any suggestion that the hall was crowded. The guests were received in the Prince's chamber by their hosts. All of Westminster Palace was thrown open to them, with the exception of the House of Commons.

Secretary and Mrs. Hughes, who were accompanied by Ambassador Kellogg, received many attentions from the company, which included not only the leaders of the legal profession but the most distinguished representatives of diplomacy, politics, science, art, literature and society.

Between 400 and 500 of the American lawyers visited Sulgrave Manor as the guests of Sir Charles Wakefield and the Sulgrave Institution of Great Britain. The visitors traveled by a special train from London to Northampton, where they were welcomed by the city and county authorities in Guild Hall and reminded that Lawrence Washington, builder of Sulgrave Manor, was Mayor of the town in the reign of Henry VIII.

From Northampton the guests were driven in motor buses through more than twenty miles of English country which is rich in historical associations, fine old mansions and picturesque villages. A brief visit was paid to Althorp House, where the visitors were received by Lord and Lady Spencer and shown the famous collection of pictures.

On arriving at Sulgrave Manor, the lawyers were entertained at luncheon in large tents on the grounds. Several speeches were made. Secretary Hughes, who was unable to be present, sent a letter of apology as well as congratulating the Sulgrave Institution on purchasing and maintaining the English home of the Washingtons.

Sir Charles Wakefield in his speech pointed out that Washingtons were living there within thirty miles of Shakespeare's home throughout the whole of the Elizabethan age. Sir George Watson said that while American lawyers made use of decisions given in English courts, English lawyers also sometimes relied on American legal decisions, citing as an example the knotty point which was discussed before Privy Council about the Irish boundaries the other day, when "a large part of the ammunition was derived from the decisions of the American courts."

Judge Parker, responding to the toast of "our guests," said that the American visitors to this country had received the finest treatment they had ever had, and if they had a chance they were going to pay it back.

Afterward Mrs. Parker formally presented to the Sulgrave Manor several objects given by various donors. These included the original grant of the manor and lands of Sulgrave, witnessed by Lawrence Washington and other members of the family, a handle from the coffin of George Washington, a section of the old Washington elm from Cambridge, Mass., seven framed pictures of Mount Vernon, a liquor chest which belonged to George Washington and the saddle bags which he used in the Revolutionary War.

Mrs. Parker said that the Colonial Dames had recently raised $100,000 for Sulgrave Manor and that other women's organizations in America were active on its behalf.

Mrs. T. C. Mills delivered the greetings of the Society of the Daughters of the Revolution and presented to the institution a flag used by the Americans during the Revolution.

In the afternoon, the Washington pew, which was formerly in Sulgrave Church but was sold and taken away forty years ago, was restored to the church by Sir Charles Wakefield, into whose possession it recently came.

lasted—and it has probably ten days more before it—it has accomplished much useful work, and the serious differences have been reduced to two, the divergence of views between the bankers and the French on the question of a German default and the difference between the attitude of the French and Belgians and that of the other Allies toward the railway question.

The French and Belgians, who are likely, at any rate for some time, to maintain troops in the Ruhr, wish to preserve a Franco-Belgian nucleus of railway men to operate the lines in case of an emergency. The British and Italian delegates argue that the Ruhr should be restored in every possible detail to the economic condition in which it was before its occupation. There is little doubt that a compromise on this difficulty would be reached if the other and greater difficulty were removed.

The default problem has been tackled in informal discussions over the luncheon table in Pall Mall, after luncheon in the various hotels at which the delegates are housed and in one or two embassies. These consultations, with everybody meeting anybody, make it extremely difficult to discern any tangible result, but it is semi-officially announced that a meeting of the First Committee, which deals with default and penalties, is arranged for Monday morning. The hope that it would meet this morning was not fulfilled, for reasons that are not yet clear. One reason may have been the disappearance of Etienne Clementel, the French Finance Minister, who was found to have gone to Paris and who is expected to return tomorrow. He will probably bring with him one or two prominent French bankers, who have hitherto been conspicuous by their absence.

The heads of the chief delegations met as usual at 10 Downing Street this morning, and when they left the house it was noticed that they all appeared to be in excellent spirits.

Invitation to Germany Expected.

It is hoped that when the plenary session meets Monday it will have before it the reports of the committees, some of which are continuing to meet over the week-ends, and it is likely to issue an invitation to the German Government to send its representatives next week. If the invitation should be sent Monday night the German delegation might reach London on Wednesday. The German Government, it is known, intends to hold a Cabinet meeting before nominating its delegates, ven if they are already decided npon.

In British circles a feeling of cautious optimism prevails. The difficulties of reaching a satisfactory outcome of the conference are not minimized, but it is realized that all the delegates are working for a settlement and are thoroughly alive to the fact that the public in general is expecting them to find some solution of the problem before them. They are aware, too, of the terrible disappointment which would be felt throughout the world if the conference should fail, and they may be relied upon to do their best to avoid that.

It is asserted here, in well-informed quarters that, after all, a good deal of progress has been made. The older committees have disposed of tedious technical work. The key committee of two jurists—Sir Cecil Hurst and M. Fromageot—having completed the task first assigned it of considering where, if anywhere, the Dawes report goes beyond the Versailles treaty, has had new work entrusted to it.

It is asked to consider and report on those clauses in the Anglo-French memorandum of July 9 which discuss the possible necessity of a modification of the Dawes report that experience of its operation may reveal, and the appointment of somebody with power to give an authoritative interpretation of the Dawes scheme.

Report on Ruhr Said to Be Ready.

In spite of some reports to the contrary published here today, it is stated that the Second Committee, on the restoration of the economic unity of the Ruhr, has now completed its labors. It has provided for two stages in the evacuation, the first ending on Aug. 15, before which date Germany will be expected to have passed the legislation necessary to put the Dawes report into effect; the second ending Oct. 15, in the course of which the Allies will have restored the Ruhr to its condition before the occupation.

During the second transition period it is proposed that the allied authorities shall pay to the Agent General of Reparations whatever taxes they have collected minus a small sum for their expenses, and that these payments shall be made up by Germany each month to one-twelfth of the annual sum she is to pay under the Dawes plan.

Another article provides for mixed tribunals which may sit at Coblenz and Düsseldorf in order to supervise the transition work.

It is also suggested that amnesty be proclaimed for German political offenders imprisoned or expelled by the Allies and for Germans sentenced by German courts for aiding and abetting the Allies.

To sum up, while the conference barometer is described as stationary, it is asserted that if the glass were tapped it would rise slightly.

Opposition to Bankers Growing.

LONDON, July 25 (Associated Press).—Although the Interallied Conference marked time today, there was observable tonight an unmistakable hardening in the attitude of all of the delegates against the suggestions of the international financiers for the formulation of a protocol to launch the Dawes plan.

The French spokesmen, in expressing the views of Premier Herriot, were more unyielding than ever toward the surrender of any rights enjoyed by France under the Treaty of Versailles. In American circles it was stated that the Dawes plan was of such importance that it could not be placed in jeopardy by the disputes between the bankers and the delegates. The British continued confident that a compromise would be reached on the question of security for a German loan that would satisfy both the bankers and the French politicians.

Among all the experts there is a concerted effort to settle the difficulties that have beset the parleys for weeks and which at times have seemed to threaten the very existence of the conference. This afternoon Frank B. Kellogg, the American Ambassador, went so far as to say that the problems of defaults and sanctions under the Dawes plan and their relations to security for the German loan would not necessarily have to be settled in London. This view, however, is not shared by the members of other delegations, some of whom said that the issue the bankers had injected into the proceedings was paramount, and that as soon as it was settled the conference might consider its work completed.

It is increasingly evident that in order to get support for the £40,000,000 loan Premiers MacDonald and Herriot do not intend to sign anywhere the international financiers point their fingers. It is declared that it would be political suicide for either to do so.

Their supporters say that the Premiers are ignoring as possible the advice of the bankers that the conference provide better guarantees. Two French financiers are said to be hurrying to London to strengthen M. Herriot's hands. The summoning of these has given rise to the suggestion in conference circles that in launching a comparatively small loan under the Dawes plain reliance need not be placed exclusively on any one international banking group.

The Anglo-American bankers resent suggestions that they are seeking to dictate to the conference the terms of guarantees, in default of which they will refuse to underwrite the proposed loan. H. H. Harjes of Morgan, Harjes & Co. of Paris, who came to London to confer with Thomas W. Lamont of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, told French newspaper men here today that the position of J. J. Morgan & Co. was outlined by Mr. Morgan in the statement he gave out in New York today.

"Our position is very simple," said Mr. Harjes. "We have been asked for our advice regarding the necessary basis for the sale of German obligations to the American public. We have expressed our own views on the subject, but we have not attempted to formulate any policy for the conference, or even to offer suggestions bearing upon political issues. That is not our business.

"We have merely answered questions put to us. It remains for the allied Governments to determine in what measure our opinion shall be taken into account regarding the issue of a share of the loan in America."

Mr. Harjes characterized as untrue and regrettable assertions made by French newspapers that the American bankers were asking the conference for political concessions.

COOLIDGE STILL OPTIMISTIC.

Thinks France Will Withdraw Objections to Application of Dawes Plan

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—President Coolidge continues optimistic over the interallied conference in London. Without being thoroughly familiar with all the moves that are taking place there, he has been impressed with the view that the pressing desirability of an adjustment that will end the difficulties produced by the failure to adopt a permanent method of obtaining reparation payments from the German Government will compel an agreement between the allied representatives.

As the President's feeling was expressed at the White House today, he believes that the necessity of the situation will overcome the objections raised by France. The President is of the opinion that it was "almost a necessity" for the London conference to reach an adjustment, and he looks for concessions which will have a happy outcome.

The report from London that the allied delegates would consider on Monday the question of inviting Germany's representatives to confer with them was regarded by the President, according to a White House spokesman, as giving promise of an adjustment of the reparations dispute.

TRAP OLD EMPLOYE, SOLVE MAIL THEFTS

Trusted Negro Elevator Man Accused of Rifling Parcels in Times Square Station.

PILFERINGS AROUND $50,000

Prominent Men Among Those Who Reported Losses—Hunt Lasted a Year.

Following a year's investigation of thefts of jewelry and money from parcels post and registered mail at the Times Square Post Office, Inspectors Charles G. Kinzel, W. K. Halladay and Frank Butler arrested yesterday William Drayton, a negro elevator man, eighteen years in the Government service, who was accused of stopping his elevator between floors, stealing packages from the mail tube, pocketing the contents and burning the wrappings in the furnace. They also arrested two others accused of marketing the jewelry stolen by Drayton.

The negro weighs 220 pounds, dresses with no little splendor, and has been an influential citizen and politician of Harlem for years. He was thoroughly trusted and no suspicion turned to him until between 400 and 500 clerks and other employes had been watched in vain.

The thefts ran into many thousands of dollars. A complete list of losses has not been made, but the known thefts make a large sum. Drayton specialized in stealing packages containing wrist watches.

Twice before during the year the inspectors had caught dishonest employes of this station and each time believed they had put an end to the pilfering, but to their disappointment the thefts continued after these arrests in nearly as great a volume as ever.

First Arrest Last September.

The first arrest occurred on Sept. 21, 1923, when a clerk was found carrying a registered letter into a small room and breaking it open. Stolen property was found in his possession and he was sent to jail for a year.

For a few days the inspectors had believed the case was solved, but more complaints brought them back to the Times Square Post Office. Detectives were posted on each of the four floors where the mail is handled. Months passed without a second clew. Detectives were sent out to trail delivery men working out of the Times Square Post Office and last May a man was caught opening letters and parcels on his route. He, too, was sent to prison.

Still the case was not solved. Further losses were reported and the office got such a bad reputation with jewelers that many of them carefully avoided sending packages of any kind through it.

The inspectors installed an elaborate spy system in the building. A clerk could not make a move without being watched. The thefts kept on just the same. According to Inspector Kinzel, it was the most stubborn case on record in this city.

With his long, irreproachable record, the negro elevator man escaped being watched, practically up to the time that the whole population of the building had been eliminated, with the exception of himself. Then he was put under watch, too. A man who trailed him reported that the negro maintained two establishments, one in West Thirty-seventh Street and one in Harlem. On leaving duty at midnight, he went to the room in West Thirty-seventh Street, took off his working clothes and came out in resplendent garb. This was considered suspicious, but it was thought possible that Drayton's policy was to make a sharp severance every night between the humble elevator man and the influential personage of Harlem.

Spy in a Secret Place.

A means was found, which is being kept secret, of posting a man on, under or near the case of the elevator, so that he could observe Drayton unceasingly while on duty. The spy had not been on watch long when the elevator was stopped between two floors. The light was switched off. The spy could hear paper being ripped and packages being broken. When the light was switched on again he saw Drayton pocketing a watch. After a total delay of about a minute the elevator was running again.

Drayton was not arrested at the time, but was watched day and night for some time thereafter. He was covered when he met two other men. Early yesterday morning he was caught in company of Constantine Pampos and Emanuel Sarantis. Stolen watches, according to the inspectors, were found on all three.

Drayton and Sarantes were held in bail of $2,500 each and Pampos, who was accused of being the ringleader and fence, was held in bail of $10,000. Drayton was the only one who succeeded in procuring bonds, and was released.

According to J. Arthur Adler, Assistant United States Attorney, the complaints numbered hundreds of the loss of parcels containing jewelry passing through the Times Square Post Office. He estimated that the losses may reach $50,000. The local authorities were stirred to action when Washington officials complained, on behalf of friends, that valuable pieces of jewelry, including a number of heirlooms, failed to arrive at their destinations. The Postmaster General recently ordered a rigid investigation. It was said that friends of his had lost some jewelry. Another complainant was Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, who reported that a valuable heirloom belonging to a well-known Virginia family, and addressed to a resident of the Times Square section, had been lost in the mails. A substantial reward was offered for the recovery of this heirloom, described as a watch with an ivory elephant attached.

ROUND ROBIN GROUP DECIDE FOR PEACE

It was learned definitely last night that complete peace in the theatre between the Actors' Equity Association and the various producers will be reached next week. The decision to come to terms was reached at a meeting of the round-robin managers on Thursday afternoon, and the final details of the agreement probably will be worked out on Monday. The settlement revolves around the eighty-twenty percentage plan, and the terms will be similar to those signed by the Equity and the Managers' Protective Association.

The approaching end of the actor-manager fight is in no sense unexpected, since practically all of the round-robin managers have latterly been making plans for next season, and in many instances have contracted for New York theatres and set definite opening dates. Mr. Harris and Lewis & Gordon, for example, arranged more than a week ago to produce Owen Davis's "The Long Arm" at the George M. Cohan Theatre on Sept. 1.

Mr. Harris and A. L. Erlanger have been the most uncompromising of the round-robin group, and Mr. Erlanger also indicated yesterday that he is about to resume producing. Announcement was made that he will produce a new revue for Ed Wynn, although up to the time of Thursday's meeting it had been planned to have Mr. Wynn himself act as the producer.

Mr. Harris could not be reached last night, and accordingly the details of the proposed agreement could not be learned. The argument among the managers themselves as to the disposition of the treasury of the Producing Managers' Association is known to have been settled; members withdrawing from this organization will receive their pro rata share of this fund.

Either the Producing Managers' Association or the Managers' Protective Association will pass out of existence, under the new arrangement, but which organization is to survive probably will not be settled until Monday. It is probable that the negotiations with Equity may be delayed because of the illness of Frank Gillmore, executive secretary. John Emerson, the President of Equity, is in Europe.

FRANK GILLMORE STRICKEN.

Actors' Equity Secretary in Hospital With Nasal Hemorrhages.

Frank Gillmore, Executive Secretary of the Actors' Equity Association, who was removed to the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, 210 East Sixty-fourth Street, Thursday night suffering from severe nasal hemorrhages, was reported last night to be showing improvement. His condition was described at the hospital as "serious, but not dangerous."

Mr. Gillmore's illness is believed to have been caused by overwork in connection with the recent controversy between managers and Equity members. He first became ill Thursday morning, and recovered somewhat after a visit from his physician, Dr. A. S. Wilson of 114 East Fifty-fourth Street. In the evening a relapse set in and he was taken to the hospital. Mr. Gillmore has been one of the leaders of Equity since its organization.

OLGA PETROVA RETURNS.

The France Also Brings Walter Damrosch and Edna Ferber.

Mme. Olga Petrova, the actress, returned yesterday on the French liner France from a visit to Spain where she went to see a bullfight in the new arena at Seville. The actress said that she would not have her hair bobbed, because her husband, Dr. John D. Stewart, who accompanied her, did not approve of it. "I do not think women should cut their hair short unless they have their husbands' consent, as husbands have so little left to be arbitrary about now," she said.

The actress added that while abroad she had completed her new play "Sand" and expected to produce it in New York next season. In the interim she will go to the Pacific Coast to appear in "Hurricane," in which she starred in New York last season.

Owen Davis, author of "Ice bound" and "The Nervous Wreck" also returned on the France from London where he went to arrange for the production of the latter play at the St. James's Theatre in the Fall. One of the new plays Mr. Davis expects to produce in New York this season is "Longarm," in which Wallace Eddinger will star, and the other is "Lazybones" to be produced by Sam Harris.

Edna Ferber came back on the France to attend the rehearsals of her new play, "Old Man Minick," which she has written in collaboration with George S. Kaufman. While abroad she wrote a short story entitled "Classified."

Among the musical celebrities arriving on the French liner was Walter Damrosch, conductor of the New York Symphony Orchestra, accompanied by his wife and their daughter, Mrs. Pleasants Pennington. Mr. Damrosch said that this season completes his thirty-fourth year as conductor of the orchestra. He went to France in April to conduct a Beethoven cycle of six concerts which lasted until early in June. He added that he had arranged for some new numbers and compositions which would be announced later.

CLAIM GRIFFITH CONTRACT.

United Artists Say Director Has Extended It for Three Years.

In a statement issued yesterday by directors of the United Artists Pictures Corporation relative to David Wark Griffith signing a contract with Adolph Zukor to make pictures for Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, it is declared that Mr. Griffith signed a memorandum to the effect that he and the other members, except Charles Chaplin who had eight pictures to deliver, extended their contracts for a period of three years from that date. Albert H. T. Banzhof, representing Mr. Griffith at a meeting in Douglas Fairbank's apartment at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday, is alleged to have declared that it was his belief and also Mr. Griffith's that this renewal memorandum was signed solely for publicity purposes and had no further meaning.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were Mary Pickford, Mr. Fairbanks, Mr. Chaplin's representative, Mr. Banzhof and Hiram Abrams, President of the United Artists Corporation. The latter was authorized to deny that there had been any negotiations toward a merger of the United Artists and the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation.

Concerning the statement from Famous Players regarding Mr. Griffith's employment, it was declared to be the sense and purpose of the United Artists Film Corporation "to enforce the respective contracts as they exist and as they have been renewed with all the individuals, including D. W. Griffith."

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Ed Wynn will be seen under the management of A. L. Erlanger this season in a new revue, "The Grab Bag." The show will open in Atlantic City on Sept. 1 and will come to the Globe Theatre here after a Philadelphia engagement.

Vera Gordon has returned from the Coast, where she has been appearing in films, and will soon be seen on the stage in "The Golden Spoon," by Frederick Brueger and Lorenz M. Hart.

"The Belle of Quakertown" opened last night in Stamford and will reach the Morosco Theatre on Aug. 11.

Earl Carroll's "Vanities" will go into rehearsal soon with a chorus of 15.

B. C. Whitney announces that he will star Charlotte Greenwood in a musical comedy this season, although an earlier announcement had it that Miss Greenwood would appear in Hassard Short's "Ritz Revue." Mr. Whitney also will send "Saint Joan" on tour and will produce "Sign Here," a comedy by William McCart and Ethelynne Bradford. He will also bring "In Bamville" to New York.

"The Awful Mrs. Eaton," recently tried in stock in Detroit, is being cast for New York production. It deals with the life and times of Andrew Jackson and is the work of John Parrar and Stephen Vincent Benet.

FALLON ASKS COURT TO DISMISS CHARGE

PROSECUTOR STATES CASE

Says He Will Prove Fallon Gave Rendigs Money to "Corruptly Influence His Vote as a Juror."

William J. Fallon asked Judge George W. McClintic in the Federal Court yesterday to dismiss the indictment charging bribery of Charles W. Rendigs, a juror in the trial of Durell-Gregory & Co. in the Autumn of 1922 in a mail fraud case. Fallon was counsel for Albert De W. Blum, one of the defendants.

Fallon received the Court's permission to make the motion after the jury had been completed and sworn. He asked for a dismissal of the indictment and argued that Section 131 of the United States Criminal Code, under which the indictment was returned, is entitled "Bribery of a Judge or Judicial Officer," and that jurors do not belong in that category. He recited from memory opinions written on this section and on the others up to and including Section 135, all dealing with bribery.

Mr. Millard argued against him, and both sides left briefs with the Judge. He said that the question was so serious that he would not decide it at once, but would announce his decision when court reconvened Monday morning at 10:30.

Outlines Case Against Fallon.

After the jury box was finally filled, Mr. Millard, in outlining the case, said that on Nov. 6, 1922, Fallon "unlawfully, wilfully and knowingly gave, or caused to be given, the sum of $1,000 in the form of a check to one Charles W. Rendigs, who was then a petty juror serving on a jury in this court in the case of the United States vs. Durrell-Gregory & Co." He gave this money, Mr. Millard declared, to "corruptly influence" his vote as a juror. The second count in the indictment, said Mr. Millard, charges that Fallon gave Rendigs $1,500, or possibly only $1,000 more with the same purpose in view. Mr. Millard said he would prove that, although Fallon was counsel for Blum, he was chiefly concerned over the fate of the three Gregory brothers.

While the trial was in progress, Fallon made an appointment to meet Rendigs at the Woodmansten Inn, the Bronx, said Mr. Millard. He said he would prove that the lawyer met the juror there and "personally gave Charles W. Rendigs a $1,000 bill," and that "he said in substance to Rendigs, in handing the bill, 'The Gregorys are good fellows, do what you can for them.'

$1,000 Cash in Envelope.

Mr. Millard told the jurors he would prove that on Nov. 6 Fallon gave Ernest Eidlitz, his confidential man, a check signed by his wife, Agnes R. Fallon, for $1,000, payable to Joe Pani, proprietor of the Knickerbocker Grill, Broadway and Forty-second Street, in the basement of the office building in which Fallon had his offices. Fallon, said the prosecutor, told Eidlitz to give the check to Pani in exchange for Pani's check for that amount or for $1,000 in cash. Mr. Millard said he would prove that Rendigs went to the restaurant, obtained an envelope, opened it at a table, and found in it $1,000 in cash.

The following Sunday, said Mr. Millard, Fallon again made an appointment to meet Rendigs at the Woodmansten Inn. Fallon, however, stopped off at the home of W. Frank McGee, convicted bucket shop operator, and asked Eidlitz to call up Rendigs to meet him there. He did and soon afterward, said Mr. Millard, Rendigs arrived.

"Did you get the envelope in the office of the Knickerbocker Grill?" Fallon was said to have asked the juror, and Rendigs, according to Mr. Millard, replied: "I did."

"In the course of this trial," Mr. Millard said, "we are going to call the man who has been convicted of perjury. But I am going to show that the perjury was committed with the very knowledge of Mr. Fallon, for although he swore he did not know Fallon when he was accepted as a juror, that very knowledge was known to Fallon, who was acting as the defendant's counsel in that case."

Before Fallon was permitted to make his motion Mr. Millard asked that the jury be dismissed, but the jury remained to hear the argument.

HANDCUFFS CLERK TO PIPE, ROBS STORE

'Customer' Holds Up a Chain Shoe Shop, With Traffic Men and a Crowd Near.

With two traffic policemen on duty less than a block away and scores of persons passing on the sidewalk, a robber handcuffed the manager of the Thom McAn chain shoe store at 1,001 Third Avenue yesterday to a pipe in the washroom and got away with $130 in cash. The police believe he is the same man who two months ago handcuffed the clerk and manager of the Beck-Hazard chain shoe store at Thirtieth Street and Third Avenue and robbed the safe there. There have been at least thirty robberies of Thom McAn shoe stores in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Newark in the last year.

The store robbed yesterday is directly across the street from Bloomingdale's department store. A traffic policeman was on duty at Fifty-ninth Street and Third Avenue, three doors away. Another was on post at Sixtieth Street and Third Avenue, directing the traffic from the Queensborough Bridge.

Benjamin Gotlieb, the manager, was alone in the store, and waited on the robber, who selected a pair of $8 tan oxfords and then stuck a pistol into Gotlieb's face.

Gotlieb described the bandit as about 30 years old, 5 feet 9 inches in height and wearing a gray suit, straw hat and black shoes.

WIFE SUES JACK ROSE.

Says Actor Treated Her Roughly in Europe and All Over America.

Janet Lawson Rose, recently in "Sitting Pretty," applied to Supreme Court Justice McGoldrick yesterday for $200 a week alimony and $2,500 counsel fees in a suit for a separation from Jack Rose, vaudeville actor. They were married in Indiana in February, 1922, after Mrs. Rose had sued her husband for breach of promise, the papers say, and had agreed to drop the case.

Mrs. Rose charges that her husband treated her roughly in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Memphis, New Orleans and Manchester, England. She asserted that the trouble was due chiefly to her husband's indulgence in drink, while he replied that she was the one so addicted. Concerning an allegation that he has been attentive to other women, Rose said: "I am a very homely man and women off stage take no interest in me." Rose also contends that as he is a British subject the New York courts have no jurisdiction over his domestic troubles. The court reserved decision.

GIVES A FRENCH PROGRAM.

Fritz Reiner Shows His Versatility as Conductor at the Stadium.

At the stadium last evening, Fritz Reiner, the guest conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra for two weeks, gave his audience a characteristic French program. There was a bracing Berlioz Overture to begin with, and then as an immediate and complete contrast Debussy's "Iberia," played for the first time at the stadium.

It is to be doubted if the elusive charm of this composer can best be tasted in the open air; its fragile half tints evoke a special tang and flavor.

The ballet music from Delibes's "Coppelia," as neat and clear as it is tuneful and graceful, delighted the audience. Mr. Reiner further illustrated his versatility in "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas and Bizet's Suite "Arlésienne" No. 2.

This evening the orchestra will play Tschaikovsky's Fourth Symphony and Respighi's "Ballad of the Gnomides," the last for the first time.

LABOR HOUSING BILL WINS.

Passes Third Reading in Commons After Move to Reject Fails.

LONDON, July 25 (Associated Press).—The House of Commons today passed the third reading of the Government's Housing bill after the Opposition's motion of rejection had been defeated by 226 to 131.

The bill as originally drafted had been a good deal altered during the committee stages, but its framework remained intact.

Bride Freed by Magistrate.

Magistrate George W. Simpson yesterday in the Tombs Court discharged Mrs. Marion Eleanor Waller, the so-called "unkissed bride," of 112 East 114th Street, following an examination on charges of bigamy and perjury made by her husband, William, a keeper on the Willis Avenue Bridge, that another husband, Mario Prisco, was alive when she married him on Feb. 3 last, and within a few days disappeared with his life's savings of $3,000. Assistant District Attorney Howard informed the Magistrate that he had been unable to obtain proof that Prisco was living at the time of the marriage.

INDICT 4 IN MURDER OF DETECTIVE IN BAR

MAY SOLVE SEVERAL CRIMES

One of the Accused Is Said to Have Confessed Part in Killing and in Other Bronx Robberies.

The Bronx Grand Jury returned first degree murder indictments against four men yesterday for the killing of Detective Timothy Connell of the Highbridge Station, when he interrupted a hold-up. The four indicted were John "Chick" Durkin, 431 East 122d Street; Nicholas Marcantonio, 250 East 136th Street, and two others still at liberty, whose names were not divulged.

Connell was shot to death on the afternoon of July 12 in a former licensed liquor saloon at 1,301 Jerome Avenue, operated by John Bruno. He was touring his precinct with Detective Jack Coogan in an automobile when he saw another car pull up in front of the saloon. Three men alighted and entered the building and the detectives followed. They found the three men in the act of holding up the patrons. The robbers immediately opened fire. Connell fell to the floor, but Coogan got his pistol into action and wounded one of the trio, who fled in their automobile.

Durkin and Marcantonio were arrested the next night. Both are understood to have made confessions, implicating themselves not only in the killing of Detective Connell, but in many other crimes of violence that have taken place in the Bronx in the past year. Marcantonio was in Bruno's place when the three men entered. He is believed to have been the "finder" for a band of hold-up men. Durkin was identified by Detective Coogan as one of the three men whom he and Connell followed into the building.

Among those who testified before the Grand Jury were John Bruno, owner of the saloon; Nicholas Romano, father-in-law of Durkin, at whose home at 2,432 First Avenue Durkin, wounded in the arm and hand, was arrested, and Lawrence Zito, who had opened the door to let the three hold-up men in.

John Kyvitz and John Sonick, originally held in $1,000 bail each as material witnesses of the killing, also appeared, as did Durkin's young wife and Marcantonio's brother, "Three Fingered Sam," who was talking to his brother Nicholas when the shooting occurred. Sam was absolved of all guilt.

Sonick, after lengthy questioning, was charged with implication in the robbery of a grocery store on Jackson Avenue and remanded to the county jail. It is thought that Sonick may be able to tell something about the murder of Joseph Carlin, who was shot to death while defending a $9,500 payroll at the Mott Haven yards. Kyvitz was allowed to remain at liberty under the $1,000 bail.

Canada Needs 37,000 Harvest Hands

WINNIPEG, July 25.—Thirty-seven thousand harvest hands will be required in Western Canada's wheat fields this year, it was decided today at a conference of representatives of the railways, the Provincial Governments, farm organizations and employment services. Last year 65,000 harvesters were employed.

YOUNG GIRL TARRED BY MOB IN MARYLAND

by three automobiles coming from Myersville.

She charges that Mrs. Shank jumped from the leading car and began striking her with a club. About a dozen men sprang from the automobiles and several held her, she claims, while Mrs. Shank continued hitting her with a heavy stick.

The girl said she lapsed into semi-consciousness as a result of the beating. It was then, she added, that a mob that had been waiting for her at Myersville joined the men with Mrs. Shank. She could smell hot tar and then her clothes were torn from her, she said.

The girl was not sure, she told Whip and the doctor today, whether a woman or several men in the mob applied the tar, which was put on while she was lying in the road, exhausted from the alleged beating.

It is reported that there have been numerous complaints against Miss Grandon because of her alleged attentions to married men of the community.

LEOPOLD WOULD LIVE HAVING 'WORK TO DO'

if he ever reached the shadow of the gallows. This was revealed in one of his conversations with Gortland, the latter testified.

On another occasion Leopold told Sergeant Frank Johnson, another witness of the day:

"If I knew that Loeb was going to peach I could have killed myself and taken a couple of coppers with me."

This remark was made when police searchers found two heavy automatic pistols in Leopold's study.

Johnson also told of a remark which he said was made by Leopold when the policeman had momentarily released his prisoner's arm.

"If I thought you fellows would shoot to kill, I would try running," were the words ascribed to the defendant.

That the possible consequence of his crime was upon Leopold's mind was further indicated by the testimony of E. W. Puttkammer, a Professor of Criminal Law at the University of Chicago, and by Max Wester, a graduate student and tutor.

Professor Puttkammer said Leopold, under the guise of seeking instructions preliminary to an examination, used the Franks killing as a basis for an academic discussion of criminal intent. The Professor said he was asked by Leopold what the status would be if a kidnapper accidentally killed his victim, did it with malice aforethought, or abducted him only for the purpose of "taking liberties" with the victim.

The professor answered these queries by pointing out that kidnapping, like murder, was a death penalty felony in Illinois.

Wester testified that Leopold had inquired whether kidnappers who killed their victims would be guilty of murder, and that he had assured him they would be so guilty.

Prisoners Unperturbed.

These questions were asked, the testimony indicated, before the finger of suspicion had been pointed definitely at Leopold and Loeb.

The boys sat through this line of testimony with little outward manifestation of concern. Loeb glanced only occasionally at Leopold as the latter's remarks were put into the records. He sat for the most part in his familiar posture of classroom interest, leaning slightly forward and with limp hands that now and then stroked his jaw.

When Sergeant Gortland quoted the remark about the friendly Judge, both showed smiles that quickly were stifled into tightly compressed lips.

All eyes went to the bench at this juncture, where Justice Caverly pulled a corner of his lower lip between his teeth, then turned a calm glance about the crowded room. Spectators who started to treat the incident as humorous held their smiles at the half-way mark as the judicial glance passed them. Some hands went to features to hide the stifled smiles.

The consensus of the moment passed quickly, and when court adjourned a few minutes later to the jail yard, where Judge Caverly inspected the automobile in which young Franks was killed, both youthful defendants were almost flippant in their mood. Leopold pulled with gusto on a cigarette, and, with Loeb, posed obligingly for newspaper photographers and smiled blithely without being told to "look pleasant, please."

Clarence S. Darrow, chief attorney for the defense, was jocular when the session ended a few minutes after the return from the jail yard. He had just informed the Court that he and his associate attorneys wished to confer before cross-examining Sergeant Gortland when the court had adjourned until tomorrow morning.

Preceding the testimony of the police officers there was considerable testimony concerning Leopold's ornithological trips to the area in the vicinity of the railroad culvert where young Franks's body was hidden.

The State also brought in evidence on the recovery of the typewriter on which the ransom letters were written, a professional diver telling how he found it in the muddy bottom of a park lagoon.

The search for other relics of the crime, the shoes, belt buckle, belt and clasp pin of young Franks, the blood-stained automobile robe which yielded only partly to flames fed by gasoline, and the missing spectacles of Leopold, was also described.

The State presented eighteen witnesses today, making its total for three days sixty-five, and leaving fifteen or less for the final stages of the story. Robert E. Crowe, State's Attorney, expected tonight to use some of these in a two-hour session tomorrow and to wind up next Monday his task of informing Judge Caverly of the details of the crime.

Reports that Loeb had collided roughly with the State's Attorney in a corridor today were denied emphatically by Mr. Crowe.

"Loeb came around the corner with his guard just as I left my office," said Mr. Crowe. "Our shoulders barely touched, and I thought nothing of it, as it was purely accidental. I doubt if Loeb had time to realize whom he had brushed before he passed me."

Loeb Laughs at Incidents.

George Porter Lewis, an amateur ornithologist, one of the witnesses of the day, told of a conversation prior to May 22 in which Leopold discussed the possibilities of field work with the latter's class of ornithology composed of small girls.

On May 22, Lewis said, Leopold telephoned and made an appointment for the witness to take the class to Jackson Park that afternoon.

Mr. Crowe took the witness back to a trip made the previous Sunday by Lewis, Leopold and Sidney Stein Jr., to territory south of the city. The trip passed near the culvert where the Franks body was stuffed.

"Leopold took two or three shots at a rare bird there," said Lewis.

"Did he hit it?"

"No," and Loeb dug his elbow into Leopold's ribs at this exposure of the latter's marksmanship. Both chuckled.

Howard Mayer, a University of Chicago newspaper correspondent, testified he had known Leopold for a year.

"I was told to pick up whatever I could on the Franks case," said Mayer. "I met Richard Loeb on the campus at noon May 23. We talked about the case and Loeb suggested that if Mr. Franks had gone to the Sixty-third Street drug store he would not have met the kidnappers.

"These kidnappers would not meet a man on a busy street like that," said Loeb. "They would only leave word for him."

"Loeb suggested we canvass the street, but I hesitated because I had some school work to do. However, Alvin Goldstein and James Mulroy of The Chicago News came along and we agreed to go.

"We worked west from Stony Island Avenue and at Number 1465 found a porter who remembered the call for Mr. Franks.

"Goldstein and Mulroy remained in our automobile because it was raining, and Loeb said to me:

"'There! I told you we could find this. Now you have a scoop.'"

Mayer said he explained this would not be ethical and they called the others in, questioned the clerk and porter and telephoned their stories to their newspapers.

"That is what comes of reading detective stories," Loeb exclaimed to Mayer as they left the place.

Alvin Goldstein of The Daily News and a university student added the information that on the way back from the drug store Loeb was asked if he knew young Franks and replied:

"Yes, and he is just the kind of a cocky little pup I would pick to kidnap."

The exclusive that accompanied this was drawn from Goldstein after some persuasion and questioning.

During the session State's Attorney Crowe offered the volume, "Kidnapped," by Robert Louis Stevenson, as an exhibit.

"Do you wish to read it?" asked Mr. Darrow.

"It did not make the same impression on me as on some others, thank heaven," said Mr. Crowe.

"I object to this as evidence," said Mr. Darrow.

"That is a standard book read by boys and girls, and its use here will only cause a lot of unnecessary worry to parents."

Mr. Crowe explained that the title was spelled with a double "p" and that spelling was also used in the ransom letters.

"It is a circumstance," he said.

"It may go in," said Judge Caverly.

During an examination of the death car in the jail yard today by Judge Caverly the defendants, apparently gratified at the brief interlude in the courtroom proceedings, posed for pictures and conversed good-humoredly with newspapermen. Leopold took advantage of the opportunity to smoke a cigarette.

Loeb, standing beside the machine, with his hand on the front door, seemed more ill at ease than his companion, but he smiled with him at the crowd in the jail yard as the photographers loaded and reloaded their cameras in the bright sunlight of the little concrete floored courtyard.

"This clutch has an awful rattle," the custodian of the machine remarked to Loeb.

"That so?" was the response. "It didn't use to."

BOY MURDER SUSPECT HELD ANOTHER DAY

At the request of Assistant District Attorney William Casey of Richmond County, Magistrate William Croak at West New Brighton, S. I., yesterday held Achillo Esposito for an additional twenty-four hours as a suspect in the strangling last week of seven-year-old Francis McDonnell, son of a policeman. The prosecutor asked a further detention of the prisoner for forty-eight hours. Counsel for Esposito demanded his client's immediate release, asserting the authorities had no evidence against him. The Court effected a compromise on twenty-four hours.

It was the first time since his arrest that Esposito had been represented by counsel. His attorney, Ralph Cerratta, complained against further detention of his client after he had been held five days, and after the authorities had admitted lack of support for the murder suspicion. If Esposito is released he will be turned over immediately to the State Prison Department to be returned to Sing Sing for a parole violation.

Captain of Detectives Ernest Van Wagner and District Attorney Albert C. Fach said last night that their only remaining clue related to a missing kitchen man of the Sea View Hospital on Staten Island. The officials admitted there was no evidence that he was in the woods the day the McDonnell boy was murdered.

CARPENTIER REVISES FOUL-BLOW VERSION

Now Claims He Was Struck by Tunney's Knee and Absolves Rival Fighter of Blame.

DOCTOR FOUND NO INJURY

Says French Boxer Did Not Locate Pain in Same Place Twice—Opinions of Principals.

Georges Carpentier, probably the most colorful fighter the ring has ever known, whose spectacular battle with Gene Tunney at the Polo Grounds, Thursday night, terminated in a technical knock-out in the fifteenth round when he was unable to continue after apparently being incapacitated toward the close of the fourteenth round, does not intend to whimper over his defeat.

The Frenchman still insists that he was laid low by a foul, but absolves Tunney of all blame in that the alleged foul was accidental and committed unintentionally by the American boxer. He further desires it to be known that the blow that made it impossible for him to continue was not delivered by Tunney's gloved fist, but by Tunney's knee, which struck him in the groin as he rushed the American to the ropes; that this, even though unintentional, nevertheless constituted a foul and should have given him the victory, but that he has no further protest to make and blames no one. And that, lastly, he intends to fight again and is more than anxious for a return match with Tunney.

No Evidence of Foul.

These points, supplied by Francois Descamps, manager of Carpentier, and the official announcement of Dr. William J. Walker, one of the official physicians of the State Athletic Commission, that in an examination of Carpentier he had found no evidence of a foul, furnished the high lights of yesterday's aftermath to one of the most stirring ring battles New York has seen in many years, a battle which critics and many others seemed agreed surpassed even the memorable Dempsey-Firpo fight for thrills and the spectacular. A wild night of confusion and turmoil seemed to have left all those involved more or less exhausted yesterday, and even the voluble and excitable Descamps, whose antics had helped to increase the excitement the night before, appeared considerably subdued, although he was up and about early.

Carpentier, who, after the fight, spent the remainder of the night at the home of Jules Glaenzer, at 417 Park Avenue, slept late yesterday morning. Refreshed by sleep, he appeared to be suffering no serious effects from the battle, and at noon departed for Jack Curley's estate in Great Neck, L. I., leaving Descamps and Curley behind to look after his affairs.

The Tunney camp had little to add to what they had said directly after the bout, but the boxer and his manager, Billy Gibson, insisting that Carpentier was dropped in the fourteenth round by a fair blow. To this Tunney added that if his knee struck Carpentier low, as the Frenchman now contends, he was never aware of anything of the kind having happened.

Tunney in Good Shape.

The American boxer was about town yesterday, looking none the worse for his battle, and in the afternoon viewed a showing of the motion pictures of the fight. The pictures, incidentally, failed to throw any light on the alleged foul incident, as Tunney's back was turned to the camera at the moment the episode took place, so that what actually happened cannot be seen, and will, therefore, probably always remain a question for debate.

Descamps's announcement that it was Tunney's knee which actually finished his boxer contradicted his statement made in the dressing room after the fight, when he insisted it was a low right punch that had fouled Carpentier, but he insisted yesterday that he now had the correct version of what happened. He admitted that a blow had been struck by Tunney at the time and also that it was fair, but insisted that this punch had little or no effect upon Carpentier.

"Carpentier rushed Tunney to the ropes," said Descamps through Curley, who was his interpreter, "and as Tunney backed against the ropes his knee came up and struck Georges low. Tunney also struck a blow with his fist at the same time. It was fair, but it had no effect on Georges. It couldn't have had, because Tunney was backing up, and therefore was in no position to land a punch hard enough to knock a man out."

Statement by Descamps.

Later Descamps and Curley issued the following statement to the press:

"The American public has been very good to us and we would feel ungrateful to register any complaint against the treatment accorded to us by the public, the press, the Boxing Commission or of any of its officials.

"The termination of last night's match with Tunney was most unfortunate. Carpentier was holding his own, in fact, we feel that he held a lead, when he met with a left hook and a right cross and was knocked down and almost out in the tenth round. We admit that had the contest been stopped during the tenth round when Georges was almost helpless we would have felt satisfied of fair treatment. But Georges did come back and he weathered through that round, followed by the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, but after several seconds of the fourteenth round unfortunately he was fouled.

"We do not blame Tunney because we are positive that it was accidental. We do not disclaim our share of the responsibility because both men's knees went up following a slight turn of their bodies near the ropes, but we do claim that Tunney's knee incapacitated Carpentier and that a foul was committed, so that no matter how unintentional, no matter how helpless the victim, the decision should go to the one who was fouled. A mistaken impression has prevailed. It was not Tunney's gloved fist that committed the foul, it was the knee.

"We are saying all this merely to give our side of the battle and with no intention of registering any kick against any officials or the public. We are both satisfied that the referee was fair and honest, meant no harm to us, and we are satisfied to abide by his decision.

"This, so far as we are concerned, terminates the controversy. We proved that Carpentier is not merely an old shell, but a gallant fighter with a good punch and great recuperating powers. In conclusion, we hope for a return match with Tunney and feel confident of reversing the decision, and that, in our opinion, is the only way to settle it for all time, so far as the public is concerned. A hundred that we heard from today insist on this course."

What seemed to rankle Descamps most were insinuations that Carpentier had quit, and the mere mention of it was sufficient to throw him into another of his most excitable moments.

Ready to Stop Bout.

"How any one can say Georges quit," he declared, "I cannot understand. The tenth round showed there was no quit in Georges. With sponge in hand, I was ready to stop the fight in that round, but Georges said 'No, no.' After that exhibition, and with only one more round to go, does it seem reasonable that he wanted to quit?"

When informed of the latest version by the Carpentier-Descamps forces of the alleged foul, Dr. Walker admitted that this might have been the case, but that he had seen or discovered nothing to prove it.

"I examined Carpentier directly after the fight," said Dr. Walker, "and found no evidence of a foul blow having been struck either with the knee or fist. Of course, I do not mean to say that there absolutely was no foul, as the effects of a foul blow may not show themselves at once, but there was no evidence after the fight of a foul. Incidentally, I remained with Carpentier for some time and a curious thing was that while he continually complained about a pain, he never seemed able to locate the pain in the same spot twice."

Andy Griffin, referee of the bout, also reiterated his announcement after the battle, that Carpentier had been beaten fairly and that no low blow had been struck. In addition, however, he paid tribute to Carpentier as one of the craftiest boxers he had ever seen.

"The blow that Tunney landed," said Griffin, "was absolutely fair. It was a terrific right hook to the body that settled the Frenchman. But he fought a crafty battle and up to the time of the finish I believe he outsmarted Tunney, who might otherwise have finished him sooner."

Commission Is Silent.

From the State Athletic Commission nothing official was forthcoming yesterday. None of the Commissioners appeared at the office, where it was said no official action could be taken at this time, as no complaint had been lodged, and should the commission have anything to say of the affair it would not be taken up until the next meeting of the board next Tuesday.

Talk of a return match, stirred up by Descamps, was more or less vague yesterday. While both Descamps and Curley said they would seek another meeting with Tunney, Curley intimated that Carpentier's next bout, in all probability, would be with Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo. Jack Murray, the Buffalo promoter, conferred with Curley for some time yesterday afternoon regarding such a match. For the present Carpentier will rest at Great Neck, remaining there for about a week before definitely determining his next move.

Tunney and Gibson also were undecided as to what their future plans would be. After viewing the fight pictures, Tunney left last night for his home, in Red Bank, N. J., where he had trained for the fight. He said he felt in as good condition as before the fight. When asked what he thought was the hardest blow he had received in the battle, Tunney said: "A left hook to the head in the thirteenth round."

30,133 Paid $136,381 to See Bout, Unofficial Figures Show

Accounting of the gate receipts of the Tunney-Carpentier fight was still uncompleted yesterday and announcement was made by Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker for the Polo Grounds A. C., under whose auspices the bout was held, that official figures would not be obtainable until today. Although 40,000 saw the battle an unofficial count showed that the paid attendance was 30,133, that the total gate was $136,381 and that the receipts less the 10 per cent. tax were $123,983. The tickets sold, according to these unofficial figures, were as follows:

$3 tickets, 8,020	24,060
$1 tickets, 9,558	9,558
Total	$123,983
Plus Government tax of 10 per cent.	$12,398
Grand total	$136,381

GRASS COURT TITLE TO MISS MACDONALD

Special to The New York Times.

RYE, N. Y., July 25.—Miss Mayme MacDonald, holder of the women's national and metropolitan clay court tennis championships as well as the Connecticut State crown, added the metropolitan grass court title to her collection today when she defeated Mrs. Robert Le Roy in the final round of the tournament on the courts of the Green Meadow Country Club. It was not, however, without a struggle, for Mrs. Le Roy took the first set and was a serious contender in both the second and third chapters. The score was 2—6, 6—4, 6—4. The doubles championship went to Mrs. Bronson Batchelor and Mrs. J. S. Taylor. They defeated Mrs. Edward T. Raymond and Mrs. Frank Welty in the final round at 6—4, 6—2, 6—3.

Today's final in the singles was the hardest that Miss MacDonald has played this season, although she has met with stiff opposition in almost all of her matches in this tournament. Mrs. Le Roy played an aggressive game from the start, hitting the ball with all the power she could muster and keeping it close to the lines. Miss MacDonald found it difficult to get her strokes off cleanly against this sort of opposition and made many errors in the first set, which decided the chapter in her opponent's favor.

Mrs. Le Roy sustained her aggressive hitting in the second set and the outcome was always in doubt. The rallies were marked by the keenest sort of competition, many of them requiring from ten to fifteen strokes before the point was decided. Miss MacDonald sought a position at the net whenever she had forced her opponent deep within her court, but Mrs. Le Roy surprised her frequently with passing shots down the side line or across court that went for aces. Whenever she was able to get her racquet on the ball the champion gave a good account of herself, hitting crisply overhead on her volley shots. Nimbleness of foot also played a part in Miss MacDonald's victory. She covered more court than did Mrs. Le Roy, getting back many shots that looked good for points for the latter.

FITZSIMMONS WINS BOUT.

Young Bob Stops Jamieson in Tenth at Steeplechase A. A.

Young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the former world's heavyweight champion, scored a knockout victory over Ted Jamieson, Milwaukee light heavyweight, at the steeplechase A. A., Rockaway Beach, last night when Referee Johnny McAvoy stopped the bout in the tenth round of their scheduled 12-round bout. The bout was a poor one chiefly for the reason that Jamieson appeared unable to cope with the clever Fitzsimmons and the referee terminated the bout when it became apparent the Milwaukee fighter was outclassed. The weights were 179 for Fitzsimmons and 169 for Jamieson.

In the 10-round semi-final, Billy Henry, Chicago lightweight, won the decision from Ruby Stein of Williamsbridge. The weights were Henry 131, Stein 132½.

LEONARD TO BOX MORAN.

Gibson Confirms Report of Bout Set for Cleveland on Aug. 11.

Billy Gibson, manager of Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, yesterday confirmed the report that Leonard had been signed to engage in a ten-round no-decision fight with Pal Moran in Cleveland in Aug. 11. In making this announcement, Gibson stated that the bout would not interfere with the proposed meeting with Mickey Walker, which still stands scheduled for Jersey City on Aug. 21.

There were no new developments in the Walker-Leonard situation, although Tex Rickard, promoter of the match, and Walker held a long conference in Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon. Neither, however, would say what they had conferred about.

Martone Wins on Foul.

PRISCILLA RULEY LOSES AT 1 TO 6

BONAPARTE IS VICTORIOUS

Odds-on favorites were defeated in the two featured numbers of a moderate card at the Empire City race course yesterday afternoon. In the White Plains High Weight Handicap over the course of about six furlongs Abe Hallow's three-year-old colt H. T. Waters, backed down from even money to 11 to 20, was badly beaten by the Riviera Stable's Bonaparte, a 3 to 1 shot. In the Swift Purse, at a mile and a sixteenth, the Belair Stud's Priscilla Ruley, one of the shortest-priced favorites of the season and backed to 1 to 6, finished a length in back of Jefferson Livingston's McAuliffe. Only three horses ran in each race. Priscilla Ruley was practically left at the post, but H. T. Waters had no excuse.

It was an off day for the public choices, only one favorite coming home in front. In the opinion of many spectators one favorite was robbed of winning honors when Theo. Fay was placed over Wilbur C. Whitehead in the first race, the latter apparently finishing well in front of the horse that was placed above him. There was a long demonstration in the stands and on the lawn after the numbers went up and the placing declared official.

In the White Plains Handicap H. T. Waters took up top weight of 133 pounds, conceding six pounds to Bonaparte and eleven pounds to W. S. Howard's Maclean, the only other starter, all being three-year-olds. Bonaparte was away with a rush and opened a good lead in the first furlong. This he increased to three length at the far turn and he held that advantage to the finish, winning easily. H. T. Waters ran in second position throughout the race, but never threatened the leader. At the end he was a length and a half in front of Maclean. Bonaparte ran a fast race, going to the quarter in 0:22, the half in 0:46 and finishing in 1:08 4-5, an even second slower than the track record, which has stood for six years.

The Swift Purse, which had the place of honor on the card, developed into an interesting and close race, although the result might have been different if the Belair Stud's filly Priscilla Ruley, had not been practically left at the post. Only three were named for the gallop of a mile and a sixteenth, the others being Jefferson Livingston's McAuliffe and the Riviera Stable's Fabian, the former being the winner and all being three-year-olds.

When the barrier was sprung Priscilla Ruley was not ready and the others got three or four lengths on the filly before she could get under way. She caught Fabian before they reached the clubhouse turn and on the turn got on terms with McAuliffe. The two ran head and head down the backstretch, but on the far turn McAuliffe drew away to lead by a length. At the head of the stretch Fabian closed up and from there to the finish it was a pretty battle. McAuliffe stood the drive courageously and had a length on the filly at the winning post, with Fabian the same distance back. McAuliffe and Fabian were both held at 8 to 1.

EPINARD IS HELD TO LIGHT TRAINING

French Horse Will Not Be Put Through Hard Workout Until Next Month.

WEARS AMERICAN SHOES

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 25.—Epinard did only light training today. In spite of the cloudburst last night and frequent showers early today, the great French horse was out on the track about 8 o'clock and went through his usual daily workout, which consists of galloping over the mile and an eighth track three times. Gene Leigh, his trainer, has decided to keep the French champion on light work for the next several days putting him to hard work possibly after the first week in August.

When Epinard was returned to his new home in the Sanford Stud Farm Stables this morning with his feet and legs coated with mud, Trainer Leigh was asked, "Does the heavy going bother Epinard?" to which he replied, "Bother him? certainly not. Epinard is a race horse. He can run on any kind of a track. You don't have to pick the track for this horse. You have probably heard the old English saying, 'a good horse can run on any kind of a track'; well that saying applies here."

The French champion donned a new pair of shoes this morning. These were his first American shoes.

Throngs were at the track this morning to see the French four-year-old work out. Visitors at his stable this afternoon and this evening were in large numbers also.

President John H. Madigan and Secretary J. B. Campbell of the Fort Erie race course of the Canadian circuit, who were visitors at the Empire City race track yesterday afternoon, brought word here that a number of the most famous of American thoroughbreds have been entered for the $10,000 Dominion Handicap at a mile and a quarter, which will be the big event of the seven-day meeting which will open on Aug. 9.

Among the American stars which have been nominated are Ladkin, Spot Cash, Sting, Rialto, Chacolet and Black Gold, the Kentucky Derby winner. CARDS BEAT GIANTS IN WEIRD CONTEST

Champions Play Worst Game of Season as St. Louis Team Wins, 13 to 5.

Bentley, Ryan, Maun and Huntzinger Yield 17 Hits—Homers for Jackson and Frisch.

The Giants returned to the Polo Grounds yesterday and gave an expert demonstration of how baseball should not be played, losing to the Cardinals by 13 to 5. It was easily the worst game seen here this season, and now that the champions have all this out of their systems they are bound to improve.

Four of John McGraw's pitchers were knocked around the lot by the Cards, but not a foul blow was struck. The Giants were groggy from the first round on, when Jack Bentley, the Baltimore Adonis, was tapped for four runs. In the midst of the second frame Jack was dragged out feet first, and at intervals thereafter Bill Ryan, Ernest Maun and Walter Huntzinger were rushed to the mound for more punishment. The Cards made seventeen hits, including three doubles and a triple, and ran themselves ragged around the base lines.

On their own part, the Giants were pretty sad. The champs played like the fat men's team at the annual clambake game. They showed flashes of hitting power and traces of their usual fighting spirit, but in general they were very melancholy. Their fielding was slow and uncertain, the hitting lacked timeliness and the pitching was nothing less than terrible.

Fans Remain to Jeer.

The 5,000 fans who had come out to cheer the victorious gladiators fresh from a triumphal tour of the West remained to jeer the efforts of McGraw's champions. Near the end of the contest the Bronx cheer was to be heard as the Giants finally retired the Cards following one of the visiting team's long and periodic outbursts. Fortunately, no damage was done by the defeat, the Cubs keeping the Giants company by dropping one to the Phils. The New York entry is still six and a half games in front.

Jess Haines, the only St. Louis pitcher who ever hurled a no-hit, no-run game, tried to keep pace with Jack Bentley but managed to last out the game when his colleagues gave him a six-run lead in the first few frames. Playing up under this safeguard, Jess pitched adequate but indifferent ball as the game rolled on. When Travis Jackson hit a homer into the right field stand with nobody on in the sixth, the Giants pulled up to within three runs of the Cardinals, but the Cards turned on more steam in the seventh and nicked young Walter Huntzinger for three runs that made the game safe for the Mound City.

Huntzinger was also nicked for three tallies in the ninth after Frank Frisch, in the seventh, had advanced a slight rebuttal on behalf of the Giants by pasting a drive against the upper right field stand. The pair of homers was the best offering the Giants could make for the afternoon.

Haines as a batter was more powerful than Haines as a pitcher. The tall chap who didn't give the Braves a hit some days ago annexed four himself yesterday. His fourth in the ninth came with the bases full and drove two runs over the disk.

Bentley Null and Void.

Bentley was rendered null and void when the Cards annexed four runs in the first. Smith tickled the first ball to centre for a single and Holm doubled to right. A walk to Hornsby filled the bases and a fly by Bottomley scored Smith. On Cooney's two-bagger inside third Holm and Hornsby counted, and Cooney followed them in when Don Miguel Gonzales singled to left.

Haines assisted Bentley for a single to start the second, and when Jack passed Holm, with one gone, Ryan hurried to the rescue. Smith cantered in from second when Bottomley stung a hit to centre. Blades's triple and Cooney's sacrifice fly gave the Cards another tally in the third, and another one materialized in the fourth on Smith's bunt, a sacrifice and Bottomley's safe one at Ryan's feet.

Walks to Wilson and Meusel and Kelly's single accounted for one run in the third, and Meusel came home on an attempted double steal while Kelly was being run down. Groh's double and Pinch Hitter Southworth's single made the score 7 to 3 in the fourth, and the Giants came one step nearer in the sixth when Jackson slammed his homer just inside the right-field line.

Just when the game was getting interesting the Cards bore down on Huntzinger, fourth of the New York pitchers, in the seventh and tore off three runs. Hornsby walked and Bottomley bunted safely past Groh. Trying to catch Hornsby off second, Snyder tossed weirdly into right centre, the runners moving up a notch and Rogers scoring on Blades's fly to Young. Then came singles by Cooney, Freigau and Haines. Net result, two more runs.

Something of the same combination admitted three more St. Louis tallies in the ninth. Cooney and Haines singled—the latter's fourth in a row—and in between Freigau walked and Gonzales doubled.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—The Chicago Cubs lost the first game of their eastward swing to Philadelphia today 10 to 4. Both Jacobs and Ring were wild and were pounded hard but the local hurler tightened in the closing innings while Jacobs was pounded for extra base blows that accounted for seven tallies. Umpire Moran cleared the Cub's bench in the third inning after a dispute on balls and strikes.

The Cubs broke the ice in the second inning with a single tally but the Phillies retaliated in their half of the inning by counting three times. The Cubs tied it up again in the fourth but in the sixth Jacobs began to falter and the Phillies clinched the contest in the next two frames. Vogel and Harper scored circuit drives. Jacobs yielded eleven safeties, while Ring allowed nine.

Caught at the Plate.

Hack Wilson showed the effects of his recent injury when he sprinted to second on his two-bagger. Otherwise the big little fellow hadn't much running to do. Haines passed him twice before he let Hack hit a single in the fifth and a double in the seventh. In the ninth Hack rolled gently to Hornsby.

However, two hits in three times at bat is fairly good stickwork.

Maun was the only Giant pitcher who wasn't treated roughly, and they removed him for a pinch hitter who didn't hit—Bill Terry.

Dean, Watson or Nehf will face the Rickeymen today, while Branch will probably try his luck with Leo Dickerman, the slender youth he acquired from the Dodgers.

When everybody, including the pitcher and the bat boy, goes out and has a carnival day with the bat, it's usually the big slugger who does the least. Yesterday Hornsby was the only Cardinal who didn't get his share of the fun. Rogers didn't hit a hard ball all afternoon.

JEFF PFEFFER WINS FIRST AS A PIRATE

PITTSBURGH GAINS IN RACE

Passes Idle Robins and Moves Into Third Place—Maranville and Wilson Star.

BOSTON, July 25.—Jeff Pfeffer pitched his first game for the Pirates today, and beat Boston 2 to 1. The Braves had the bases full with none out in the sixth and failed to score. Plays by Maranville and a catch by Wilson near the scoreboard were features.

Pfeffer is a Brooklyn and St. Louis cast-off, both Uncle Robbie and Branch Rickey apparently having arrived at the conclusion that his days of usefulness as a big-league pitcher were over.

The Pirates' victory, coupled with the fact that the Robins were idle, moved the Pittsburgh team into third place in the National League pennant race by one percentage point.

YANKS LOSE EXHIBITION.

Special to The New York Times.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 25.—The Yankees loafed and laughed their way through an exhibition game here at Washington Park today, allowing the Indianapolis Indians of the American Association to trounce them thoroughly by the score of 16-4. About 7,000 fans exhibited when Babe Ruth hit over the fence for home runs his first two times up against Pitcher Hodeller. The Bambino got a single his third time up, but in the seventh, batting right-handed for a change against the southpaw shoots of Hodeller, he struck out. Babe rolled out on his fifth trip to the plate.

Ruth pitched the eighth inning and was found for three hits and three runs. Shortstop Eddie Sicking connecting for a home run inside the lot, his fifth hit of the game out of six times at bat. Ruth played first base the early part of the game, Shag Horan disporting in right field. Everett Scott, who never misses a regular league game, took the afternoon off to rest his legs, and Ernie Johnson played short. McNally was at second and Dugan, Hofmann and Meusel took tries at third base.

GUY READY TO BUY THE SYRACUSE CLUB

Pittsburgh Man and St. Louis Owners Have Virtually Agreed to Transaction.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 25.—Sale of the Syracuse club of the International League to Richard Guy, former sports writer of Pittsburgh, virtually has been agreed upon to take place within the next ten days, it was announced here today. For some time Guy has been in communication with the present owners, all of whom come from St. Louis, and at a series of conferences this week the sale was agreed upon.

The only condition which Guy has placed upon the transaction is that the City of Syracuse must make available land for the construction of a proper baseball park, to include a stadium with a large seating capacity.

Guy and his partners would finance the construction, however. Under the terms of the sale, the St. Louis Cardinals, half owners of the local club, reserve the right to take any six players at the close of the present season. The six who are to be selected were tentatively announced today as George Makin, Tommy Thevenow, Wilbur Swansboro, Fred Frankhouse, Vernon Parks and Arthur Reinhart. The St. Louis club was responsible for the acquisition of Makin, Thevenow, Swansboro and Reinhart by the Syracuse organization.

Radwan's Homer and Anderson's Two-Bagger Account for Losers' Only Tallies.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 25.—Newark gave the Bisons a trimming this afternoon, the count being 10 to 2 in the Bears' favor. Johnny Ensmann was hit frequently, but kept the blows well scattered, Radwan's homer and Anderson's two-bagger saving the Bisons a whitewash.

Fisher was not up to his usual form, and with errors back of him was in hot water for the greater part of the nine innings. Kane also hit the ball over the right field fence with Pitt on first. Clark Griffith and his Washington manager, Stanley Harris, stopped off to look over Kelly and Zitman.

LEA IS FIRST HOME IN LARCHMONT RACE

Special to The New York Times.

LARCHMONT, N. Y., July 25.—Although light weather conditions again prevailed for the fifth regatta of the Larchmont Yacht Club's Race Week, the Race Committee was lucky once more to have a good sailing breeze spring up toward the end of the afternoon which sent the racing fleets along at a fine clip and made the finish an early one.

It was a rather fluky breeze at first, freshening as the big fleet of 117 boats were sent away, flattening as the six-meters were ending the first round and becoming quite brisk later from the northeast.

Perhaps the feature of an interesting race day was the victory in the international six-meter race of J. P. Bermingham's Lea, one of the older divisions of this class, which came winging home in front of fifteen other starters, leading Clytie, another of the older boats, in a close finish.

Lea was sailed by Young Louis Bermingham, son of the owner, and he did well with this veteran of two international races, finishing ahead of Clytie, sailed by the veteran, Burton Hart, by 80 seconds, after covering a total distance of 10¾ miles. The first of the new boats to finish was Heron, designed and sailed by Clinton H. Crane, one of the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club, which did surprisingly well in the light winds that prevailed.

Another freak of the vagrant breezes was that Grebe, another old-time international boat, led the six-meter fleet at the end of the first round. Grebe is noted as a heavy weather boat, but a short time before they rounded the entire six-meter class had been almost becalmed, some of them standing almost straight, with sails reflected in the glassy water. Lea was second at this time and when she got straightened out her young skipper sent her out without much trouble, Grebe disappearing more or less from the picture.

Clytie Drops Astern.

Madcap was third at the end of the first mark, Heron fourth, Bally Hoo, Paumonok, Priscilla, Dauphine, Natka and the others following, with Clytie far in the ruck. Skipper Hart began working her through the fleet and the winner of Wednesday's and Thursday's races was very close to Lea at the finish.

When the first of the classes was started, the New York Yacht Club fifty-footers, at 2:06 there was a good sailing breeze, although light, blowing from westward. As the breeze was from the same quarter as it was yesterday when the racing fleet had no windward work, the committee elected to have the boats on reverse courses, which gave the big boats abroad reach of it on the first leg, to a mark off Week's Point, then another reach across the Sound to Bluefish Shoal, a beat across again to Matinecock Point, a reach to Execution Light and a beat home.

As things worked out this course was all right in theory, but the breeze refused to stay in its original quarter sailing in north, northwest, which resulted in very little windward work for the racing vessels.

The start for the fifties was a fine one, a leeward start, and when the big sloops went across they broke out balloon jibs for the broad reach to Week's Point on the Long Island shore. With all canvas drawing they moved very fast, with booms swung off to port and H. Wilmer Hahan's Spartan once more made a fine start. The white sloop was at the lee end of the line, near the committee boat, with the Mystic, the eventual winner on her weather quarter, and Carolina, sailed by R. N. Beaver to weather of Mystic, and the blue sloop Iroquois II., sailed by C. Sherman Hoyt, last on the windward end.

The Sound was very gray, and there was every appearance of a squall in the west, but the breeze was still good when the forty-footers were sent away five minutes later. Rouwdy, sailed by Holland Duell, had the best of a close start, with Banshee and Pampero to leeward, also breaking out ballooners. Typhoon, Shawara and Minstrel followed. Banshee footed very fast, and was soon in the lead. The fighting forties had a close race of it in the shifting breezes all around the eighteen-mile course, and the finish was close.

Forties in Close Finish.

With Banshee the winner getting home twenty-two seconds ahead of Typhoon, owned by W. J. Ehrich, and Rouwdy twenty-seven seconds astern, all six forties finished within three minutes of each other.

The fifties had a different kind of a race. Mystic, sailed by Philip Mallory, split tacks with the other three in the class, and her skipper had the luck to catch the new breeze first. These fresh puffs pulled the Mallory sloop quickly ahead of the others, and opened up a big lead, winning from Spartan, the second boat, by almost seven minutes.

E. P. Alker's Larchmont O sloop Nimbus, sailed by her owner, had all the luck in the shifting airs and was the winner in the class, finishing 59 seconds ahead of Vice Commodore Philip Johnson's Grey Dawn, which was ahead of Maisie by almost two minutes.

Grayling, former Commodore Morgan's Q class sloop, sailed by Harry Morgan, again administered a defeat to the Boston Q boat, Nord'easter II. sailed by Sam Wetherall, over the 18-mile course. Grayling liked the light weather and was over four minutes ahead of Nord'easter at the finish. Former Commodore Marsland's Azor was the winner in the first division of the handicap boat on corrected time, Wasaka was the first to finish, 19 seconds ahead of Azor, but as she approached the finish line Wasaka's mainsail blew away at the gaff in a fresh puff, somewhat slowing the sloop.

Sy Ortley Jr.'s Nautilus got the jump on the eight other starters in the thirty-footer class and won easily from F. J. S. Flint's Phantom, with Edmund Lang's Banzai third.

NORWEGIAN YACHTS TRIUMPH AT HAVRE

Bera and Elizabeth V. Capture First Olympic Semi-Finals in Heavy Sea.

HAVRE, France, July 25 (Associated Press).—Two Norwegian boats, the Bera in the eight-meter class and the Elizabeth V. in the six-meter class, won the first semi-finals of the Olympic yacht races sailed here today. The little craft were buffeted by a heavy sea at first, kicked up by a stiff southwest wind, that moderated toward the end of the race.

The Norwegian boats crossed the starting line third, but quickly took the lead and held it until the finish. England was second and France third in the eight-meter class. The winner's time was 3 hours 33 minutes 7 seconds. In the six-meter class Holland finished second.

MANCHESTER, Vt., July 25.—Dan Fairchild of Providence and Sayre McLeod Jr., a Princeton student, will meet in the thirty-six hole golf final for the Isham Cup as Ekwanok Country Club tomorrow as a result of the third and semi-final rounds today. Fairchild disposed of J. J. Mapes of the Harvard team this morning although Mapes threw away the chance to force an extra-hole match. This afternoon Fairchild had a fairly easy route against F. C. Robertson of Nice. McLeod disposed of J. A. Gammons of Providence, the medalist of the tournament, in the morning, the match going to the last green. This afternoon McLeod had the best of a loosely played match against R. D. Rooks of Providence, winning at the seventeenth green.

Mapes and J. M. Kingsley of Maidstone won the best-ball competition at Ekwanok this afternoon with a score of 73.

Judges Declare U. S. Wrestler Won; Then Give Swiss a Draw

PARIS, July 25.—Nat Pendleton, former American amateur heavyweight champion wrestler, and Robert Roth of Switzerland tonight wrestled an hour to a draw. The judges first gave Pendleton the decision by one point, but then reconsidered and declared the bout a draw. This changing of the decision caused an uproar among the spectators.

Pendleton and Roth, who are professionals, competed in the 1920 Olympic wrestling events.

TIMPSON AMONG SURVIVORS

CEDARHURST, L. I., July 25.—J. N. Stearns Jr. of Piping Rock, who was the winner of the Rockaway Hunting Club invitation tournament in 1923, was eliminated in the round before the semi-finals in the 1924 tourney here this afternoon. Stearns's conqueror was Findlay S. Douglas, President of the Metropolitan Golf Association, a member of the old school of golf who held the national amateur title back in the days when Stearns was running around in rompers.

In addition to Douglas, whose victory was won by the margin of 2 and 1, the survivors for the semi-final round which will be played tomorrow morning are Carl W. Timpson of the home club; Gardiner W. White of Nassau, former metropolitan amateur champion, and Coleman Clague, a golfer from the Skokie Club of Chicago who has lately come to the metropolitan district.

Judging by his work today, young Clague is apt to cut quite a wide swath in metropolitan district affairs in the future. In the morning he defeated none other than Howard Maxwell of Nassau and in the afternoon he eliminated another fine golfer in the person of W. F. Ladd of the home club. In both matches Clague wielded his putter in a dexterous manner, sinking at least four long ones against Maxwell, whom he defeated by 5 and 3. It was his first tournament of any size. His margin over Ladd was 3 and 2.

Timpson survived only after a sensational battle with P. S. P. Randolph Jr. of Meadow Brook, runner-up in the North and South amateur championship at Pinehurst last Spring. The pair met in the second round and after playing the regulation eighteen holes the match was all even. There was no change in the situation for the next two holes, but when it came to the third, 517 yards, the indications were that Randolph would be returned a winner. After playing his third stroke, Timpson's ball was lying in a bunker at the left of the green, while Randolph was just short of the green after playing two smacking shots. Timpson won the hole, however, by holing a long putt after getting out of the trap, while Randolph, on the green on his third, took three putts.

White Has Close Call.

Gardiner White took a leaf out of Hagen's primer today, coming through his two matches with little, if anything, to spare. In the first round the Nassau golfer had his first tournament meeting with Johnny Lang of Hempstead and a very interesting meeting it was, with Lang generously missing a putt for a win on the home green, overrunning the hole by eighteen inches, and then even more generously missing that for a half.

White's afternoon opponent, H. C. Robinson of Plainfield, was not so generous. In fact, for quite some distance in the round Robinson, a tall, nonchalant youth who drives an exceptionally long ball, looked like a certain winner. Six holes from the finish Robinson was 3 up, having won the ninth and twelfth holes with birdies and the eleventh, a 460-yard hole, with an eagle 3. He lost the thirteenth and halved the fourteenth and came to the cape hole, across a stretch of water 230 yards, with his drive further away from the pin than was White after the tee shots, but overran the hole five or six feet and missed coming back, so that White, who had approached almost stone-dead from the edge, won the hole, 3 to 4.

Driving at the sixteenth, an elbow hole, Robinson played a beautifully hooked ball that ended up within easy pitching distance of the hole. White, on the other hand, had a long iron left after his drive and failed to reach the green with his second. Then Robinson played the shot that practically sealed his doom. He overpitched the green, and after White had chipped to within a yard, Robinson, whose ball was in the rough over the bank of the green, only reached the top of the bank. The match was now all square.

Robinson lost the seventeenth, 3 to 4, his iron shot ending up in a bad lie in a road that runs along at the right, while White played a beauty dead on the pin, but a few yards short.

Luck Pursues White.

At the extra hole White was once more lucky when his drive, topped, headed for a trap but changed its mind en route. Robinson, on the other hand, was less fortunate. His tee shot, hooked, ran through a fence and stopped in a bad lie. His path to the green was blocked off by a telegraph pole. Somewhat disconcerted by the general situation, Robinson looked up, flubbed the ball into the rough and lost the hole when White, after a fine pitch, almost holed out.

PARIS IS AWAITING OUR ADVERTISING MEN

PARIS, July 25 (Associated Press.)—The American and Canadian advertising men and their families, who will arrive here on three special trains on Saturday afternoon and evening to begin a four-day visit, will find that the Franco-American Reception Committee which for some time has been striving to prepare for them entertainments as least as interesting as those which London afforded, has done the well-nigh impossible in their behalf. It has succeeded to an extent in bending the ordinarily adamant French visa system.

The committee now guarantees that any of the visiting advertising men who desires to travel outside of France after his stay here, need only turn in his passport and allow the committee to do the rest.

Today 150 advertising men and their families registered at the committee headquarters, while 500 more are expected tomorrow, making the gathering the largest of foreigners from across the Atlantic since the war.

The advertising men will find the city overflowing with visitors and the three largest hotels turning away would-be guests.

The French Reception Committee declares, however, that those of the advertising men who have already arrived have all been accommodated at smaller, but equally good hotels. Fifty members of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, including several from Houston, Texas, where next year's convention will be held, arrived this morning.

Sunday the delegates will spend at Versailles, and on Monday they will be received at the Hotel de Ville by the American Chamber of Commerce and by President Doumergue at the Elysée, after which they will dine with the President with prominent French statesmen as the guests of honor.

Tuesday they will be received by the Agence Havas, and in the afternoon will visit the Le Bourget field, where a demonstration will be held for their benefit. Their visit will end with a gala performance at the opera in the evening.

SOVIET FAMINE FUND OF $32,000,000 RAISED

Government Acts to Meet Needs of 7,000,000 Affected by Crop Failures.

MOSCOW, July 25 (Associated Press).—The Soviet Government has appropriated $32,000,000 for the purpose of coping with the threatened famine in Russia, according to an announcement just made by the Central Committee of the Communist Party.

Of this amount $15,000,000 will be used for seed and the rest for the direct assistance of the peasants in the worst affected areas.

The Central Committee's announcement, which is in the form of an appeal to members of the Communist Party and Workers' Party, to help the Government in its efforts to checkmate the probable famine, says that this year's shortage of grain will be 150,000,000 poods. [A pood represents 36.113 pounds.] It says that only seven or eight million persons will be affected by this year's crop failure, while in 1921 30,000,000 were affected.

The committee counsels members of the party and the population not to believe recent reports of widespread famine, declaring that these are circulated by enemies of the State. It insists that crop failure will apply only to certain limited areas and in these the Government is taking every precaution to meet the needs of the population.

BIG OFFERS TO MACDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—Speaking at a dinner to members of the Cabinet at the Empire Exhibition tonight, Prime Minister MacDonald said he had been offered by an American agency many thousands of pounds for his biography.

He had been offered double, he said, if he would write a biography of "Jimmie" Thomas (J. H. Thomas), and four times as much if he would prepare biographies of the whole Cabinet.

RISE IN GRAIN PRICES GRATIFIES COOLIDGE

AND REVIVED BUYING POWER

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The rise in the prices of wheat, corn and other agricultural products will go far to relieve the distress among the farmers and is certain to result in better business conditions throughout the nation, it was said today at the White House.

President Coolidge, it was said, feels that the recent developments in the agricultural districts are of great importance to the nation, as the additional income will largely increase the purchasing power of the farmers and at the same time give them an opportunity to pay off their debts.

Reports of a most encouraging nature concerning the effect the improved conditions in the farming districts may have upon the Presidential campaign have been received at the White House. Political leaders who are working for the President were confident that the improvement in the financial position of the farmer would be maintained and that even better times were ahead. Prosperity in the farming districts, it was contended, left little fertile soil for cultivation by the advocates of radical doctrines.

In discussing the improved condition with visitors, the President, it was stated, clung to comment upon the economic problems involved, and did not himself attempt to forecast what the political consequences to the radical movement headed by Senator La Follette might be.

Stress was laid by the President on the fact that the improved position of the farmer, with the buying power of the farmer's dollar very substantially increased, would necessarily result in a stimulation of all of the industrial and business life of the country and make for satisfactory employment and prosperity.

It has been recognized, in the opinion of the President, that the prices of farm products had been below the prices of manufactures for some little time. It also had been recognized that these prices should be on substantially the same level, and every effort has been made by sound policies to bring about a situation where neither the farmer nor the manufacturer would have just cause for complaint.

The President felt, it was said, that substantial similarity in prices was for the best interests of the country, and he was therefore particularly gratified in the price advances in certain of the agricultural sections of the nation.

The President is said to be satisfied that the better prices will bring much relief by helping the farmer to pay his debts and at the same time expand the consuming market upon which industries depend for their prosperity. There had been a condition for some time where, because of the low prices of farm products, the farmers were curtailing their purchases.

The formation of the $26,000,000 Grain Marketing Company, of which Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, has been elected President came up in discussion at the White House today. President Coolidge was reported to have said that he knew little about the details of the new organization, but felt that the plan must be sound because of the character of the men who were connected with it.

Schurman Confers With Karakhan.

PEKING, July 25 (Associated Press).—Jacob Gould Schurman, the American Minister, acting as Dean of the Diplomatic Corps, conferred today with L. M. Karakhan, designated as the first Soviet Ambassador to China, on the problem of possession of the old Russian legation. Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Acting Premier of China, arranged the conference at his residence. The Russian, whose credentials as Ambassador are expected to be presented next week, was noncommittal on Russia abiding by the regulations governing the Diplomatic quarter. Dr. Schurman said he considered an adjustment of outstanding points likely.

OPPOSE MOROCCO PLAN OF SPANISH DICTATOR

Officers Bitterly Resent Proposal to Withdraw Regular Troops From Front Lines.

MELILLA, Morocco, July 23 (delayed) (Associated Press).—Strong opposition has developed here among the officers of the Spanish troops, and among the chieftains friendly to the Spaniards, against the suggested withdrawal of Spanish troops from the front lines in the operations against the Moroccan tribesmen.

Several friendly chieftains have openly declared that in the event of such a withdrawal the natives in the Spanish ranks could not be counted upon to continue their support, and that a large number of them would enter the enemy ranks. The friendly leaders assert positively that they would be slain by the men they now command.

Most of the Europeans here express the belief that Premier Primo de Rivera has found reasons to change his ideas in regard to the withdrawal because of his observation of the attitude of a majority of the Spanish officers who are opposed to the plan. It is generally believed that the Premier will discuss the situation with the King and other members of the Directorate before taking a final decision.

Army officers assert that the visit of the Premier has disclosed strong opposition to the withdrawal idea, which had existed previously but not openly. After an interview between several of the high officers at which the Premier was present and which developed a considerable amount of bitter conversation, he declared he was not disposed to tolerate disrespectful manifestations from his subordinates. When the Premier started for Spain, there were very few officers to see him off, and the coolness of the farewells was remarked upon.

SEEKS 55-YEAR CONCESSION

Japan Also Offers Russia Part of Sakhalin Trade Profits.

TOKIO, July 25 (Associated Press).—The conditions under which Japan would be willing to recognize Soviet Russia, decided on by the Cabinet yesterday, include, it is authoritatively stated, a 55-year concession for oil, coal and timber on the Island of Sakhalin and the exploitation by a Japanese company of the oil of the island, Russia sharing in the profits, the percentage to be decided later.

It is confirmed that Japan will not ask for any concessions on the Siberian mainland for the present.

The conference of Peking, which will be resumed by Kenhichi Yoshizawa, the Japanese Minister to China, and L. M. Karakhan, the Soviet Ambassador, upon the former's return to the Chinese capital, will, it is understood, be more formal than the preceding ones. It will be largely concerned with "saving the face" of both parties. This is especially in connection with the question of Japanese demand for indemnification for the massacre of Japanese at Nikolaievsk in March, 1920, and the occupation of Northern Sakhalin, which the Japanese have held since the Nikolaievsk massacre.

The chances of an agreement, it is believed here, have been very greatly improved by the new policy propounded by Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Foreign Minister, and accepted by the Cabinet.

It is known that the Cabinet is very anxious to have an agreement with Russia to its credit.

TO WATCH FRENCH PRICES.

Government Joins Cities in a Campaign to Cut Living Costs.

PARIS, July 25.—In pursuance of an active campaign against the high cost of living, Camille Chautemps, Minister of the Interior, after conferences with some mayors and high officials of principal cities of France, has evolved a plan which it is hoped will be effective.

This plan includes the organization of economic surveillance throughout the country, administrative action by prefects and mayors in regard to both the wholesale and retail trade and fresh legislation permitting mayors to take any initiative deemed necessary in the question of food supply.

Minister Chautemps has given orders that these measures be made effective immediately.

RUSSO-JAPANESE NEGOTIATIONS.

One of the reasons that swayed the Chinese Government in its recent treaty with Russia was a fear in Peking that the Soviet Government might first come to terms with Japan and with Chang Tso-lin, independent satrap of Manchuria, to the disadvantage of China. At the same time Russia stood to gain by clearing up the situation on the Asiatic mainland before proceeding to translate into serious terms the diplomatic flirtations with Tokio, now several years old. Soviet diplomacy at no time has been in danger of exceeding the speed limit, as the proceedings of the Anglo-Russian conference now almost half a year old would testify. But there is good ground for assuming that the delays are in part calculated. Moscow has regularly tried to influence negotiations on one front by capitalizing the supposed ardor of her suitors on another front. Her separate bids for recognition in Western Europe have always taken the form of a warning to come in early and avoid the rush. There has been felt at Moscow no particular need of haste in the matter because, for the effect on public opinion at home, hopeful suspense has been much more useful than the realized fact. Disappointment at the results of recognition by Germany, Italy, Great Britain and several minor countries has found expression even under the severely limited facilities for making popular sentiment known which exists in Russia.

On the part of Japan there have been equally practical reasons for making haste slowly. The question of the stability of the Soviet régime has been one factor. Russia's relations with Western Europe have constituted another. The harder hoeing Moscow would find in Western Europe, the more susceptible it would be to Japanese claims in the Far East. But Soviet stability is not now a matter of much doubt, and things have not been going badly for the Soviet Government in its relations with the West. With France seriously contemplating the recognition of the Soviets, it must have been borne in upon Tokio that the time for talking business was at hand. To this should be added one element of recent origin. Japanese exclusion under our new Immigration law has given a severe blow to racial pride at Tokio. The need is felt there of securing a set-off in Asia for despite done to the principle of racial equality, for which Japan fought so hard at the Peace Conference. And for the new Japanese Cabinet it is obviously of importance to salve the national prestige by a diplomatic achievement of some note.

The particular hitch in the prolonged Russo-Japanese pourparlers has been Northern Sakhalin and its oil. On this point it is now stated that Japan has come around to the Russian point of view, in consenting to a partnership for the exploitation of the island's resources instead of insisting on absolute concessionary rights. Other questions at issue—mutual apologies for outrages and the foreign debt—are regarded as secondary. For the moment, at least, the Asiatic mainland has less importance at Tokio than the fuel resources of Sakhalin. It is another way of saying that Japan is thinking more of industrial—and military—problems at home than of colonization on the mainland. It has been shown that, for various reasons, Manchuria cannot be counted upon to absorb Japan's surplus population. The problem will have to be taken care of in the manner Germany solved a similar problem half a century ago—by an intensive industrial development in the homeland. Cheap fuel for Japanese factories and for the Japanese Navy is the key to the "new" Russian policy at Tokio.

GETTING THEIR SECOND WIND.

The speech of Representative OGDEN L. MILLS to the Albany Republicans on Thursday night indicates how far the party morale has recovered since last Winter. At that time it was brought very low. The disclosures of corruption at Washington left the Republican leaders both dazed and dejected. They dared not lift a finger to stay the Democratic investigators. In the Senate the leadership was boldly taken away from the majority by Senator WALSH and Senator WHEELER. For weeks the Republicans appeared like a set of men cowed and cringing. The common talk was that the party was ruined politically for the time being and could not hope to win in this year's Presidential election.

To see how the tone has changed, one has only to turn to the address of Representative MILLS. In connection with the record of achievement by a Republican Administration since 1921, he took up the charge of corruption. Admitting that even a single instance of it in the public service is "damnable," and asserting that no Republican will seek to excuse or cover up such a violation of a public trust, Mr. MILLS went on:

> Surely our opponents can never hope to persuade the American people that such public servants as COOLIDGE, HUGHES, HOOVER, MELLON, STONE, and a thousand other faithful men and women that compose the present Administration must be repudiated, together with their four years' record of remarkable service, because of the failure of FALL and of FORBES.

It is obvious that this little list of delinquents might easily have been made longer. Mr. MILLS will be reminded of other names before the campaign is over. But his present attitude is significant because it is a sign of the way in which the Republicans are plucking up courage after a period of long and deep despondency. The reasons for their better cheer are obvious. The very lapse of time has done something to make the revelations of the Senate inquiry, startling and depressing as they were at the moment, seem now rather stale and wearisome. If people got tired of hearing ARISTIDES called the "just," it may be that they no longer care to hear even Secretary FALL called a scoundrel. It is also plain that as the stock of the Democrats went down during the first week of their National Convention the spirits, if not the securities, of the Republicans rose. Blunder for blunder, the Republicans plumed themselves that they were not, after all, so badly off as the other fellows. The question which Representative MILLS asks is, in effect, "Why "turn us out to put in men who will "probably prove worse than we "were?"

So far as this particular issue is concerned, the Democrats have the difficulty of reviving a sensation to which the country has apparently become callous. It may be that a vigorous repetition of the old charges will again stir the old indignation. But it is evident that the Republicans do not believe it. They think they have got their second wind. Have the Democrats the stamina again to challenge and head them off? Perhaps by mid-October we shall know.

SPARING "THE PEOPLE" TROUBLE.

Mr. LA FOLLETTE's genius for political organization has long been famous. In his own Wisconsin, that experiment station of "reform," he is absolute boss. Named for President at last by a miscellaneous and many-stranded "popular movement" against privilege, monopoly and the rest of the legion of Money Devils, he asserts his monopoly in running the whole show. His love for "the people" is so deep and tender that he can't bear the thought of bothering them. All they've got to do is to fill the campaign almsbox and vote the La Follette ticket. His Executive Campaign Committee is empowered to do everything in every State. Among the ten members already appointed there is no farmer, copiously as the Senator's heart bleeds for the speeder of the plow. There is one banker. Mr. LA FOLLETTE doesn't ban altogether that abhorred business.

It is good to see the name of our struggling proletarian, Mr. MORRIS HILLQUIT, on the list. As a Socialist he knows the necessity of discipline. Quite in his line is this summary and sweeping order from headquarters in Mr. LA FOLLETTE's head:

> No nominations or endorsements of Congressional, State or local candidates by State or local conferences or committees shall be official and binding unless submitted to and approved by the Joint Executive Committee.

Mr. HILLQUIT would doubtless amend this rule by providing that every candidate must agree in writing to resign, if elected, whenever he refuses to vote or act as directed by the committee. This is a Socialist delicacy which may be added later. This passing upon and picking of candidates is a labor-saving device, and independence and progressiveness are beautifully displayed in this all-round boss-ship. Mr. LAGUARDIA, Mr. LA FOLLETTE's ewe lamb in the East, is not beloved by the (Socialist) autocrats here, but the shepherd in Washington will gather him again into the fold. And how about contesting delegations, so to speak, of the impeccable? There was a case of this in the Minnesota Federation of Labor Convention a day or two ago. A motion was made to allow Mr. SCHALL, Republican nominee for United States Senator, to address the convention. His "record" in Congress was approved by circulars distributed in the convention, signed by Mr. SAMUEL GOMPERS. The motion was beaten two to one by the devotees of MAGNUS JOHNSON. Dilemmas like this are likely to be presented in considerable number to the Joint Executors, but they won't be disturbed by them. The Independent Progressive Party and all its little sisters, cousins and aunts will have to do exactly what Uncle Bob and his Eleven bid them do. It is inspiring to see "the people" rise, sit down or be knocked down when their tribune gives the word. From a statesman so passionate against war—at least war with Germany—as Mr. LA FOLLETTE, this political military discipline comes as an education and a joy.

COURAGE IN THE PRIZE RING.

The psychology of those who flock to see the battles in the modern prize ring deserves attention. They are often capable of emotions that are a reproach to sportsmanship. Swayed by the mob spirit, they love to glut their scorn of the foreigner by cries to the native son to beat him down. They call pitilessly for the knockout. Their cries are brutish when a boxer is staggering to collapse. As the mortal stroke was desired in the Roman arena, so at our own Polo Grounds the stretched form quivering on the canvas is the climax of an evening's entertainment. It may not be a pleasant picture to the humane-minded. After two thousand years there isn't much change in the heart of man. The love of a fight has not been refined out of him. The animal in him sates itself in the joy of the combat in which he has no part.

Yet to the philosopher there are compensations of which he need not be ashamed. This crowd at the ringside, composite of all classes and callings, is not altogether ignoble. Courage makes a special appeal to it. It would rather cheer an exhibition of grit, the rally of a boxer, bruised, bleeding and all but done for, than a victory. It takes such a gladiator to its heart, hopes that he will overcome the odds against him, and make it a draw at least. He may be an alien or a native son—it's all the same. He is showing his manhood. The Englishman JIMMY WILDE and the Frenchman CRIQUI became idols of the crowd that had been roaring for their downfall when they fought on with astounding mettle and tenacity, knowing they could not escape their fate. The prize ring "fans" dearly love a loser whose spirit holds out to the last even though his physical powers are failing him.

Now the French war veteran CARPENTIER is raised to the zenith of acclaim because he lost valiantly to our own soldier of the A. E. F.—EUGENE TUNNEY. The tenth round of their fight will long be talked about. Says one chronicler who wanted to see his countryman win, "the memory of "that round will never die. What "boots it that in spite of his noble "rally CARPENTIER lost on a technical "knockout in the fifteenth round?" The fact is that courage is the most admired of all human qualities, whether it occurs on a field like Seven Pines, where PHIL KEARNY did not know how to yield, in the Sudan when the "pore benighted 'eathen" Fuzzy-Wuzzy broke the British square, or even in the arena of the modern prize ring.

SHORT HAULS BY TRUCKS.

A new witness to the value of trucks instead of railroads for short hauls is found in the formation of a corporation to specialize in the construction of six-wheel trucks especially designed to reduce the road impact and to permit the carrying of large loads. The increase in the number of trucks of all sizes and kinds has been particularly noticeable since the war. It naturally gave an impetus to trucking owing to the necessity of supplying moving armies with food and munitions. In France ammunition and supply trains were almost entirely dependent upon trucks, and there, owing to the congestion on some of the railroads, there was even much long hauling of freight by automobiles. In peace times, however, the principal value of the trucks has proved to be as feeders to railroad freight lines and as means of transport for farm products and other goods over short distances from country to city, or, occasionally, from one town to another.

The use of trucks is intimately bound up with road building. If trucking is really to rival railroads for short hauls, the States and the nation will have to build more and wider roads with deeper foundations. The amount of road space taken up by big trucks is generally so great that they delay passenger traffic. This is largely due to the fact that most of the highways are not wide enough. The damage done to road surfaces by the heavy pounding of the loads has made most truck-infested roads so rough that passenger traffic is uncomfortable. The principal reason for this is that the roads were not built with a view to carrying heavy loads.

Numerous State highway commissions have been conducting experiments to test the damage done by trucks and to determine the type of roadbed best fitted to support them. This work will have to be developed so that when existing highways over which there is much trucking are enlarged they can be constructed of material fit to withstand the impact of heavy vehicles. It goes without saying that any improvements in truck construction which will lessen the wear and tear will be welcomed. But it is impossible to escape the conclusion that as trucking increases the need for wider and sturdier roads will increase.

PUBLIC PARKS TENNIS.

The National Championship, tennis at Wimbledon and in the Olympics, together with the contest for the Davis Cup, naturally get the major part of public attention. But there is also a National Municipal Championship, now a fixture in the tennis world, which is open to the winners of tournaments in the public parks of our cities. They must enlist a much greater number of players than the more conspicuous games, and probably mean more for the continuance of interest in the sport and for the production, from time to time, of new champions. In Greater New York the borough tournaments have already been held, and the winners in them are to compete in a final test today on the courts in Central Park. Later will follow the National Municipal Championships at Detroit. It is desired that, as was the case last year, the chosen representatives of New York may be sent to Detroit, as our international tennis players were sent to the Olympics, with all their expenses paid. Any desiring to contribute to this end should address Mr. A. P. SIMMONDS, Chairman of the Municipal Tennis Committee, at 46 West Twenty-fourth Street.

SEEKING A WATERFALL.

The exploring party of the National Museum of Canada has been told, it is reported, of a waterfall in the park region of British Columbia and will endeavor to locate it during the Summer. It must have been some such expedition that gave suggestion to WHITTIER for his poem on "The Seeking of a Waterfall," which begins:

> Beneath the lowland's sheltering trees,
> To seek, by ways unknown to all,
> The promise of the waterfall.
> Some vague, faint rumor to the vale
> Had crept—perchance a hunter's tale—
> Of its wild mirth of waters lost
> On the dark woods through which it tossed.
> Somewhere it laughed and sang; somewhere
> Whirled in mad dance its misty hair;
> But who had raised its veil, or seen
> The rainbow skirts of that Undine?

WHITTIER's imaginary explorers ended their quest in disappointment. The brook which lured them on with the beguiling melodies of its waters from height to height and the rumor of the hunter's tale—"both had lied." It was but a phantom waterfall. One only of their number, grown wise with years, had found the reward in the "winding waters' sounding "rush and the long note of the hermit "thrush," in the turquoise lakes, the broad meadows, "belted round with pines," and the grand "uplift of mountain lines" along the way.

The waterfall which invites these real explorers up into the "Norway of Canada" flashes down its rocky wall, it is rumored, at least 800 feet, while others estimate its height at 1,200 feet. The loftiest falls known in the Western Hemisphere are but 827 feet high. So the lure is great and with no such attendant hardship as they endured who sought the summit of Everest. All will hope to hear in due time that the promise of the waterfall has been realized and its face not only seen by the eye but caught in the motion pictures which may be brought back to those who stay in their homes of Summer ease. And if, by chance, the fate of the Canadians is that of WHITTIER's baffled adventurers, they can turn for consolation to the closing lines of his poem and find

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

He Must Be Such a Good Son!

Virtue flowers in unexpected places, and Rum Row it seems is one of them. In the pocket of Captain MATTHEW HANSEN, when he and his fast motor boat, the Bessie B., were captured this week, were found two letters which, with many cases of whisky, he kindly was taking ashore to be mailed for one ROBERT W. WYLIE Jr., a seaman on the British schooner Rask, a well known member of the fleet that lies just outside the twelve-mile limit, waiting for customers.

The letters were addressed to WYLIE's dear father in Glasgow. One of them bore a stamp and for that reason was held inviolate by the enforcement officials, but the other, lacking that protection, was opened and its contents proved interesting in several ways. They showed, among other things, just as might have been expected, that it is not one of our laws, but several, that the men on that hovering fleet are helping our own criminals to violate. Besides selling "rum" in its assorted varieties, they bring over narcotics in large quantities for even more profitable disposal among our addicts, and aliens of many kinds whom the immigration quotas bar from entering also await in Rum Row the opportunity for slipping ashore when the nights are dark.

All this WYLIE set down for the information of his evidently venerated father and the other members of his family, as evidently much loved by him. Of the moral propriety of what he and his companions are doing not a doubt is expressed in the letter, but he is glad that, as the Rask's cargo is almost sold out, he soon will be home again. Meanwhile he sends kisses for everybody, and promises presents to be bought out of the bonus and wages that will be his when the voyage ends.

Scotland must be proud of her son. He may be distinguished with some difficulty from a pirate, but, as ROSINA VOKES used to sing, "No matter what you do, if your heart be true," and WYLIE's heart obviously is true. It thrills during all his spare time to the gentler emotions, and it would be only in the regular course of business that he would knock a customs officer on the head. At bottom, his is a gentle nature, and illustrates what it is to have a soundly Calvinistic training in early youth.

Deportation Seems Unreasonable.

Few better illustrations of the need of discretion in the administration of our immigration laws could be found than in the case of FLORENTINA ROG, the sixteen-year-old girl whose deportation was ordered this week on the ground that she was a recently arrived alien who had become a public charge. So she had, technically, since she was committed by Justice WILKINS of the Brooklyn Children's Court to the Cedar Knolls School at Hawthorne, an institution conducted by the Jewish Board of Guardians, and it would have received a small amount of public money weekly for supporting and teaching her, as it does for all children so committed to it.

FLORENTINA, who had been living in a family where her father paid her board, went down to Coney Island with some girl companions, and for some seemingly petty violation of local rules they all were arrested. The others were discharged as soon as they told their story, but FLORENTINA could not speak English and was unable to make her circumstances known. So, though she seems to have done nothing which the others had not done, she was held in custody and went in regular routine to the Cedar Knolls School. Her mother is dead, and her father was unable to pay the school fees. She therefore did become a "public charge," but the money needed for her maintenance in the school easily could be raised from private funds, and would be, if the deportation order were revoked, while if the girl is sent back to Poland, where she no longer has relatives or friends, her situation will be desperate and her future dark. Here she would be protected, taught, and only when prepared for self-support would she be dismissed from the Cedar Knolls School.

As the Secretary of Labor often has exercised his discretionary powers in cases like this, it is expected that he will save the young Polish girl from removal from a place where she can be safe and happy to one where she would be neither.

Concerning Changes of Names.

One of THE TIMES's readers, in a letter printed yesterday, protested earnestly against the taking of old English names like his by foreigners who, for one reason or another, find those brought with them from across the sea inconvenient or injurious to their interests.

The feeling thus expressed often has been voiced before, and is easy enough to understand; and yet, on reflection, probably even those who object most strongly to the practice they resent would not be willing to have passed a law forbidding any changing of names. To do that for a reasonable purpose is something everywhere recognized as legitimate, and no court would permit it to further deception of any kind, and would allow it reluctantly, if at all, when the only excuse was a desire to conceal race origin.

Not a few foreign names, especially those of Eastern Europe, are unpronounceable by the majority of the immigrants' new neighbors, and others lend themselves too easily to ludicrous or disparaging corruptions. A common practice is simply to translate the foreign name into English, or to use an English name approximating the old one in meaning or sound. The occupational names, numerous in all languages, lend themselves easily to such mutation, and the place names often do.

It is a little different when the old name is abandoned altogether, and one is taken merely because of its fine sound or its noble associations. Even then, however, what harm is done to anybody? By no means all the bearers by inheritance of distinguished names are distinguished in any other way, but mediocrity reflects no measurable dishonor. On the other hand, names never give sure information as to race or origin; they only establish a presumption which evidence sustains or refutes. Present restrictions on name changing seem to be quite enough.

Improvements Made in Anesthesia.

Frequent reports of new anesthetics and of new and more effective or safer combinations of old ones are frequent, just now, and a lot of gratitude is deserved and much will be given to the investigators who are devoting their energies and intelligence to the finding of means for the relief or abolition of pain.

People still alive can remember when every surgical operation involved the infliction of almost intolerable agony, and the screaming victim struggled with the cords that bound him to the operating table. The good surgeon then was the man who could do his cutting rapidly, and many of the operations now common could not be attempted at all. Credit for the change has several claimants, but the weight of evidence gives it to the American, MORTON.

A dispatch from Paris tells of a new anesthetic that has the highly desirable merit of safety through many hours of administration and of being followed by none of the usual disturbances and dangers. That, if confirmed in general practice, marks an important advance of medical science and potentialities.

UNDINE.

> Laugh, little Fountain that knows not care;
> Toss white arms in the Summer air—
> Laugh and rejoice that the day is fair.
> Here I watch you with solemn eyes—
> I who was driven from Paradise
> When my soul-hunger had made me wise.
> What should you do with a Soul, my dear?
> All would be turbid that now is clear;
> Sparkle and spray would be quenched by fear.
> Laugh, little Fountain, in bubbling glee—
> Kiss mocking finger-tips to me—
> I am the captive, and you are free!

FLORENCE VAN CLEVE.

CONGRESS OR PARENTS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Certain Governments have undertaken, as all State Governments do now, to "limit, regulate or prohibit" the employment of young children or adolescents, or even women, within degrees which the reasonable standards of the day establish as marking the limits where such employment tends to menace the health, safety or morals of persons insufficiently able to protect their own. But outside of such degrees no such legislation, even as to employment, far less as to labor, has ever been deemed consistent with the most elementary conception of the word "liberty" as contained in Magna Charta or the Bills of Rights of the several States or of the Union.

The Congress has asked the consent of three-fourths of the States to its assumption of this power, without any limitation whatever, as to all persons under 18—which is to say, roughly, as to one-third of the population of these United States. Two States, Georgia and Louisiana, have already indignantly refused such consent—notwithstanding that Georgia's native son and candidate for the Democratic nomination had been ardently supporting the proposal. One, Arkansas, has reluctantly assented, and another, Massachusetts, has referred the matter to its people for their advice in a referendum.

The issue will be determined by the action of those States whose Legislatures are to be elected at the coming November election. Two of the national platforms—those on which President Coolidge and Senator LA FOLLETTE are running—have earnestly recommended the ratification of this amendment. The Democratic platform has made no such recommendation. The amendment was opposed by nineteen Democratic Senators and six Republicans, including the senior Senator from New York. Several others were paired against it.

Is it too much to say that if this amendment passes, no person under 18 will have any rights that Congress is bound to respect? The writer would be much obliged to any one who will point out what such rights would consist in. Possibly one would be the right to do nothing at all, which the children of the rich alone would appreciate, but which is theirs anyhow. It may also be pertinent to ask what rights, if any, will remain to parents that Congress may not supersede at its good pleasure and mere motion. Whereupon the further query: Of what use is a Bill of Rights?

A PRESIDENT WHO LEADS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read with interest, but without being convinced, the letter of your correspondent Robert R. Reed in today's issue of THE TIMES. He admits that President Coolidge has shown courage and stability, but that he has also shown a lack of leadership, or at least an inability to lead his own party; and he argues that Mr. Davis, by his record, character and ability, has demonstrated that if he is elected President he can and will lead his party.

It seems to me that this would depend more on the character of the Congress than it would on the character of the man in the Presidential office. I should like very much to know what Mr. Davis would have done had he been the Chief Executive during these last twelve months. Would he have stood behind the Treasury Department in its efforts to secure scientific tax reductions and readjustments? Would he have vetoed the bonus bill? Would he have vetoed the postal employes' compensation bill? Which of President Coolidge's four or five great acts would Mr. Davis, if he had been President, not have performed, or have performed differently? And if, as one may suspect, he would have done just as the President has done, what warrant is there for saying that the Democrats in Congress would have behaved differently than they did behave when confronted with President Coolidge's vetoes? President Coolidge could not lead his "party" in Congress because that "party" was made up of too many self-seeking politicians. For my part, if I could be assured that we might have half a hundred Calvin Coolidges in the Senate it would be a matter of indifference whether John W. Davis or some equally high-minded man was in the White House.

Sunshine and Cloud Belts.

San Diego being puzzled as to why such a sunny spot should be foremost in suicide, you suggest that it may be because our ancestors came from cloudy places, among which you specify the Baltic, and hence have not the right constitution to inhabit sunny places.

The maps in Bartholomew's Atlas of Meteorology shows sundry facts that are of interest in connection with such discussions. For instance:

Sweden and Finland are a spot comparatively free from clouds; no more cloudy than Southern France, Hungary, Japan, New England, New York, the Middle West and Ecuador; decidedly less cloudy than England, Northern France, Germany, the Philippines and a large part of Africa. (This clearness of the Baltic sky is just what would be expected from theory, since the Baltic lies east of a north-and-south mountain range in a zone of prevailing westerly winds.) The cloudiest spots of the inhabitated earth are the coast of the Gulf of Guinea, the coast of Southern Peru, Northern Russia and Southwestern Alaska. Of these four cloudiest spots the rainfall map shows that two are decidedly rainy and the other two emphatically dry.

The sunshine map for Europe is surprisingly unlike the cloud map in its contours, and is much more favorable to your doctrine. The sunshine map for the United States shows that the sunniest party of the country is New Mexico and the adjoining parts of Texas and Arizona; that Colorado and Kansas are much sunnier than the California coast; that most of the country adjoining the Missouri, Mississippi and Ohio Rivers is as sunny as California. Why this should be so, when the cloud maps show the Mississippi Valley to be much cloudier than California, in the same latitude, is a puzzle. One gets the impression that there are fewer observations available for sunshine than for clouds. STEVEN T. BYINGTON.

Liquor Sale by Pharmacists.

Permit me to compliment you and the author of the article entitled, "Flood of Liquor Sale by Order of Doctors," in yesterday's TIMES. The thing that impressed me about this article was its eminent fairness and the fact that the author did not distort any facts. So often articles on the subject of liquor prescriptions attempt to show the pharmacist in the light of a violator of the law, when, in fact, violations by pharmacists are the exception rather than the rule.

TO SURVEY SOLDIERS' HOMES

Six Subcommittees Are Named for Congressional Investigation.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Chairman Johnson of the House Veterans Committee announced today the appointment of chairmen of six subcommittees to conduct the survey of soldiers' homes and hospitals authorized by Congress last session.

Representatives Snyder, New York; Fitzgerald, Ohio, and Vincent, Michigan; all Republicans, will head subcommittees working east of the Mississippi River; Representatives MacLafferty, California, and Simmons, Nebraska, Republicans, will conduct work in the West, and Representative Bulwinkle, Democrat, North Carolina, will be in charge of the inquiry in the Southeastern States.

"The survey is not political," Mr. Johnson said in a letter to the chairmen. "A precedent should be established that will preclude any future Congress from indulging in partisanship in so far as the needs of the service men are concerned."

Representatives of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and Veterans of Foreign Wars will accompany each subcommittee. The subcommittees are instructed to receive all complaints at open sessions.

THIS IS NO MORE WAR DAY.

Woman's Peace Society Arranges Several Celebrations Here.

"No More War Day," which is being celebrated today in thirteen countries and every State of the United States, under the auspices of the Woman's Peace Society, will be marked here by ceremonies in front of the Sub-Treasury, Wall and Broad Streets.

A peace float, showing the Quakers and Indians living together for 150 years, will be taken from Peace House, 110th Street and Fifth Avenue, down Fifth Avenue, to the meeting. The float will be exhibited also in Battery Park, Union Square, Madison Square and Columbus Circle.

Speakers will include Bishop Paul Jones, of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, Margaret Daniels of Chicago University, the Rev. Leo Lang and Carolene Wood, a Quaker.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The National Council for the Prevention of War announced today that many ministers of various denominations throughout the country have agreed to devote their sermons Sunday to the subject of world cooperation.

The organization's "world cooperation campaign," to be conducted tomorrow and Sunday, it was added, has the endorsement of Governors Baxter of Maine, Smith of New York, McLeod of South Carolina and Preus of Minnesota and several prominent individuals.

DIFFER OVER CONFESSION.

Speakers at Eucharistic Conference Maintain Contradictory Theses.

AMSTERDAM, July 25 (Associated Press).—The American section of the Eucharistic Conference met today under the presidency of Bishop Kelly of Oklahoma and with Bishop Tihen of Denver and Mgr. Francis A. Purcell of Chicago in attendance.

Mgr. Purcell read a long paper advocating the revival of spiritual ideals by promoting frequent communions, and said that priests must abandon the idea of hearing confessions only on Saturday.

The Rev. William O'Ryan of Denver disagreed with these ideas on the ground that they were against the traditions of the Church, and asserted that the people must be taught they could go to communion without confession if they were in a state of grace. A resolution on the subject will be formulated tomorrow.

CHINA BUILDING RAILWAYS.

PEKING, July 25 (Associated Press).—The revival of railway construction is forecast by a contract entered into by Belgian and Chinese bankers for the purpose of financing the extension of the Lunghai Railway from Chenchow, Honan Province, to Sianfu, Shensi Province.

The Belgians have agreed to float a 1,000,000 francs loan in Europe for the purchase of materials and the Chinese a $10,000,000 loan in China for construction work.

The contract, signed on July 19, is a modification of the Belgian contract of 1912 for the construction of a railway from Kansu Province, through Shensi and Honan to the sea.

TOKIO, July 25.—A strip of torn American flag floating from the flagpole in the compound of the American Embassy this morning, where the flag had been torn down by a student agitator on July 1, created some consternation in the neighborhood.

It was learned, however, that the flag was accidentally torn by a Japanese employe of the Embassy who was lowering it in accordance with the instructions of Chargé d'Affaires Caffery, who is removing the Embassy to the Summer quarters at Karuizawa tomorrow and is taking the flag with him.

CALVARY CHURCH LEADER OUT IN HUFF

GETS OUT LONG PAMPHLET

Says Pastor "Went Down in Defeat" —Also Attacks Dr. Potter as a "Blasphemer."

Edward C. Miller, a prominent member of the Calvary Baptist Church, Fifty-seventh Street, between Sixth and Seventh Avenues, has quit the church and resigned as a deacon and as a trustee and from the fourteen committees of which he had been a member. Mr. Miller, who is President of the Magnolia Metal Company of 115 Bank Street, based his action upon his disapproval of the course of the Rev. Dr. John Roach Straton, pastor of the church, in connection with the theological debate between Dr. Straton and the Rev. Charles Francis Potter, pastor of the West Side Unitarian Church. In these debates Dr. Straton upheld the Fundamentalist viewpoint, while Mr. Potter spoke as an exponent of the Modernists.

Mr. Miller wrote a condemnation of Dr. Straton and had it printed in pamphlet form at his own expense, and it was his purpose to circularize the 9,000,000 Baptists in America. When several thousands of copies of the twenty-one-page pamphlet had been run off the press, Mr. Miller presented copies to each of his fellow deacons. He was then in the church and held the office of deacon and trustee and membership of the fourteen committees.

The deacons appealed to Mr. Miller not to broadcast his pamphlet, saying it would not be for "the best interests of the church." So he agreed to abandon his purpose.

Won't Return to Calvary Church.

But Mr. Miller shortly afterward left the church, and he declared last evening he had no intention of ever returning, although early in the quarrel between Dr. Straton and Mr. Miller the latter declared in an open letter to the pastor that he expected to remain in the church.

"Yes, it is true that I have left the Calvary Baptist Church," said Mr. Miller yesterday afternoon to a reporter before leaving for Allenhurst, N. J., where he and Mrs. Miller are spending the Summer.

He declared it was not true that he had supported Dr. Straton in the minister's preparations for the debates, but said he had opposed the holding of the debates from the beginning.

Mr. Miller likewise declared to be untrue a rumor that the real reason he had left the church was that he had not been elected Chairman of the Board of Deacons, to which office, it was intimated by supporters of Dr. Straton, he had aspired.

Albinus C. Miller, who is not a relative of Edward C. Miller, was re-elected to that office.

A report that Dr. Straton, who is away on his Summer vacation, had tried to persuade Mr. Miller to return to Calvary Church was confirmed yesterday afternoon at the church offices. It was explained there that whenever any one asked for a letter of dismissal Dr. Straton expressed regret if it was because of dissatisfaction with anything at Calvary and invited such a one to reconsider.

"I hope some time you will think better of us and come back," Dr. Straton is credited with having said to Mr. Miller.

Mr. Miller has not yet decided what church he will join.

Mr. Miller's pamphlet begins with a letter he wrote to Dr. Straton under date of April 14 last, two weeks before the final debate with Mr. Potter.

There follows a letter which Mr. Miller wrote to his fellow deacons, under date of April 22 last. The remaining eighteen pages are taken up with "A Condemnation of Straton-Potter Debates." Throughout the pamphlet Mr. Miller takes the ground that Dr. Straton brought "open shame" upon Calvary Church and upon the whole Baptist denomination by not answering what he calls the twisted and perverted arguments used by Mr. Potter, whom he characterizes as "a blasphemer of the Bible and the Lord Jesus Christ." Mr. Miller also condemns the publication of these debates in book form.

His Letter to Dr. Straton.

In his letter to Dr. Straton Mr. Miller said:

"This letter is to let you know that there is no use to write me a 'love letter,' as you stated over the telephone. I would treat this 'love letter' in the

BARNEY BARUCH JR. MAY WED ACTRESS

WITH HIS FATHER IN PARIS

Copyright, 1924, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

PARIS, July 25.—The marriage of Barney Baruch Jr. to Lois Wilson, the film actress, is to take place in the immediate future, although both are silent as to their plans.

Rumors of their engagement have been floating about Paris since Miss Wilson arrived here a week ago. She has been constantly with young Mr. Baruch in restaurants and cabarets, sometimes accompanied by the elder Mr. Baruch. Miss Wilson and her maid and secretary are living at the Ritz Hotel, where the Baruchs also have taken a flat.

At a luncheon to screen folk today Miss Wilson was asked to confirm or deny the report, but she only smiled and said she would rather not discuss it. Mr. Baruch likewise grinned and remained silent.

MISS LANDON GIVES WEDDING SURPRISE

ADMIRAL CONDEMNS BEACH AIR STUNTS

OFFENDER NOT NAVY FLIER

Plane Used Had Been Set Aside for Use of Police Reserve Aviation Unit.

Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, in command of the Third Naval District, embracing New York and its environs, agreed yesterday with Acting Mayor William T. Collins that the performance of an aviator who did stunts last Sunday at a low altitude and imperiled and frightened thousands of persons on the sands at Rockaway Beach was a foolhardy and dangerous undertaking.

The commandant, in a letter, called Mr. Collins's attention to the fact that the aviator was not a naval flier, charged by the Acting Mayor in a letter to the Admiral. The letter was a reply to a communication in which Mr. Collins stated that Navy plane No. 6,539 last Sunday sent thousands of bathers into a panic and created a condition that made it remarkable there were not any drownings among the bathers. At the same time, Acting Mayor Collins wrote Police Commissioner Enright, directing the arrest of aviators again engaging in such practices.

Admiral Plunkett's report, after an investigation of the Rockaway Beach incident, was forwarded to the Secretary of the Navy. It was said unofficially yesterday that the Secretary of the Navy had been requested to take official cognizance of Acting Mayor Collins's complaint and of the result of the commandant's investigation.

While the letter to Acting Mayor Collins was in the mails yesterday a naval reserve plane, also used by the Police Reserve Aviation Unit, met a tailspin off Fort Lafayette which resulted in a fall into shallow water in the Narrows. The two occupants were rescued with difficulty. The machine was wrecked.

The letter to Mayor Collins was as follows:

City Hall of New York,
New York, N. Y.
My Dear Sir:

The Commandant of the Third Naval District desires to acknowledge your letter of the 22d instant, relative to certain activities of a plane at Rockaway Park on Sunday last. A thorough investigation has been completed with respect to naval planes in this district, with the result that no plane belonging to the navy has been located that was in the vicinity of Rockaway Park on that day.

Special inquiry was made with respect to Plane No. 6539 (set aside for the use of the Police Reserve Aviation Unit on Saturdays and Sundays), with the result that the authorities immediately in control of that station have assured the commandant that this plane did not visit the vicinity of Rockaway Park on July 20, 1924.

In the course of the investigation it was ascertained that Captain Judson of the Police Reserve Aviation Unit was dismissed by Inspector McKinney for flying over Coney Island and Rockaway Beach on Sunday, July 13, 1924, in seaplane 6539.

The commandant concurs wholly in the opinion expressed by the Mayor of New York and condemns any practice of this nature, and desires to assure the Mayor that such performances are contrary to naval regulations and that there shall be no such performances by persons in the naval service.

With assurances of my highest esteem, very truly yours,

JOHN D. WAINWRIGHT,
Captain, U. S. N., Assistant Commandant.

The aviators in yesterday's mishap in the Narrows were Lieutenant Walter C. Bergan and Petty Officer Henry Nutting, of the Naval Reserve Air Station at Fort Hamilton. They set out yesterday forenoon in seaplane No. 2634, flying over the Narrows at a low altitude. They were doing a tail spin over Fort Lafayette when, it is said, the machine suddenly plunged. It stuck in the mud, the cockpit remaining suspended with its occupants out of the water.

Two rescue boats set out, one from Fort Lafayette and the other from Fort Hamilton. The first was manned by members of the Naval Air Reserve Station at Fort Lafayette and the second by Patrolman Thomas J. Duffy of the Fort Hamilton Police Station, who saw the plane fall. He commandeered a motor boat and with four volunteers went to the rescue. Though some difficulty was experienced in getting the two imprisoned men from the cockpit, neither had been injured by the fall.

MARK TWAIN MATCHED GERMAN'S INVENTION

BERLIN, July 25.—Mark Twain would rather have been an inventor than a writer, declares a German who, when he was a child, once saw and heard America's great humorist. The latter visited the home of this German's father during his trip to Germany and the two got to talking about themselves in a weird, hodgepodge of English and German, while the little son of Mark Twain's host, who had read "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer" until he nearly knew them by heart, listened in breathless silence.

"Once I invented a combination lamp and cooking stove," said Mark Twain's host.

The humorist promptly replied: "Once I invented a collar that needed no collar button, and also a vest which enabled the wearer to do away with suspenders."

From Mark Twain's tone as he spoke, says the German who heard him, one could easily see he was prouder of these inventions than of his books. So jovial was Twain throughout the visit, continues the German, that nobody could have guessed he had just lost the entire fortune amassed from his writings and had been obliged at the age of 56 to begin all over again.

WED IN OLD CASTLE.

POPPI, Tuscany, July 25 (Associated Press).—Miss Catherine Mosser of Boston was married here today to Professor Mediconi, director of the Hospital San Gallicano of Rome.

Originally it had been planned to hold the ceremony in Rome, but Miss Mosser several days ago visited the fifteenth century castle here of Count Guidi and so admired it and the famous chapel that she insisted on being married amid the attractive Middle Age surroundings.

The Bishop of Arezzo, in whose diocese Poppi is situated, gave the necessary dispensation for the religious ceremony, while Signor Cremonesi, Royal Commissioner of Rome, who should have performed the civil marriage in Capitoline Hall in Rome, permitted the Mayor of Poppi to officiate.

The bride's friend, Marie von Vorst, novelist, gave her away. Mr. and Mrs. Mediconi will spend their honeymoon in the Italian Tyrol and will take up their residence in Rome in September.

FRENCH COMMISSION FAVORS ARMS COMPACT

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, July 25.—By a unanimous vote, the Investigation Commission of the French Council of National Defense has approved the League of Nations scheme for establishment of a general arms compact between nations which are members of the League. This decision, which has just been taken, it is expected, will lead to acceptance by the French Government next month of the League proposal which was recently rejected by the British Government for reasons set forth in Premier MacDonald's letter published two weeks ago and debated yesterday by the British House of Lords.

The action of the French commission is significant from the fact that it was presided over by Paul Boncour, a personal friend and associate of M. Herriot, and one of the leading members of the French Socialist Party. It contains also the commanding Generals of France who are members of the Council of National Defense.

Adoption of the plan for compacts with a mutual guarantee is considered certain to receive the approval of the National Council and later of the Government, whose acceptance after rejection of the plan by the British Government is likely to create a curiously delicate situation during the League discussions of the plan. The defense of the mutual compact plan made yesterday in the House of Lords by Viscount Cecil, who, after having originally opposed it, rallied to it in the League committee, has strengthened French belief that eventually the plan will be adopted, despite the arguments of Premier MacDonald that it tends only to divide Europe into armed camps.

GIVE MEDALS TO DANCERS.

Gloria Gould Bishop, youngest child of the late Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould and wife of Henry A. Bishop Jr., received a diploma as a dancing teacher at the commencement exercises of the Chalif Russian Normal School of Dancing, held last evening in the Town Hall. Others in the graduating class were Ada Grace Barker, Josephine H. Block, Alice Mary Connor, Helen Madeline Kegan, Mary Elizabeth O'Connell, Katherine L. North and Anna B. Young.

M. L. Chalif, Principal of the school, also presented silver or gold medals for meritorious work to Mrs. Bishop, the Misses Barker and Canon, Dorothy Norman Cropper, Verna K. Watson, Dorothy Elise Gray and William Detwiler. Nearly fifty undergraduates took part in the long program, in which the numbers followed rapidly, and were made up of toe, character, Oriental, interpretive and national folk dances and ballroom dances, and a French and an Argentine tango.

The costumes for the various character and other dances were colorful. Not the least difficult number was a Japanese dance by Emily Dean, in an exquisite hand-painted kimono in gray and white, with a flame-colored obi, in which she bounced a huge ball, larger than her head, with much grace and never once missed catching it when doing her difficult steps.

WOMAN SEEKS JUDGESHIP.

Magistrate Norris May Succeed Olvany in General Sessions.

Magistrate Jean H. Norris announced yesterday that she was a candidate for appointment by Governor Smith to a Judgeship on the General Sessions bench, caused by the resignation of Judge George W. Olvany when he accepted the leadership of Tammany Hall. The Magistrate made the statement when she appeared in Homicide Court in the afternoon to dispose of two cases, holding one man for the Grand Jury and discharging two others. It was the first time that a woman had presided in that court.

"Do you expect to get the appointment?" she was asked.

"I hope to very much," the Magistrate replied.

David Fitzgerald, 28 years old, of 70 East End Avenue, was the first prisoner arraigned before her. He was held in $5,000 bail for the Grand Jury on a charge of driving a bus on Avenue A at Eighty-eighth Street which killed Patrick Garvey, 75 years old, of 405 East Eighty-seventh Street, on July 16.

Vincenzo Facciponte, 52 years old, of 22 East 100th Street, and Salvator Casello, 39 years old, of 327 East 107th Street, were freed.

BARRED FROM THE MAILS.

Two "Astrological Interpretation" Concerns Declared Fraudulent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Two "astrological interpretation" enterprises of Greater New York will be barred from the mails, Postmaster General New announced this afternoon, because they had been conducting schemes for obtaining money through the mails by false and fraudulent means.

According to postoffice inspectors, the Asta Studio of New York City made $281,250 by selling "zodiac emblem" rings worth 35 cents each to the public for $2.25, while the Zodiac Research Society charged $2 for its rings, which were worth 33 cents each. Fraud orders have been issued against both concerns.

The Asta Studio is a trade name under which Derrick L. Boardman and L. Sonneck conduct a business largely devoted to the sale of jewelry, novelties, etc., the inspectors state. Sonneck, they assert, was at one time an officer in the merchant marine and claimed that the knowledge of the solar system he then obtained caused him to become interested in astrology and in the possibility of forecasting future events.

FOUR MEN ABDUCT GIRL.

While her elder sister and godmother were struggling to protect her, Beatrice Carbamela, 16 years old, of 58 Madison Street, Hoboken, was seized by four men in North Bergen, N. J., yesterday morning and driven away in an automobile. The police of the latter town, who believe the girl was abducted by a former sweetheart, were still searching for her last night.

Beatrice, her sister, Anna, and Mrs. Joseph Muse were nearing a handkerchief factory at Paterson Avenue and Hudson Boulevard when the automobile drew up. Four men stepped out and shoved Beatrice into the car and disappeared with her to the south on Hudson Boulevard. Anna fainted and was taken to the North Hudson Hospital, Weehawken, in an ambulance.

The three days' public auction of the furniture and appointments of the residence of the late Victor Herbert, by Eugene Freund of the Embassy Art and Auction Galleries, terminated yesterday afternoon at the composer's home, 321 West 108th Street. The entire collection, which included autographed books, music scores and manuscripts, brought about $25,000. Much of the furniture, rugs and belongings were purchased by the new owner of the house, Captain Damer of Buffalo.

A Welte-Mignon baby grand reproducing piano brought $1,300, the highest price paid yesterday. J. C. Rosenthal and Gene Buck, President of the American Society of Composers, Artists and Publishers, bid in a number of articles.

NICHOLSON ATTACKS B. M. T. BUS PROJECT

Corporation Counsel Asserts Control of More Streets Will Not Be Permitted.

SAID TO SPEAK FOR HYLAN

Praises Mayor's Traction Stand and Insists City Operate Any New Lines.

Unqualified opposition by the Hylan Administration to the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation's projected inauguration of an auxiliary passenger bus service was registered yesterday by George P. Nicholson, Corporation Counsel.

Gerhard M. Dahl, Chairman of the board of the B. M. T., outlined on Thursday his company's plan for such a service, beginning with the initial purchase of ten double-deck buses for Aug. 1 delivery. Thursday the Corporation Counsel made no comment. Since then, it is believed in City Hall circles, he has communicated with Mayor Hylan in California. Then, when his statement was issued, there was nothing equivocal about it.

"Too long has the B. M. T. exercised control over the streets of the City of Brooklyn," said Mr. Nicholson. "Their efforts to add to the streets that they now control additional sections will not be permitted."

Mr. Nicholson said that buses must be operated for the benefit of the people that use them. He declared himself for municipal operation.

Mr. Nicholson's Statement.

Mr. Nicholson's statement follows:

"I am not at all surprised to read in the public press the statement of the Chairman of the B. M. T. Board in regard to the plan that has been devised by the B. M. T. to undertake the operation of buses.

"Ever since Mayor Hylan was elected it has been his plan and object to provide the people of the city with up-to-date, modern, sanitary and commodious transportation. He has gone before the State legislators continuously with the object of securing the right for the municipality to provide this kind of transportation for the people. His contention has been that the poor man has an equal right with the rich to have automobile transportation. Evey effort that has been made by him has met with opposition on the part of the transit crowd. The railroad company and corporation managers have realized the fact that the transportation lines, as they are now operated, do not and cannot serve the public.

"The existence of this emergency in the transit affairs of the city has been recognized by the Legislature. The needs of the people have been apparent for some time to the Republican Legislature and to the Republican leaders and the corporate interests that control the streets of the City of New York. But never until the present moment have they recognized the fact that the remedy advocated by the Mayor was the only solution for the difficulty that confronts the traveling public of the City of New York.

Calls Hylan Plan Only Way Out.

"As transit experts engaged in the matter of management and operation of transportation lines, the corporate interests have undoubtedly been familiar with the solution presented by Mayor Hylan is the only way out of the difficulty in our transportation situation. His plan not only provides for the relief of the traveling public, but it also provides for thier freedom forever from the laughing theatrical barons.

"The solution that the transit corporation ow offer is one that the Mayor has advocated for many years, but his advocacy meant that the profits from this kind of operation were to go into the pockets of the people to provide for further increased facilities, but not into the pockets of the traction trusts.

"Again and again has the Legislature been importuned by the Mayor to pass laws that would give complete control of the development of an adequate bus system to the municipal authorization. Authorization has been sought to expend sums of money in the purchase of buses to develop the new arteries of travel so necessary for the public. All these bus operations that the municipality desires to undertake have always been planned to be operated at a 5-cent fare. Nothing has been said as to the cost of transportation that the B. M. T. desires to afford to thetraveling public. The old fight for the 5-cent fare is still with us and must be maintained.

"A complete system of development and control of the transit situation that exists in the City of New York was presented to the Legislature through the instrumentality of Mayor Hylan in the Donohue-Walker bill in the Legislature of 1923, and the same legislation was again presented in the session of the Legislature that has just closed. The only relief, however, that the Legislature was reluctantly willing to afford was to give to the municipality the right to supervise and build new lines of travel, leaving open the question as to the regulation, operation and control of these lines of travel to some subsequent period of time.

Warns Public to Be on Guard.

"The full and adequate brand of power that has been demanded of the Legislature by Mayor Hylan and that is adequate for the safety and security of the inhabitants of the City of New York must be had. The public must not allow themselves to be lulled into calm security in regard to their transit facilities. The approval that has now been given by the transit corporations to bus operation is but an added argument that has been presented to the Legislature to secure this form of travel under municipal operation and control.

"The history of private operation in the City of New York has been one of continuous application to the Federal courts to be relieved of unwisely acquired debts and burdens that were never contracted for the benefit of the traveling public, but have been the result of manipulations of the transit facilities of the City of New York for the enrichment of the individuals who control these arteries of travel. Not only has the public been deprived of the adequate facilities for transportation, but it has also been made the victim of these reorganizations.

"No bus system that attaches itself to the old companies with the burdens and obligations that now rest upon them, and that would be transferred to the new operations, can provide the relief the public that must look to them. Buses must be operated in the City of New York for the benefit of the people who use them. They must not be made the adjunct to pay dividends on the lines which, by the inadequate service they render, have ceased to make a profit for their operators.

Urges Municipal Operation.

"The returns from bus operation must be used to create a fund to continue to add to this method of transportation. Only by having the municipality operate these buses can such a transit condition be created and maintained.

"Too long has the B. M. T. exercised control over the streets of the City of Brooklyn. Their efforts to add to the streets that they now control additional sections will not be permitted.

"The traveling public of the Borough of Brooklyn, as also of all the other boroughs of the city, are in need of this bus service. Now is the time for the people of the whole city to consider this matter. In a few months they will be called upon to select members for the Legislature, and they should see to it that men who will properly represent their problems and their needs are sent to Albany, so that the legislation that is so necessary to install this adequate bus system is finally placed upon the statute books of the city and the transit relief that is now admitted, even by the transit trust, to be necessary for the traveling public shall be installed under municipal control without further delays."

THOUSANDS MOURN MRS. ROSIE GREEN

Cantors Chant Hymns in Front of Three Jewish Theatres Where the Actress Had Played.

Unusual funeral ceremonies for Mrs. Rosie Silbert Green, who was killed Sunday in the crash between the steamship Boston and the tanker Swift Arrow, were held yesterday at the Hebrew Actors' Union, 31 Seventh Street, in the neighborhood where the well-known Jewish actress was born and reared. Her gray coffin banked high with flowers occupied the small stage in the building and was passed in solemn homage by thousands of residents of the lower east side.

The building was draped in black and over the door was a large picture of the actress in costume. Following the funeral ceremony the cortège, to pay respect to her life's work, passed three theatres where she had played. Two of these amusement halls were on the east side, the Second Avenue Theatre and the National Theatre, and the other one was the Lyric Theatre in Brooklyn, where she was last seen on the stage. The funeral cortège stopped in front of these theatres while cantors chanted hymns.

To the interment plot of the Jewish Theatrical Alliance in Mount Hebron Cemetery, Flushing, followed the mourners. The funeral procession was not a large one, but the crowd at the Union had to be managed by the police in order to keep the street open.

The actress was married seven weeks ago to Oscar Green of the Hopkinson Theatre, Hopkinson Avenue, Brooklyn, of which her father was part owner.

W. W. RICHARDS DIES, LED HARVARD PARADES

William Whiting Richards of the class of 1855, and next to President Emeritus Eliot said to have been the oldest surviving graduate of Harvard University, died on Thursday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Samuel M. Pope, at 177 Steuben Street, Brooklyn. He was known to most of the younger generation of Harvard men, for he not only took an active part in student and graduate gatherings, but he led many of the parades as a representative of the class of 1855. His death leaves Edwin H. Abbot of Cambridge, Mass., as the sole survivor of the class.

Mr. Richards was born in Boston June 1, 1835, and was a son of Wyatt Richards and Sarah Ruggles Richards. In 1874 he went to Hackensack, N. J., to become principal of the Hackensack Academy. Later he returned to this city and directed a private school for boys. Among his pupils were many boys who became well known in later life.

When he was 70 years old Mr. Richards went to New Jersey again and he served for several years as assistant principal of the Hackensack High School. His retirement rounded out fifty years spent as an educator.

Charles Fiske Bound.

Charles Fiske Bound, who died Thursday in his seventy-seventh year in Nonquitt, Mass., was a member of the Stock Exchange firm of Bound & Co. when he retired from active business in 1884. He was for many years a member of the Downtown Association and the Metropolitan Club, and at the time of his death was one of the oldest members of the Union Club. The late John Fiske, historian, was his first cousin.

CLUB EXCLUDES PREMIER.

Moray Falls to Lift Old Ban Against Ramsay MacDonald.

LONDON, July 25.—Long before it was even dreamed that he would be Prime Minister of England, Ramsay MacDonald was expelled from the Moray Golf Club at Elgin.

Recently there has been a certain amount of satirical humor voiced at the expense of the Moray Club over its decision, so today it held a special meeting to consider a motion to rescind the Prime Minister's expulsion. The motion was carried by 55 votes to 47, but as the Constitution of the club requires a two-thirds vote the original decision stands.

Skiff Resembling That in Which Brokers Left Flushing Is Discovered.

Information was received at Flushing, Queens, last night that a fisherman had found an empty skiff off Block Island, which resembled the skiff attached to the yacht Amateur, which left Flushing for a cruise on Long Island Sound, with three insurance brokers aboard, on July 11 and was due to return last Sunday, but which is believed to have been lost. The missing men were Harold Hudson of Flushing, John Roden of Brooklyn and Edward Roconda of East Elmhurst.

The news of the skiff is the first received since the men were reported missing. A post card from Block Island indicated that port was the last stop of the yacht.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN DEADLOCK.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, July 25.—The Anglo-Russian Conference in London is still in being but it would seem that little progress has been made toward a settlement of the major questions before it, and reports persist that it is now only a matter of days before it breaks down altogether.

It is understood that the drafting of the proposed agreement is virtually completed but certain financial questions are still unsettled. In the absence of such settlement it appears more than probable that no agreement of any sort will be signed.

DODD VISITS DANNEMORA.

Brooklyn District Attorney Said to Seek Evidence on Robberies.

District Attorney Charles J. Dodd of Brooklyn was in Albany yesterday. Assistant District Attorney Thomas Craddock Hughes, acting District Attorney, admitted that Mr. Dodd was away on official business, but he would not disclose its nature.

It was learned, however, from a reliable source that the District Attorney had gone to Dannemora in answer to a letter from an inmate. There are a number of unsolved robberies in Brooklyn, and it was recalled in this connection that when "Eddie" Dougherty and members of his gang were arrested a year ago it was on information given by an inmate of Auburn prison which led to the arrests.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

It was quite evident yesterday that the stock market was undergoing a particularly drastic test of its strength. It had before it the elimination of its common dividend by the country's largest independent steel company because of poor earnings. It had, too, over-Sunday adjournment of the Interallied Conference, marking the end of a full week without a great deal of progress reported toward settlement. Finally and what was probably more important to the Stock Exchange, the market was obliged to face a great amount of profit-taking sales as the week-end approached from those who had purchased stocks earlier in the week.

The effect of this combination of circumstances was to bring about a decidedly irregular market as profits were taken in the more speculative issues. In some directions, however, the advances were continued. This applied most particularly to the railroad shares and to some of the copper stocks. The day's trading represented the ninth consecutive session in which the turnover has exceeded 1,000,000 shares of stock. Incidentally, the strength of the railroad shares was sufficient to bring up the averages to a point where another new high record for the year was established.

The industrial news at the end of the week was considerably more optimistic in tone than that of the end of the previous week. Some of the hopes which had been entertained for business during the last month or so have been translated into actual orders, although forward buying in most of the basic industries continues on a very moderate scale. In commenting on the general situation, Dun's Review remarked that "plainer signs of improvement both in sentiment and in actual business are apparent." Bradstreet's said that "crop conditions and cheap money have furnished the mainsprings of such activity as has been witnessed in trade and speculation." This authority adds that "June seems destined to go on record as the turning point in many primary lines of commodities, just as June saw a distinct gain in grain, stock and bond quotations."

There was another sharp upturn in the grain market yesterday, despite the fact that the crop news from many sections of the country was more optimistic about the final outturn. Gains ranging from 1 to 2 cents to the bushel were established in corn, wheat, oats and rye, while hogs reached the highest price since September, 1923. Some very considerable differences of opinion regarding the outturn of the Canadian crop have developed between officials of the Canadian Government and private investigators and commentators on wheat conditions. It is the claim of the Canadian Government officials that the crop has not been irreparably damaged and that the harvest will compare very favorably with that of last year.

Fresh pressure on the foreign exchange market developed shortly after midday yesterday and after the Interallied Conference had adjourned until Monday. Some of this was to be attributed to profit-taking by speculators in sterling and in francs. It was reported from abroad, however, that New York bankers had been selling sterling and buying dollars throughout the day. Because of the continuation of the "spread" between New York and London rates, it is considered not at all unlikely that these financial operations between the two markets will grow in magnitude from day to day as the Autumn season approaches. It is not yet apparent that London has laid in her usual supply of dollars to meet obligations in the New York market this Fall.

MONEY.

FRIDAY, JULY 25, 1924.

Money wound up the week just as it opened, quotations showing no variation and business no change from that lifeless state in which it has dropped this past month or so. The real reason for lack of demand, that is for Stock Exchange day-to-day accommodation, is because brokers are satisfied to take a chance on the "street" rate, which is 1¼@1½ per cent., compared with 2 per cent. on the board, and, with a certain amount of time money already arranged for, average their needs much below prevailing charges. Both commercial paper and acceptances also coursed through an uninteresting session.

$34,950,000 BONDS OFFERED IN WEEK

New Railroad Issues Aggregate $12,200,000 and State and Municipal Securities $5,956,000.

$8,600,000 OF INDUSTRIALS

Foreign Offerings $5,500,000—Subscription Books Are Closed on Two Rail Obligations.

New bond offerings this week totaled $34,950,000 against $49,757,000 the week before, railroad issues representing more than one-third of this total. In addition, investment bankers sold several issues privately. By groups the offerings of this week compared as follows with the preceding week:

	This Wk.	Last Wk.
Industrial	8,600,000	400,000
State and municipal	5,956,000	17,174,000
Foreign	5,500,000	16,161,000
Land Bank	1,000,000	.....
Insular possessions	200,000	.....
Public utility	.....	8,500,000
Total	$34,950,000	$49,757,000

According to investment bankers, their calendars are clean of new business, save for a few sizable stock issues and one or two bond issues of more than $10,000,000 each. The demand for new bonds was said to have outstripped the supply and, except for some corporate financing, it was thought that little new financing would be done prior to the prospective German loan.

The only new offering announced for today consists of $325,000 first mortgage 6 per cent. two to twelve year serial coupon bonds of the Lister Building, Inc., secured by land and office building for the medical and allied professions of Boston. This offering is made by S. W. Straus & Co.

Closing of subscription books was announced by Dillon, Read & Co. and Hemphill, Noyes & Co. in the $5,000,000 offering of St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Company (Missouri Pacific System) bonds; by Taylor, Ewart & Co., Inc., the Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in the $3,200,000 offering of Peoria & Pekin Union Railway Company bonds; and by the Guaranty Company of New York and Brown Brothers & Co. in the offering of 25,000 shares of Pennsylvania Power and Light Company cumulative preferred stock.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 25.—The City of Springfield today floated a group of bonds totaling $4,134,000, the largest in its history, at a net interest rate for the entire issue of 3.86 per cent. A large part of the loan was negotiated at the rate of 3½ per cent., a rate not equaled in twelve years.

The loan was made by a syndicate of Boston and New York bankers. Of the total, $3,794,000 will be used to pay the city's part in the cost of the Hampden County Memorial Bridge. The rest are school, sewer and park loans. The bonds run from one to thirty years.

SALE OF BANKERS' SHARES.

Firm Issues Statement on Stock Exchange Resolution.

Bonner, Brooks & Co., bankers, who recently offered investment trust certificates, or so-called bankers' shares, in the United American Electric Company, Inc.; United American Railways, Inc., and the United American Chain Stores, Inc., yesterday issued a statement concerning the resolution passed by the Governors of the New York Stock Exchange prohibiting members from participating in the formation of such investment trusts.

The bankers say they are in full accord and sympathy with the resolution, believing that this form of security represents an important movement in the field of investment that should be surrounded by the most careful safeguards.

"Under the trust agreement made with the Empire Trust Company securing the issues of bankers' shares of the companies named," the statement says, "the greatest possible care has been taken properly to protect the interest of the investors therein. The resolution of the Stock Exchange, as pointed out in the press, referred only to participation by the members of the Exchange in the formation and management of investment trust corporations, and did not refer to the sale of the shares of these organizations when the same are issued in such a way as properly to protect the interest of the investor. We believe that this action on the part of the New York Stock Exchange will tend to eliminate the offering of investment trusts in which a substitution of securities is permitted, or under which the securities are not held in trust by a reputable bank or trust company.

"The trust agreements securing the bankers' shares of the above three companies specifically provide that there can be no substitution of securities of other companies."

PASS COMMON DIVIDEND.

Management of Wahl Company Is Transferred to Silas H. Strawn.

Directors of the Wahl Company of Chicago, manufacturers of patented pencils and pens, passed the quarterly dividend of $1 a share due to be declared on the common stock at this time, but declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on the preferred stock, payable Oct. 1.

Following the meeting of Directors it was announced that the management of the company had passed to Silas H. Strawn, who was elected to the newly created position of Chairman of the board. Mr. Strawn issued a statement in which he included a condensed balance sheet of the company as of June 30, 1924, which shows a ratio of current assets over current liabilities of more than 5 to 1. Mr. Strawn said his policy would be conservative and that the reason for the passing of the common dividend at this time was because of the extraordinary expenses incurred earlier this year. He said that unfilled orders on the books at this time total $622,000 against $399,000 a year ago.

ACQUIRES COLUMBIA GAS.

General Corporation Expands Its Holdings in South Carolina.

The General Gas and Electric Corporation announced yesterday that it had concluded negotiations for the acquisition of the Columbia Railway, Gas and Electric Company of Columbia, S. C. The purchase carries with it the various subsidiaries: Parr Shoals Power Company, Columbia Gas Company, Central Carolina Power Company and the South Carolina Power Company.

The announcement followed the recent purchase by the General Gas and Electric Company of the South Carolina Gas and Electric Company of Spartanburg. With the acquisition of the Columbia Railway, Gas and Electric Company the General Gas and Electric now serves in South Carolina a population of about 150,000, with a gross business of about $2,500,000.

It is proposed to connect the two sections, which lie about 100 miles apart, and to construct a new steam plant and additional water-power plant to take care of new business.

RAILROADS PLAN CAMPAIGN.

Will Start Movement to Arouse Public Interest in Their Needs.

Railroads of the United States, with investments aggregating $22,000,000,000, and with more than two million security holders, are preparing plans for a campaign in which their needs and ambitions will be presented to the public.

The campaign will be carried on by the American Railway Association, the Eastern Presidents' Conference, the Shippers' Advisory Boards and the individual railroads. Speakers will be sent to all sections of the country in an effort to get the railroad situation before the general public.

Among the matters which will be explained in detail will be the Transportation act of 1920 and the benefits accomplished through its operation.

GAIN IN LIFE INSURANCE.

Sales in Second Quarter the Highest on Record.

Sales of ordinary life insurance in the second quarter of this year were higher than in any other quarter on record, according to the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. In a statement issued yesterday the bureau said that the sales of life insurance in every month this year have been higher than in the corresponding month a year ago, but that the rate of increase compared with last year has been gradually declining until in June it was only 1 per cent. more than a year ago. For the first half year the increase compared with 1923 was 9 per cent.

The cities of Boston, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, New York and Philadelphia were among those to report gains. The Middle Atlantic and the Pacific States lead the rest of the country.

IndianaPower Income.

The Indiana Power Company reports for June a net income of $43,015, against $42,916 for the same month in 1923.

E. H. Miller, President of the Newark Yellow Cab Company, has been elected a director of the recently organized North End Trust Company of Newark.

$20,000,000 BONDS FOR PUBLIC SERVICE

New Jersey Utility Corporation to Sell Issue to Yield 6.25 to 6.50 Per Cent.

WILL CUT FIXED CHARGES

The Public Service Corporation of New Jersey will sell $20,000,000 of new bonds, proceeds of which will be used to retire higher interest-bearing issues now outstanding. The offering probably will be made next Monday, and it was understood yesterday that Drexel & Co. of Philadelphia and Bonbright & Co., Inc., of New York would participate in the syndicate. The bonds will bear 6 per cent. coupons and will be marketed, it is understood, to yield 6.25 to 6.50 per cent., or thereabouts, representing a large reduction in fixed charges. The financing is the first move to raise new money in the plan recently announced for the reorganization of the company's capital structure.

Under this plan the corporation is consolidating its electric and gas companies, is substituting certain new bond issues for old issues and proposes to redeem its twenty-year 7 per cent. secured gold bonds now outstanding. These bonds total nearly $10,000,000. The balance, it was reported, would be employed in carrying out other purposes of the readjustment.

The New Jersey utility filed yesterday with the Secretary of State of New Jersey a merger certificate whereby the Public Service Electric Company, the Public Service Gas Company and the United Electric Company of New Jersey will be welded into one unit under the name of the Public Service Electric and Gas Company. The consolidated corporation will have a capital stock of 20,000,000 shares of no par common stock, 200,000 shares of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred and 100,000 6½ per cent. cumulative preferred shares, both the preferred issues being of $100 par.

These stocks will be exchanged for present outstanding shares. The present capital stock of the Public Service Electric Company of $43,250,000 common ($100 par) will be exchanged for 4,325,000 common shares of the consolidated corporation. Present capital stock of the United Electric Company, consisting of 20,000,000 shares ($100 par), will be exchanged for 200,000 shares of 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock of the consolidated corporation. The capital stock of the Public Service Gas Company, amounting to 21,000,000 shares ($100 par), will be exchanged for 2,100,000 common shares of the consolidated corporation. The remaining 13,575,000 common shares and 100,000 shares of preferred stock of the new consolidated company will be left to the discretionary use of directors, who may issue them from time to time to provide for improvements in property.

The plan for readjustment of capital also carries with it a plan for aggressive upbuilding of bus lines in New Jersey as feeders to the trolley lines of the corporation's electric railway division. The electric railway and bus line systems will cooperate closely, but they will not be merged under present plans into one company.

AIR REDUCTION INCOME.

Net Profit for Six Months Equal to $5.82 a Share on Stock.

Gross income of $4,813,304 is reported by the Air Reduction Company, Inc., for the six months ended June 30, 1924, against $5,083,049 in the same period last year. After all expenses, interest and other fixed charges, net profit was $1,111,851, equal to $5.82 a share earned on the 190,871 shares of no par value capital stock outstanding, against net profit of $1,317,670 in the first six months of last year.

For the June quarter alone net profit was $514,818, equal to $2.69 a share earned on the capital stock, against $3.13 a share earned on the capital stock in the first quarter of 1924 and $4.22 a share earned in the June quarter last year.

Beginning March 22, 1923, the Stock Exchange officially quotes Liberty bonds in units and fractions, the fractions being 32ds of a unit, and the quotations after the decimal point representing one or more 32ds. In the above table, therefore, the figures of highest and lowest prices during 1924 and since date of issue are reduced to the form now used in the Stock Exchange quotations.

RAILROADS REPORT DECLINE IN TRAFFIC

Lehigh Valley Manages to Raise Its Income Over Same Month Last Year.

Traffic 10 per cent. under 1923 on the railroads of the United States is reflected in the earning reports for the month of June made public yesterday. Fourteen reports from carriers, large and small, in all sections of the country, with a single exception, showed a decline in gross income. In no less than five instances the gross business for the period was under that of the same month in 1922.

Outstanding in the reports, however, was the dollars and cents evidence of the strenuous efforts made by almost every railroad in the country to cut down its operating expenses so that it would be within its income. Many of them were remarkably successful in this respect. The Lehigh Valley, for example, reported a loss of more than three-quarters of a million dollars in its gross business for June but showed an operating income slightly greater than for the same period of 1923.

Typical of the conditions in the railroad industry during the month of June and for the first six months of the year was the report of the New York Central Lines. Gross income for the month was $30,158,143, against $37,931,291 in the same month of last year. The strenuous program to curtail operating expenses resulted in a saving of $4,464,598 but still left the net operating income of the company for the month of June at $6,025,744, which is $3,035,816 less than for the same month of 1923.

New York Central's gross income for the first half of the year was $183,133,728, or $30,384,849 less than for the same period of 1923. As the result the net operating income for the six months amounted to $20,831,086, against $39,848,234 in 1923.

Among the exceptions to this general trend were at least two of the anthracite carriers, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western and Lehigh Valley. For the first half of the year the report of the Lackawanna, with a net income of $7,281,604, compared with $5,373,650 in 1923, makes the first half of this year the most successful in the history of the company. Gross income for the six months' period was $42,890,674, against $43,200,096 in 1923, and $35,882,808 in 1922. The net operating income for the month of June was only $1,341,507, against $1,929,721 on account of the gross income being $7,101,281, compared with $8,005,941.

Net operating income of the Lehigh Valley for June was $1,026,688, compared with $1,012,023 last year, thus bringing the net for the six months up to $5,127,045, compared with $5,031,720 the same period of last year. The gross income of the property for the first half of the year was $37,320,730, compared with $36,280,628.

GASOLINE STOCKS LOWER.

Special to The New York Times.

TULSA, Okla., July 25.—The 141 refineries in the mid-continent district, members of the Western Petroleum Refiners Association, report surplus stocks of 124,658,000 gallons on hand as of July 19, against 130,234,000 at the close of the previous week, a reduction of 4.1 per cent. Crude oil runs in the week of July 19 aggregated 1,642,000 barrels against 1,631,000 the week before, an increase of 0.7 per cent.

Production of gasoline last week aggregated 27,245,000 gallons, a decrease of 5.8 per cent., compared with the previous week when production amounted to 28,931,000 gallons. Shipments last week amounted to 32,623,000 gallons, a decrease of 0.3 per cent. compared with shipments of 32,798,000 gallons the week before. Surplus stocks of gasoline on hand July 19 were the smallest reported in several months.

GAIN IN STOCKHOLDERS.

Pennsylvania System Reports Its Number Is Now 145,866.

Partly on account of the buying by the general public and partly because of the increase in holdings by employes of the railroad, the Pennsylvania System yesterday reported that there were now 145,866 stockholders in the railroad, an increase of 1,638 since the first of the year and 5,867 since July 1, 1923. The average holding is now 68.46 shares.

The geographical distribution of the stock is as follows: 50.76 per cent. in Pennsylvania, 20.44 per cent. in New York, 9.26 per cent. in New England, and 3.76 per cent abroad. Women held 32.77 per cent of the shares, an increase of three-quarters of 1 per cent. compared with a year ago. In numbers they represented almost one-half of the stockholders of the company with a total of 70,798.

Hercules Powder Earnings Less.

The Hercules Powder Company reports gross receipts of $10,324,688 for the six months ended June 30, 1924, against $11,615,883 in the same period last year, and net earnings of $879,573, after all charges and taxes, against $1,512,506 last year. After preferred dividends, the company reports a surplus of $519,653, equal to $3.63 a share earned on the $14,300,000 common stock outstanding, against a surplus of $1,157,411, equal to $8.09 a share earned on the common stock in the first six months of 1923.

DOHENY DENIES AGAIN.

Oil Man Declares No One Has Option on His Stock.

Edward L. Doheny, Chairman of Directors of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport Company, yesterday again denied that he has intention of retiring from the oil business and selling his interests in the companies which he controls to other organizations, according to advices received in the financial district yesterday from the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Doheny is credited with the statement that "there never has been a time since I have been in business that I have not had some individual or organization seeking an option on my stock and there never has been a time when I would not have sold if the price had been right. But there are no negotiations pending either with the Standard Oil of Indiana, Royal Dutch or any individuals for the sale of Pan American. Neither has any one or any company an option on the majority of stock."

Reports were recently circulated in the financial district to the effect that Mr. Doheny was negotiating to sell his controlling interest to the companies mentioned. Reports also had it that Union Oil of California was negotiating for control. At the time the reports were circulated it was said that "no authentic information could be obtained at this time because the interests involved did not want the information to get out."

INSULL ELECTED CHAIRMAN.

Samuel Insull, the head of the Insull public utility enterprises, of which the Middle West Utilities Company is the controlling company, has been elected to the newly created position of chairman of the board of this company. He has been succeeded as president by Martin J. Insull, his brother. The latter has been vice president of the Middle West Utilities Company.

Four additional vice presidents were elected, E. V. Graham, W. C. Sharp, George W. Hamilton, and A. J. Authenreith. John F. Gilchrist will continue as a Vice President. Samuel Insull Jr., was recently elected a director.

Moody's Review on Stocks.

The activity and strength of the stock market is logical enough, according to Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions. In its current issue it says:

"With interest rates continuing low and with the wave of optimism which is being created by the outlook for a successful settlement of the European problem, and with the more constructive prospects in domestic politics, a far-reaching return of confidence is naturally first reflected in Wall Street."

GENERAL BUSINESS TENDS TO IMPROVE

Further improvement was recorded in general business during the past week, according to the trade reviews of the larger mercantile agencies. Better crop reports came to hand, accompanied by higher farm prices, and more buying was noted in the primary markets. The retail trade is reflecting midsummer conditions and higher temperatures, but in manufacturing industries conditions are characterized as "only fair." Increased demand, on the whole, is noticeable in copper and other non-ferrous metals, steel, cotton goods, silk and wool, with some manufacturers limiting orders for future delivery on the theory that prices will rise further in the Autumn.

Commenting on conditions in general Dun's Review says in part:

"Plainer signs of improvement, both in sentiment and in actual business, have lately appeared. On the whole, this week's reports are noticeably better, and they are the more significant because demand in primary channels usually does not increase during the Summer. Yet supplies in different instances have reached a state, after many months of restricted buying, where their replenishment has become necessary, and recent price reductions have been an added stimulus to purchasing."

Bradstreet's says in part:

"Crop conditions and cheap money have furnished the mainsprings of what activity has been witnessed in trade and speculation. Except for some uncertainty in parts of the cotton belt and damage in Pacific Coast and mountain States areas, the domestic crop situation has shown unquestionable improvement, reports as to Winter and Spring wheat and corn having pointed to further gains in possible yields.

"Strength in the markets for raw materials noted in the widespread advances of last week has been undiminished, the non-ferrous metals, indeed, showing quite distinct gains. The long predicted gain in demand for steel has seemed to make its appearance in several big centres, and there are some reports of better buying of automobiles."

FURTHER REALIZING DEPRESSES COTTON

JULY OPERATIONS AT END

Realizing operations again proved the feature in cotton yesterday and brought a half cent decline in prices. Though official reports reflected no rainfall in Texas, showers over Oklahoma and Arkansas, with predictions of showers in Texas and persistent private advices that rains had begun falling in parts of the Southwest, exerted an unsettling effect on the market. A sharp rally of three-quarters of a cent occurred about midday, which started liquidation on the most extensive scale so far this month, and left prices around low levels of the session. The July operation was finally completed, so far as the contract position was concerned, that month ending at 34.95. On a very large volume of business final quotations showed a loss of 48 to 55 points. Spot cotton quotations were reported reduced 275 points at Little Rock, to a basis of 27.50.

Private weather advices had operated to depress Liverpool before the local opening, and prices abroad had declined about 15 English points at one time. Heavy liquidation soon after the opening here carried October below 28 cents, when evidence that Texas had received no rainfall of importance during the previous twenty-four hours, together with eleventh-hour covering of July, steadied the market. Final trading in July took place around 35 cents, or about a cent and a half from highest records made during the life of that month, the latter part of November. This was 660 points over October, and well off the board a wave of buying in October, particularly in New Orleans, rushed prices up three-quarters of a cent. But the advance developed realizing on a large scale. The quantity of cotton appearing in the market increased in volume until the entire recovery had been wiped out, and prices broke a cent a pound, reaching the low figures of the session in the last hour.

Weather details showed thirty-six stations in Texas more than 100 degrees, the largest number so far this season. There were virtually no official reports of rainfall in that State, but eighteen stations in Oklahoma reported moisture. Temperatures in Louisiana, Mississipi, Alabama and Georgia were highest of the year, many points being more than 100 and some stations more than 105 to 110 degrees maximum.

Week-end figures showed an in-sight movement of 43,000 bales, against 41,000 last year, making 11,209,000 for the season, against 11,052,000 last year. Spinners took 113,000, against 105,000 last year, making 11,126,000 for the season, against 12,122,000 last year. The visible supply decreased 57,000 bales, against 63,000 last year, leaving the supply of American 952,000, compared with 897,000 a year ago. The world's visible supply of all kinds of cotton is now 2,224,000, compared with 2,191,000 a year ago.

ROAD ATTACKS BOND ISSUE.

Boston & Albany Objects to Order of Public Utilities Board.

BOSTON, July 25.—The Boston & Albany Railroad Company, in a petition filed in the State Supreme Court today, asks the annulment of an order of the State Department of Public Utilities issued on July 1, authorizing the issue of $1,500,000,000 of bonds of the railroad company. The order was issued at the request of the New York Central Railroad, lessee, the proceeds of the bonds to be used for permanent improvements.

The Boston & Albany asserts that the department had no jurisdiction to compel issuance of the bonds without the approval of the Directors of the Boston & Albany and that the order impairs the obligations of the lease.

CHICAGO WHEAT MAKES NEW HIGH

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Heavy buying of wheat futures here and at Winnipeg, part of which was credited to seaboard and foreign interests, swept values in both markets to a new high on the crop, with the finish about the top. Realizing sales here were on an immense scale at $1.32 for September, and $1.35 for May brought about a reaction in the local market at the last, but net gains were 1¼@2¼ cents, while Winnipeg, after showing an extreme advance of 5½ cents for the day, gained 4¼@4½ cents. July there, which was 12 cents under Chicago at one time some weeks ago, closed nearly 12 cents over this market, with October 8⅝ cents over, gaining 3⅝ cents on Chicago September in two days.

Figures suggesting that on the basis of the latest crop estimates exporting countries of the world had somewhat less wheat to spare than the recent estimates on world's import needs were presented to the trade by J. P. Griffin of J. S. Bache & Co. and attracted considerable attention, especially as cables told of dry weather in Argentina and Australia, which are expected to furnish over 300,000,000 bushels for foreigners when the new crops are harvested. Liverpool surprised the trade by closing 2½@2⅝ pence higher in the face of the decline in American markets the previous day with a better milling demand. Flour trade is fair, but the general disposition on the part of bakers and others is to take supplies only as required. Orders on the books of Southwestern mills are not large, and supplies in distributers' hands are relatively small.

Cash transactions, who have been talking 300,000,000 bushels for the three provinces of late, apparently have given up the idea of talking better than an average crop and have commenced to revise their estimates downward. Reports from American experts continue bullish, but there was a strong belief noted in some quarters that rain in the next week might improve conditions materially in some quarters. Rust reports are increasing from Manitoba and were confirmed by Canadian interests today, although there has been no claim of damage sent in from any source so far. It is regarded as a race between the rust and the harvester as to which gets the crop, with weather conditions at the moment favorable for the development of rust.

Primary arrivals of wheat today, 1,700,000; week ago, 1,370,000; last year, 2,479,000. Shipments, 749,000; week ago, 448,000; last year, 998,000. Purchases of wheat to arrive were estimated at 750,000 bushels.

Buying of December corn by a local operator who sold out a big line of wheat early was instrumental in starting the advance in that market, which put the deferred deliveries up 2¼c to 2⅝c for the day, with December at the top equalling the best figure of the season. July and September were dull and gained ¾c to 1c, September being for sale throughout the day at $1.05. Shorts in the July may be forced to pay up to cover their sales.

Primary arrivals for the day were 865,000; week ago, 846,000; last year, 786,000. Shipments were 444,000; week ago, 439,000; last year, 523,000.

Oats gained ½c to 1¼c and rye 1¼c to 1¾c, with local professionals good buyers of oats, while a leading speculator was credited with buying rye on account of its big discount under wheat.

MRS. T. H. WHITNEY FREED.

Woman Lawyer and Son Had Been Charged With Traffic Violation.

Mrs. Rosalie Loew Whitney of 212 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, well known as a lawyer and wife of Travis H. Whitney, Vice President of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation, and her son, Travis H. Whitney Jr., were discharged yesterday in the Fifth Avenue Police Court when arraigned before Magistrate George H. Folwell on a complaint of disorderly conduct preferred by Policeman James H. Masterson of the Fourth Avenue Precinct.

Mrs. Whitney and her son were motoring on Thursday evening when traffic on Fourth Avenue was halted by Policeman Masterson to permit passage of vehicles through Fifty-eighth Street. After the clearing of traffic through the side street, the policeman, according to witnesses, blew his whistle and gave the signal for the traffic on one side of Fourth Avenue to proceed. The drivers of cars on the other side on which was the Whitney machine became impatient and made an uproar with their horns.

Young Whitney, according to his mother, touched the horn of their car only once when Policeman Masterson approached and after some words put both Mrs. Whitney and her son under arrest. They were taken to the station house where they were later bailed out.

"Why did you not serve these people with a summons. They are respectable persons?" asked Magistrate Folwell of the policeman after he heard testimony in the case.

"They would not identify themselves," replied Masterson.

"Our drivers' licenses were available," interjected Mrs. Whitney.

"This seems to be a pretty lame case," said Magistrate Folwell to Masterson and turning to Mrs. Whitney and her son said, "I honorably discharge both of you."

Mr. Whitney was in court with his wife and son and asserted that he would take the case "further."

Fall Coat Stocks None Too Heavy.

Cloak manufacturers' stocks are low, and an acute shortage of models in the latest smooth-faced fabrics when cool weather comes is predicted by the manufacturers. The head of one of the largest coat houses said yesterday that the policy of hand-to-mouth buying would result this year, more than ever before, in a scramble for merchandise by September. Mills have carried over large quantities of the pile fabrics so popular last season, when there was great overproduction of them, and as a result have been unusually cautious in manufacturing piece goods for Fall. There is, therefore, a real shortage of the new fabrics. Of these the suede-face materials are most favored for coats, in Autumn shades that include browns, reds and some greens. The furs that are best adapted to these fabrics as trimmings are Jap mink, squirrel and beaver.

Women's Umbrellas Are Novel.

Women's umbrellas and parasols are being shown in a wider variety of styles and prices at present than ever before. The sixteen-rib models, with very thick and very short handles and rods and stub ferrules, are superseding the more conventional styles in most quarters. They come in many different colors and color combinations, black and white stripes and plaids being especially smart. Most of them have borders in two-tone or contrasting color effects. The handles of the newest models are of hand-carved bakilite or coral, with silver-tipped ribs and ferrules. The wholesale prices range from $4 to $18.

Nine-Inch Veilings Liked Most.

The most popular veilings at the moment are the nine-inch widths, with borders of metal thread varying in width from half an inch to three inches. Europe and Fashion centers are showing this style almost exclusively, said a leading importer yesterday. There are also many drapes selling, ranging from semi-circular styles to large squares. Tulle scarfs, measuring 18 by 72 inches and ranging up to 36 by 72 inches, are extremely popular in black, white and all the evening shades. Most of these scarfs are fringed on the ends and some all around. They are also having a tremendous vogue in Europe.

Wide Belts Are Called For.

The new high-waisted, wide-legged trousers have created a demand for a wide belt that is one of the best-selling items on the list of a manufacturer of the more exclusive haberdashery. Tailors are making the belt-loops larger to permit the passing of wide belts, as young men refuse to wear suspenders, especially in hot weather, and the narrow belts are not satisfactory worn with the English type trousers. Many of the new belts are made of silk webbing in brilliant college and regimental colors. The latest model, however, is a two-inch belt of cowhide with a large plated brass buckle. This style also comes with the double-ring or "cinch" buckle that was popular twenty years ago.

Imported Rugs Selling Better.

Decorators who for some years past have used only plain carpets are turning once more to Oriental rugs as being more decorative than the solid-color chenilles, according to the head of one of the largest importing houses. At the May openings there was very little buying of imported rugs, and business was unusually quiet throughout the Spring and early Summer. In the last two weeks, however, there has been some activity, and the indications are that Fall business will be up to normal. Prices are firm, and it is possible that there may be a 5 per cent. advance later in the season. Merchandise is coming in satisfactorily, and there is no shortage of the medium grade rugs. In the finer weaves, however, there is some scarcity in the most popular sizes.

Gray Goods Were Less Active.

Although trading was less active yesterday in the local gray goods market than on Thursday, a sizable volume of business was done and prices were very firm. Important sales of printcloths during the day included 39-inch 68-72s at 10¾ cents, 38½-inch 64-60s at 9¼ cents and 38½-inch 60-48s at 8 cents, all for July-August delivery. In the sheetings, 36-inch 5-yard goods were sold at 9¼ cents and 5.50s in the same width at 8⅛ cents. Eleven cents was the best that could be done for 37-inch 48-square, 4-yard sheetings. For 37-inch 3.95-yard drills buyers paid 13½ cents. Sales of pajama checks were made at 9¼ cents for the 64-60s and 11¼ cents for the 72-80s.

To Repeat Salesmen's Contest.

The success in 1922 and 1923 of the country-wide salesmen's contest to stimulate late Summer business was so marked that it has been decided to repeat it this year, it was announced yesterday by a committee of nationally known business executives. Cash prizes aggregating $500 are offered to the contestants, and in the previous contests thousands of salesmen competed. The prizes will be awarded to the men who make the best sales in August from the viewpoint of resourcefulness and initiative. The contest is open to all salesmen in the United States and Canada, and the reports of the contestants must be mailed by Sept. 15 to Bartlett Arkell, President of the Beech-Nut Packing Company, Canajoharie, N. Y. Mr. Arkell is Chairman of the committee conducting the contest.

Hard Coal Trade Unsatisfactory.

Conditions in the anthracite trade are far from satisfactory, Saward's Journal will say today, but the official figures do not reveal any great falling off in production. The output is only about 10 per cent. below that of a year ago, when the producing interests were swamped with orders and were making every effort to get out a maximum tonnage. A few small independents have closed down. Others, including some of the larger ones, are cutting down their working schedules. So much can be ascertained, however, none of the line companies has been obliged to curtail as yet, although part of their output is being stocked. The only improvement in the bituminous trade is in its statistical position. Coal is being burned faster than it is being mined, and stock piles are melting away.

Paper Mills Face Rag Shortage.

Faced with a marked shortage of rags necessary for producing the finest grades of writing papers, manufacturers of these papers have appealed to Secretary of Commerce Hoover to assist them in developing a reserve stock. The request was made yesterday by E. H. Naylor, Secretary of the Writing Paper Manufacturers' Association, who said that the shortage was due to three things. The housewife is no longer saving rags for sale to the waster material dealers, he explained; rag imports from Europe have been cut in half, and there is a marked diversion of available supplies to the makers of paint roofings and floor coverings. Some of the writing paper mills, according to Mr. Naylor, now have only three or four days' supply, despite this being the dullest operating season of the year. His suggestion to Secretary Hoover was that the Government could help through the inauguration of a nation-wide campaign to save rags similar to that conducted during the war.

Three Fall Colors Well Liked.

Retailers, both here and out of town, are already beginning to feature the colors chosen for Fall by the National Garment Retailers' Association. Considerable window display space is being given to familiarizing consumers with the three new shades—shutter green, burnt russet and Venetian fuchsia-sand, according to John W. Hahn, secretary of the association, the general trade reaction has been most favorable. Of the three shades shutter green, for coatings, has attracted the greatest interest, as it is use is broadest. Either the other two, which are for afternoon and evening wear. Some of the leading mills making coatings report that interest in this green has more than doubled since it has been sponsored by the association.

DRY GOODS STATIONARY.

Special to The New York Times.

"Current wholesale distribution of drygoods was about equal to a week ago and was exceeded only slightly by last year's total for the same week. Road sales maintained the same volume as last week and exceeded that of a year ago for the same period.

"There were fewer customers in the market than last week, but more than in 1923 during the corresponding period. Collections were about the same as for the corresponding week last year."

PATENT COLLAR SUIT.

Defendants in Injunction Must Put Up Bond Pending Appeal.

Federal Judge Learned Hand, in a recent decision, supported the contention made in an injunction action begun by John M. Van Heusen and the Phillips-Jones Company that two other collar-making concerns, Earl & Wilson and Cluett, Peabody & Co., had infringed upon two of their patents for making semi-soft collars. Judge Hand has since made an order which permits the defendants to continue making the collars complained of by putting up a bond aggregating $100,000 pending appeal.

The patents which were infringed upon were obtained by John Blakeslee Bolton, a weaver of Philadelphia, and transferred to the Van Heusen interests. It was reported that contemplated actions against other concerns making the collars will be delayed until the close of the pending proceedings.

THE WEEK'S PRICE TREND.

Advances Again Exceeded Declines, With Revisions Numerous.

Both the number of revisions and the number of advances shown by Dun's list of wholesale commodities were greater this week than last. Ninety-nine changes took place in the current list, and of these 70 were advances. Last week, in 82 revisions, there were 61 advances. Relatively few of the changes took place in the foodstuffs, but this division of the general list showed slightly more than two advances for every decline. The chief strength, from the viewpoint of the number of advances indicated, was shown by domestic wool.

The following list gives the minimum wholesale prices quoted on selected standard commodities this week. They are corrected to yesterday, and with them are given comparative prices for this week and the corresponding week a year ago:

Eleven of the sixteen changes in the foodstuffs were upward this week. In the local market provisions Middle Western lard and bacon were higher. Hams and fancy Minnesota flour did not change, but declines of 25 and 5 cents a barrel, respectively, were seen in Spring patent and Winter soft straight flours. Mess pork and live sheep were unchanged at Chicago, with higher prices quoted on live steers, live hogs and short ribs.

For the first time in several weeks the changes in the dairy products were more than fractional, but they continued few in number. The best butter dropped 1¾ cents a pound, but the under grades and less-than-carlot exchange. A rise of 4 cents a dozen was seen in nearby fancy eggs, while fresh-gathered "firsts" went up a cent and a half a dozen. Both varieties are now 4 cents higher than at this time last year.

Neither the fresh nor the dried fruits showed change either way this week, and the only revisions in the listed vegetables consisted of a rise in choice red kidney beans and a further decline of 50 cents a barrel in potatoes.

After pausing for a week or two, prices of the basic grades of coffee went up again. Both No. 7 Rio and No. 4 Santos were higher. The teas continued bare of change either way, and the same was true of the spices for the first time in several weeks. The best raw sugar went up, but despite this fact there was a further decline in fine granulated.

Quite a reaction took place in the grain list, where declines were seen in wheat, corn, oats, rye and malting barley. Hay did not change, but straw was higher. Changes were again lacking in the listed leathers, but nearly all of the items in the hide list were higher. The only hides not to advance were No. 1 native packers and No. 1 kips. Tallow advanced again.

Seven of the eleven changes in the metals were downward this week. The declines were seen in tank plates, beams, wire nails, No. 28 black sheets, galvanized barb wire, No. 28 galvanized sheets, and foundry coke. The advances took place in copper, zinc, lead and tin. Only one advance occurred in the lumber list, it being in North Carolina air-dried roofers. The only advances were in long leaf yellow pine timbers and in plain white oak.

The combined lists for drugs, chemicals, dyestuffs and oils contributed 21 changes to the general list, of which 15 were upward. Among the important declines were a drop of 25 cents a pound in menthol, in jobbing lots, and one of a dollar a flask in quicksilver. In the naval stores resin went up and turpentine down.

For the third successive week higher prices were quoted for the best Brazilian and Eastern crude rubbers. Japanese raw silk advanced 30 cents a pound for No. 1 Sinshiu. Domestic wool showed twenty-one advances, the only decline being in New York State and Michigan quarter-blood clothing wools. Miscellaneous changes included declines in hops and linseed oil.

Burlaps continued to advance in the textile field, due to the continued lack of spot stocks of heavy goods. The marked increase in the cost of cotton forced up prices for many grades of gray cottons, but as yet its effect has not been apparent on prices asked for finished goods.

IMPORTER DE JAN AIRS MARITAL WOES

HE IS ACCUSED OF CRUELTY

Affidavits by Channing Pollock and Oliver Herford Introduced In Action.

Charges and counter charges in the marital dispute of Henry de Jan, an importer of 149 Broadway, and Mrs. Winifred de Jan, an author, became public yesterday when de Jan filed with Supreme Court Justice McGoldrick papers contending the court did not have jurisdiction to handle his wife's separation suit.

In support of his contention that he was a resident of New Jersey and that his wife was a resident of London, de Jan, through his attorneys, Major Edward Thomas Moore and Stallo Vinton, presented affidavits by Channing Pollock, the playwright, and others. On the other hand, Mrs. de Jan's insistence that she was a resident of this city was supported by affidavits, which included one by Oliver Herford, the artist.

Cruelty and contemptuous treatment by her husband were alleged by Mrs. de Jan. On the other hand, the importer alleged his wife deserted him two years ago. De Jan is a native of Spain. His wife is an American.

Mrs. de Jan's complaint, filed by Ehrich, Wheeler & Walter, related that the couple were married in London on April 30, 1913. There are no children.

Since January, 1924, according to the plaintiff, the importer has failed to support her. The complaint went on to say that in January, 1923, "the defendant deliberately and in such manner as to cause great mental anguish told the plaintiff that he no longer cared for her and that she meant nothing to him."

In consequence of this situation, said Mrs. de Jan, she agreed to leave him for a period with the understanding he would come to her or send for her if he desired a reconciliation. She went to England in January, 1923, and her husband sent her allowance until last January, when he filed in New Jersey a suit for divorce, alleging desertion. Mrs. de Jan asserted her husband refused to send her funds with which to return to the United States to defend the action. Nevertheless she returned, filed an answer and saw a discontinuance of the suit. Her complaint averred her husband threatened to bring similar action in other States to compel her to defend or default.

These circumstances, said the complaint, so affected Mrs. de Jan that she has had to seek recourse to medical aid. She asked $10,000 a year alimony and $3,000 counsel fees. She contended that both she and her husband have been residents of New York.

Counsel for de Jan insisted that for the past two years the importer has been a resident of New Jersey, first in Newark and lately in Passaic. Channing Pollock declared in his affidavit that he believed de Jan to be a resident of Passaic. He said he met Mrs. de Jan in London in 1921, 1922 and 1924, knew that she owned and managed an antique shop there and knew that she maintained a permanent residence at 19 Neville Street, South Kensington.

Captain Wilfred Lockhart, a skipper from Nova Scotia, signed an affidavit declaring he had visited de Jan in his apartment at 287 Madison Avenue, Passaic, and knew the importer to be a resident of New Jersey. Edmund P. McGrath, a business associate of de Jan, testified similarly.

De Jan filed a memorandum relating that his wife returned to this country for a brief period only to obtain personal effects and that she returned to England to become a permanent resident there. He said she had lived apart from him since 1922.

ACCUSED OF SLAYING PARENTS 14 YEARS AGO

COATESVILLE, Pa., July 25.—Benjamin F. Dorsheimer, a real estate dealer of Atlantic City, N. J., was arrested here tonight on charges of slaying his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Dorsheimer, at their home in Lancaster, Pa., fourteen years ago. The warrant was sworn out by Frank E. Dorsheimer of Coatesville, a brother of the prisoner. It was issued four weeks ago by a Justice of the Peace at Gap, Pa.

Dorsheimer, who was here on a visit, formerly was in the hotel business in this city, Allentown and Parkesburg, Pa. He denounced the charge and declared his arrest was the result of "spite work." He will be taken to Lancaster tomorrow for a hearing.

Peter Dorsheimer was a wealthy wholesale liquor dealer in Lancaster. He and his wife were found dead, supposedly from gas asphyxiation, on April 16, 1910. Benjamin Dorsheimer was named executor of his father's large estate, in which twelve children shared.

FARMERS CLOSE GRAIN DEAL.

Expect to Operate $26,000,000 Marketing Project in Two Weeks.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, July 25.—The farmers' organization, working through the American Farm Bureau Federation, has closed its deal for the taking over of the grain elevator business of four big firms at Chicago and one at Kansas City. It expects to begin business within a week or two, with headquarters at 208 South La Salle Street.

Financing has been arranged by capitalizing the new grain marketing company at $26,000,000. It is to buy or sell grain for farmers' organizations or any one in the grain trade. Trading in grain futures is to be continued.

Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation, is President of the new grain marketing company, which, with its fifteen elevators, has an annual turnover capacity of 50,000,000 bushels.

Should the proposition of the leading grain men at Minneapolis and Duluth to sell their business to the farmers be accepted, there would be storage capacity at Duluth, Minneapolis and at country elevators for more than 75,000,000 bushels, and the farmers would have control of the grain trade of the country.

ASK RISE FOR BOBBED HAIR.

Chicago Barbers Threaten to Strike for Higher Wages.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Bobbed hair is given as the cause of wage increase demands being made by the journeyman barbers' union, which threatens to take a strike vote next week if an agreement is not reached.

"With bobs ranging in price from $1 to $1.50, with the prospect of curling, marceling and shampooing, with the barber having to go to school to learn how to do it, we want more money," W. S. Leidy, union President, says.

The present scale is $26 weekly, with 60 per cent. of all checks over a total of $38. The demand is for $38 salary and the same perecentage of all over $50.

Carl Magee Out of Jail on Ball.

SANTE FE, N. M., July 25.—More than two days after Sheriff Delgado twice had refused to honor pardons for him issued by Governor Hinkle, Carl Magee is at liberty under $2,500 bond. The Albuquerque editor sentenced to jail at Las Vegas for contempt of Court, was released last night, following hearing on a writ of habeas corpus before the State Supreme Court, which granted him temporary liberty pending the outcome of the Court's deliberations regarding the power of pardon vested in the Governor in cases of direct contempt.

SAYS MRS. CANDLER WON'T FIGHT DIVORCE

ATLANTA, Ga., July 25.—Mrs. May Little Ragan Candler will not oppose the divorce suit filed by her husband, Asa G. Candler Sr., because of a cash payment to her of $60,000 made prior to the filing of the suit, the Atlanta Journal says in a story published today.

The suit for divorce came several months after the arrest of Mrs. Candler, W. J. Stoddard, and W. J. Keeling, business men, in an apartment house, the police asserting that they were sitting around a table on which was a partly filled bottle of liquor. The charges against Mrs. Candler and Mr. Keeling were dismissed, but Mr. Stoddard was bound over to the State courts on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

The aged founder of the Coca Cola Company brought suit for divorce one year after he married Mrs. Ragan, who formerly was a public stenographer in the Candler building.

"While none of the principals or attorneys involved in the case would discuss the matter," the Journal's story says, "it was understood that Mrs. Candler would interpose no objection to the granting of a final decree of divorce on the ground of cruel treatment, as set up in the petition filed some weeks ago."

The Journal says that it also developed that the cash settlement "was made prior to the filing of the divorce petition, and that while no formal agreement was made by Mrs. Candler not to fight the case, she had determined not to do so."

Mr. Candler was married not long after his engagement was broken to Mrs. Onezima de Bouchelle, New Orleans society leader, who sued him for $500,000 alleging breach of promise. The jury found for Mr. Candler.

"Reports in courthouse circles were that Mr. Candler had settled $100,000 on his wife, but it was understood that the actual figures were $60,000, and that she had waived all claims against him in the way of alimony or participation in his estate," the story says.

SUES CANDLERS FOR $25,000

Husband of Woman Said to Have Been Attacked Seeks Redress.

ATLANTA, July 25.—Asa G. Candler Jr. and Walter T. Candler are made defendants in a $25,000 suit filed by attorneys for Clyde K. Byfield yesterday in Decatur, Ga., it was learned today. The suit asks damages for humiliation and damage suffered when the Candlers made an attempt to forcibly take a note for $30,500 from Byfield.

The suit grew out of an incident aboard the steamship Berengaria, when the wife of the plaintiff was alleged to have been attacked in her stateroom by Walter T. Candler.

The petition for damages sets out that the plaintiff, at the request of Candler, went to his office, where he is said to have been offered a check in settlement for the note he says Candler gave him after the attack upon his wife. His refusal, the petition asserts, to accept the check resulted in the Candlers trying to take the note by force.

SIFTS DATA AGAINST FIRPO.

United States Attorney Hayward has started an investigation in connection with the movement to deport Luis Angel Firpo, heavyweight boxer of Argentina, which has been begun by Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn, as head of the New York Civic League, it was stated yesterday at his office, and is looking into the documents bearing on the case submitted by Canon Chase.

The movement to deport Firpo started soon after Miss Blanca Lourdes of Buenos Aires arrived here on the same ship with the fighter last Monday. She sailed on Thursday for Havana, Cuba, on the Ward liner Esperanza, after being detained at Ellis Island.

Canon Chase refused to give any information yesterday as to the nature of the data he had turned over to the United States Attorney, except to say that it should result in a thorough investigation and that there would be startling developments.

Commissioner of Immigration Curran said if there had been any grounds, as they saw it, for refusing admission to Firpo they certainly would have acted. "The woman was not deported," he stated. "She was just allowed to land, and, having Cuba as her destination, she just went on her way."

When Bernard H. Sandler, attorney for the Civic League, was asked if this woman had lived here as Firpo's wife before his fight with Dempsey, he said he did not care to discuss the case. It was Mr. Sandler who had a writ prepared for Miss Lourdes on Thursday, but it was not served on account of the steamer Esperanza sailing an hour ahead of the scheduled time. Canon Chase wanted the young woman brought back for close questioning regarding her relations with Firpo.

It was argued that the steamer American Legion was an American-owned steamer and, virtually speaking, United States territory, and that there was sufficient information to deport both the boxer and Miss Lourdes.

The fighter was first reported to have said she was his secretary and stenographer, and later he said she was only a chance acquaintance he had met on the steamer.

COOLIDGE GREETS FIRPO.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Luis Angel Firpo was received today by President Coolidge, who greeted him cordially in a brief interview. No formal appointment had been made, but when the big Argentine fighter reached the White House on a flying tour of Washington, Mr. Coolidge received him almost immediately.

The President smiled broadly as he shook the brawny hand of the boxer and looked him over from head to foot.

"Well," he exclaimed, "you certainly look all that your records have made us imagine. I am very glad to see you indeed."

Firpo shifted from one foot to the other, but apparently did not trust his English sufficiently to reply.

It was said at the embassy that the pugilist's visit was one of a purely personal nature and had nothing to do with the difficulties he experienced with the immigration authorities when he landed recently in New York.

The Ambassador placed his automobile at Firpo's disposal for several hours' sightseeing and entertained him later at luncheon. Among the places Firpo visited was the Pan American Union, where he was received by Director General Rowe, and the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington.

FIGHTS PHONE RATE RISE.

BOSTON, July 25.—Mayor Curley filed a petition in the State Supreme Court today asking that the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company be restrained from a proposed increase in rates in certain classes of service, and that the State Department of Public Utilities be compelled to rescind its order allowing the increase temporarily.

The Mayor contends that the department's order was issued before hearings on the increase were concluded and before he had an opportunity to submit evidence in opposition.
